M'NAB HEADS LEGAL STAFF OF ARBUCKLE

S. F. Attorney Accepts Post of Chief Counsel For Film Comedian Accused of Manslaughter for Actress' Death

Prominent Democratic Leader Yields to Offer of Movie Corporation to Conduct Defense; Asks Fair Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Gavin McNab, Democratic politician, delegate to the advisory board of the disarmament conference and called "the Colonel House of the West" by reason of his diplomatic relations to the Wilson administration, has accepted the post of chief counsel for Roscoe Arbuckle, accused of manslaughter following the death of Virginia Rappe.

McNab's announcement was made today and is based on his conviction of the innocence of the film comedian. With Charles Brennan of San Francisco and Milton Cohen of Los Angeles, he will fight for the actor's acquittal.

In accepting the proffer of the film corporation who are said to have millions at stake, which they stand to lose if Arbuckle is convicted, McNab said:

"I was requested by picture interests to conduct a full investigation of the Arbuckle case. After so doing I was invited to act as counsel. As I am convinced that Arbuckle is not guilty of the hideous crime against the poor unfortunate girl, Virginia Rappe, I have accepted. The defense will be conducted without technicalities—to bring out the truth and all the truth. Arbuckle is entitled, like every other human being, to a fair trial.

SAYS FILM COMEDIAN SEEKS FAIR TRIAL.

"Neither his being conspicuous nor his being a stranger in San Francisco should deny him fair play. It is hardly fair that he should be tried by process of mobs in place of process of law. It is not fair that people who at this time cannot possibly know the facts should form organizations with the but thinly disguised purpose of intimidating court and poisoning the minds of prospective jurors. In other words, he has the constitutional and institutional right to be tried as any other citizen.

"Frenzy must yield to fact, for truth is the strongest and most just thing in all the world."

McNab was counsel for Jack Dempsey in the latter's successful fight against slacker charges preferred by his divorced wife. He is also the leading attorney for Mary Pickford in her sensational divorce litigation in Nevada resulting from the legal separation granted her from her first husband, Owen Moore. This matter is still in the Nevada courts.

INDUCED TO ACT BY MOVIE CORPORATION.

It is understood that McNab's being retained is not the result of the comedian's own decision, but that he was approached by the Paramount-Famous Players-Lasky corporation, which controls the Arbuckle films and represents the investment of large capital by men of prominence who are anxious to see the screen funny man exonerated if he is not guilty of the charge.

McNab, it is understood, will not associate himself with any attorneys other than the personal lawyers of Arbuckle, Brennan and Cohen, who are now interested in the case.

Widow of Rich Oakland Mining Man Found Dead

Bruise on Cheek Only Sign of Violence; May Have Been Caused by Fall.

Mrs. Anada Pfankuhen, 65 years old, widow of Emil Pfankuhen, 1417 Adeline street, wealthy mining man, was found lying dead on the floor of her dining room at an early hour today. It was at first believed that the house had been entered and ransacked by a burglar, but upon investigation the police could find no evidence to substantiate this belief.

A bruise on the dead woman's cheek was the only mark that would indicate violence, the police say, and this is believed to have been caused when she fell. The woman was subject to heart attacks, neighbors say. When her husband died she was left an estate of $25,000 and a substantial income.

Economic Merit Of New Charter Is Challenged

Max Thelen Asks County Divisionists To Show Savings Value of Scheme.

After waiting without result for the balance sheet which would show the savings claimed by the proponents of the new charter scheme Max Thelen has addressed a letter to George C. Pardee, president of the Charter League, calling attention to the fact that the figures requested have not been forthcoming.

"Under the circumstances" says Thelen, "I must conclude that you and your organization either have no facts to back your general claims, or are unwilling to let the people of Berkeley have them."

The Thelen letter follows:

My dear Governor

Your letter of the 8th instant is at hand

NO DATA PROFERRED AS TO SAVING REPRESENTED.

I have asked you repeatedly to let me have a balance sheet showing, in detail, item by item not merely the reduced expenditures which your organization claims will come to Berkeley from the proposed city and county consolidation, but also the items of increased expenditures, with the net financial result.

As to the claimed savings you have given me nothing except a few claimed general items without any supporting details. For instance, half of your claimed savings for Alameda county as a whole lies in consolidation of purchasing agencies, from which consolidation you claim that a saving of $250,000 yearly will be effected for the county as a whole. You give not a single detail in support of this general claim, and you fail to show what savings, if any, Berkeley would secure under this head.

As to the increased expenditures resulting from the necessity of employing a large number of boards, commissions, officers and employees in addition to those now on the county roll, of which expenditures Berkeley would be compelled to pay her proportion, you give not a single figure.

CONCLUSION REACHED THAT PROOF CANNOT BE FURNISHED.

You are in the position of a man who makes general claims, but who either can not or will not substantiate them.

Under the circumstances, I must conclude that you and your organization either have no facts to back up your general claims, or are unwilling to let the people of Berkeley have them.

The people of this community have asked for this information in good faith so that they may form an intelligent judgment in the matter.

In view of your inability or unwillingness to substantiate your general claims, I assume that it will be useless for me to continue this correspondence. The people of Berkeley, however, will draw their own conclusions from your failure to deliver the balance sheet above referred to.

With kind regards, I remain

Very truly yours,

(Signed): MAX THELEN.

MILLION MAY BE LOOT OF S. F. BANDITS

Two Hundred and Sixteen Pieces of Registered Mail Obtained By Robbers Who Held Up Branch Postoffice

Government Offers $20,000 Reward For Capture of Men Who Stole Mail Pouch —Check May Take Days

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—The Postoffice Department has offered a total of $20,000 in rewards for the apprehension of the four unmasked bandits who robbed a postoffice station in the heart of the business district last night and escaped with several small pouches of registered mail enclosed in a larger pouch, Wm. J. Madeira, city postoffice inspector, announced today.

The automobile believed to have been used by the four bandits in making their escape was found abandoned today at Fifth and Brannan streets, eight blocks from the scene of the hold-up.

LOSS MAY BE MILLION DOLLARS.

While the authorities claim that the loss cannot be great, it is possible that a million dollars or more may have been obtained, the majority of which might be in currency and negotiable bonds.

It will be several days, according to Austin, before it will be possible to check the exact amount.

Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson is also working on the case, having detailed a half dozen of his men to the investigation. Captain Charles Goff of the Southern station, in whose jurisdiction the robbery was perpetuated, has assigned his own detectives and is making an independent inquiry as well.

$5000 OFFERED FOR EACH MAN.

The reward offered constitutes $5000 for the apprehension of each of the four bandits.

There were 216 pieces of registered mail in the pouch, according to an announcement today by Acting Chief Inspector George Austin.

While it is impossible to give the exact amount the mail was valued, a conservative estimate would be $100,000. Several clews are in the hands of the officers, having been communicated to the Postoffice Department today by several citizens, and Austin detailed three inspectors, W. L. Madeira, C. D. Brogdan and R. W. Madden to follow them up.

It was learned that the Rialto branch is the postoffice used almost exclusively by the banks in the financial district. It was to this office that a young clerk employed by McDonnell & Co. was taking $50,000 worth of securities in one package when he decided to abscond.

Two Slain, Two Hurt in Police And Bandit Fight

Raid On Headquarters of Boxcar Thieves Precipitates Battle.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Oct. 15.—Two men were killed and two seriously wounded in a pitched gun battle between railroad and police officers and an alleged band of box car robbers Friday evening when officers attempted to search the home of W. A. Bonnett, four miles north of here.

The dead are:

The wounded are:

Elmer Lane, deputy city marshal, shot through breast, probably will recover.

George Moore, Lincoln, Neb., alleged bandit, shot through groin; condition serious.

Police late last night arrested Frank Tieraney of Tulsa, Okla., a woman who gave her name as Mrs. Alice King, but who is thought to be Mrs. Norman Taylor, and William Bullis, alleged members of the bandit gang.

Acting on a tip that goods stolen from box cars could be found on the farm, the officers swooped down on the Bennett home and disarmed the bandits. A ruse by the woman resulted in the shooting.

Murray was guarding four of the men in one room. In another room a man and a woman were lying on a bed with Officer Lane guarding them. The woman slipped a revolver from under the mattress, handed it to her pal, who opened fire. The first bullet went through the door, killing Officer Murray. He then shot Lane. As he was down Lane shot and killed the bandit with the woman. The woman then escaped through a window and joined the other four men, one of whom was shot in the running battle which followed.

Wood Sworn In; No Turning Back, He Tells Manila

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

MANILA, Oct. 15.—General Leonard Wood was sworn in as Governor General of the Philippines today and immediately took up his new duties. Honesty, morality, economy, efficient progress and government of the people by their representatives to the extent provided in the Jones bill were the keynotes of General Wood's inaugural address.

The people of the Philippines have made wonderful progress the past 23 years, under the unselfish aid of the United States, he said, and there must be no turning back.

He called attention to the progress made through the work of Spain in implanting the Christian faith. European forms of administration and foundation of law in the islands.

"There must be no turning back in the Christian faith," he said. "Remember that the first sign of decadence of a people is disregard of religion."

General Wood praised the loyalty and thrift of the Filipino women.

"Your women must be given equal opportunity with your men," he said.

"The government must encourage, not discourage private enterprise. As a general policy, I believe that the government should keep out of business," the governor general said.

After urging "a fuller appreciation of the dignity of labor and the obligations of citizenship," so as to increase agricultural development of resources and provide adequate funds for the needs of progress and development while "living within our income," General Wood continued.

"It is my purpose to do the best I can to re-establish the credit of the Philippines, to build up their commerce, increase the prosperity of the people and make the government a model of efficiency.

Establishment of sound stable representative government in the Philippines must not fail. It shall not fail, because the United States has put its hand to the plow and will not turn back," he concluded.

Chicago's Libel Suit Gets Setback

JAPAN WANTS U. S. SUPPORT IN SHANTUNG

Administration Is Reported Willing to Take a Hand in Smoothing Out Differences Between Oriental Peoples

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—America may mediate the Shantung controversy between Japan and China, it was learned today.

If Japan makes a formal request of the United States to undertake mediation of the Shantung problem, it probably will be accepted, according to a statement in authoritative quarters. Japanese Ambassador Shidehara has informally "approached" Secretary of State Hughes on the subject of American mediation.

A formal request from Japan to President Harding to mediate the question would not be a surprising development of the coming week.

The opinion in well informed circles here seems certain that such a step will be taken should China refuse a second offer from Japan to negotiate for a settlement of the issue.

Minister Obata at Peking was instructed Wednesday to accept the original refusal of the Chinese government to negotiate which he had steadfastly declined to receive until advised by Tokyo to do so.

A second offer was understood to be in preparation and probably has been despatched. Should it be refused also, the mediation request to President Harding is then expected to go forward.

Three Tongs End Warfare; Leader Comes for Probe

Chicago Chieftan On Coast To Probe Mystery Death; May Reveal Slayers.

A declaration of peace has been signed by the Bing Kong, Suey On and the Sun Suey Ying Chinese tongs, and hostilities between the three tongs will cease at once. The peace pact was signed in San Francisco last night at a meeting of tong representatives at the Chinese Six Companies headquarters, according to announcements from headquarters of the three tongs in both San Francisco and Oakland.

The signing of an agreement of peace between the Bing Kong, Suey On and the Sun Suey Ying is expected to influence the leaders of the Hip Sing, Suey Sing and Hop Sing tongs, now involved in a controversy over the shooting of Ho Sang in San Jose recently, which, according to Chinese authorities and police investigators, has threatened to wreck the three tongs.

NATIONAL PRESIDENT IN SAN JOSE.

Oriental eyes of the entire Pacific Coast are today turned on San Jose with the arrival there from Chicago of the national president of the Hip Sing tong. The declaration of peace signed last night in San Francisco is said to have been rushed through by the Bing Kong, Suey On and Sun Suey Ying tongs in hopes that it would save the entire tong tribes from plunging into an unorganized warfare, where it would be man against man instead of tong against tong.

It is believed by local Chinese leaders that the national leader of the Hip Sings hastened across the continent at the call of his fellow tongsmen to unravel the mystery surrounding the slaying of Ho Sang, on whose head a price of $10,000 had been set.

Ho Sang was a member of both the Hip Sing and Hop Sing tongs, at peace at the present time. He was not a member, however, of the Suey Sing tong, now at war with the Hop Sing gunmen. He had come to this city from San Francisco, where he was an influential figure, to go into hiding from the Suey Sing gunmen.

ACUTE SITUATION SEQUEL TO DEATH.

Indications are that Ho Sang was shot to death by members of the Hip Sing tong, to which he belonged, at a time when he was in a closed house of the Hop Sings.

Therein lies the peculiar situation confronted by the rival tongsmen; a condition which is considered so acute that it warranted the calling from Chicago of the national head of the Hips.

The Hip Sing gunmen who, officers and Chinese are convinced, shot Ho Sang to death, are said to have acted at the request of Suey Sing gunmen and under promise of payment of the $10,000 price upon the head of the veteran leader.

Leaders of the tong are now confronted with the problem of what shall be done with younger tong gunmen who, betraying their fidelity to their own tong, slay older heads in order to gain the price upon them from a rival tong. The condition has not existed before, according to the Chinese.

MAY TURN SLAYER OVER TO POLICE.

The national Hip Sing president, arriving here today, is to have in his hands the decision of whether or not the Hip Sing gunmen who murdered Ho Sang shall be turned over to the police authorities for prosecution.

That the Chinese know the actual slayers is not questioned by the police. It is known that they have been identified by the Hip Sing leaders as members of that tong, who

Hightower Tells Court His Trial Was Not Fair

Convicted Slayer of Father Heslin Given Life Term; New Trial Denied.

REDWOOD CITY, Oct. 15.—William A. Hightower, convicted of the murder of Father Patrick E. Heslin, Colma priest, was sentenced to life imprisonment in San Quentin prison today by Superior Judge Buck after a motion for a new trial and for arrest of judgment had been denied.

Attorney William F. Herron for the defense served notice an appeal would be taken.

Hightower asked by the court if he had any statement declared he did not feel that he had received a just trial.

In fact your Honor, I feel I have had no trial at all. I was given no opportunity even to know who my attorneys were or to confer with them.

I feel that there is no reason for sentencing me."

Attorney Herron urged a new trial on the grounds that the court had erred in its instructions to the jury that the verdict was not in accord with the law and evidence and that new evidence had been discovered. He did not disclose the fresh evidence.

He charged that District Attorney Swart had been guilty of misconduct in asking certain questions which were later ruled out by the court. This ruling Herron declared did not repair the damage. The questions related to other alleged infernal machines constructed by the defendant.

Hightower appeared in court in a badly crumbled suit and sadly needing a shave. When he arose to answer the court's inquiry in connection with his sentence, he spoke firmly and with a touch of oratory.

Commitment papers were made out for Hightower at once and he was started for the penitentiary a few hours after sentence was imposed.

Boy Accidentally Kills Companion When Gun Jams

Oakland Lad Instantly Slain While Hunting On Marsh; Youth Gives Up.

James Anderson, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Anderson of 1460 Fifty-sixth avenue, was shot and instantly killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun in the hands of a boy companion near the marsh at the foot of Sixty-sixth avenue today. At the time of the accident, James Stack, aged 17 years, living at 2272 Forty-seventh avenue, was holding the gun and was attempting to dislodge a cartridge that had become stuck in the breech mechanism. The gun was accidentally discharged and the shot penetrated the Anderson boy's head.

Young Stack ran three miles to the Eastern police station in a hysterical condition and told Lieutenant William F. Woods that he had killed his companion. Inspectors Arthur Sanderson and Robert Goodwin went with Stack to the scene of the shooting.

After questioning Stack and six other boys who were with him at the time of the accident, the officers allowed Stack to go free. The boys were walking along the Western Pacific tracks in the direction of the marsh, where they intended to go duck hunting. The gun which Stack was carrying at the time of the tragedy is the property of another member of the party. The father of the dead boy is a carpenter by trade.

RAILROAD UNION CHIEFS LEAVE CHICAGO CARRYING SECRET STRIKE ORDERS

President Harding Takes Steps to Avert Nation-Wide Walkout by Calling Conference of Labor Board

SEEK TO END WAGE DEADLOCK

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Railroad union chiefs left Chicago today carrying secret orders to be sent to all union officials throughout the country tomorrow, understood to call for the start of a general strike of two million railroad workers on October 30.

The union heads departed following a four-hour secret conference at the Masonic Temple of the 500 general chairmen of the unions.

All leading union chiefs attended the meeting with the exception of W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Lee left Chicago for Cleveland earlier in the day after saying a strike was inevitable and announcing that he would mail strike orders to his union heads tomorrow from Cleveland.

All of the union heads refused to comment on decisions reached at the meeting when the conference broke up at 1 p. m. today.

The country was divided into 16 groups at the meeting, according to information leaking out. The strike will first be called in one section, reported to be the New England states and gradually progress across the country.

Railroad union chiefs believed that the New England railroads were in worse shape to meet the strike than the lines in any other section.

"The greatest strike of organized labor the world has ever seen," was the way one union leader characterized the proposed walkout.

Labor and Commerce Boards Are Asked to Break Deadlock

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—In the face of a threatened nation-wide railroad strike called for two weeks hence, President Harding today took definite steps to break the deadlock between the railroads and their employees over the controversy of wage and rate reductions. The President summoned into conference the members of the public group of the railway labor board, the wage-determining body, and personally conducted them to the offices of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the rate determining body, and after spending ten minutes with the two commissions he left them together and walked back to the White House.

The President's action in bringing the members of the labor board and the Interstate Commerce Commission together was apparently considerable of a surprise to the members of both bodies. After being closeted together for an hour, the joint conference adjourned for lunch and it was stated it would be resumed this afternoon.

To all outward appearances the President shut the two commissions together in a room and asked them to work out a solution for the rate-wage controversy which has brought the nation on the verge of a rail strike.

ADJUSTMENT OF WAGES AND RATES SOUGHT.

Arriving at the White House, the President caused the following statement to be issued:

"By invitation of the President, Messrs. R. H. Barton, chairman; G. Wallace, W. Hanger and Benjamin W. Hooper, constituting the public group of the United States railway labor board, came to the White House for a conference with the President.

"Later the President went personally with them to the offices of the Interstate Commerce Commission for a continuation and expansion of the conference.

"The purpose of the meeting was a broad consideration of the possibility of an early adjustment of railroad rates and wages, in the expectation that it would contribute to the industrial revival.

"The railway labor board, created by the Cummins-Esch act, comprises nine members, in three groups of three each. The public group is named by the President, the labor group is named from a list nominated by the railway labor organizations and the management group from a list of nominees nominated by railway executives.

LABOR BOARD HAS BROAD POWERS.

The board is authorized generally to deal with the labor, wage and working conditions that concern the employees of the railroads and is given in some directions rather broad powers. In asking the members of the public group to meet him the President was moved by the desire to accomplish what he hopes may be important results as early as possible. Recognizing that the labor group and also the managing group are, in the nature of things, partisans of the respective elements which they represent, the President felt that it was unnecessary to invite these groups because their attitude would necessarily be partisan in any consideration of wage questions. The labor group could be expected to advocate maintenance of the highest possible wages, while the managing group could equally be expected to insist that wages ought to be reduced. It was, therefore, the President's opinion that the most prompt and effective results might be secured by simply calling in the public group, which is concerned equally with the interests of labor, of management, of shippers and of the general community.

POTENTIAL BOARDS BROUGHT TOGETHER.

"The President has been impressed that a somewhat analogous situations surrounds the relations of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the railway labor board. The Interstate Commerce Commission has very large powers through its control of rates, to determine what the revenue of the railroads shall be; while the railway labor board, through its authority in the matter of wage determination, has a very large power in determining the largest items of railroad expenditures. The President was, therefore, impressed with the desirability of getting these two highly potential bodies together and reaching something like a definite understanding between them. It it is a fact, not entirely without interest, that these two bodies have never officially met together.

"For a long time the President has been giving much attention to the problems of the railroads in its largest relation. He has been persistently assured on one side that business could not make a general and lasting improvement until railroad rates should come down; and on the other side he has been told that it was impossible for rates to come down unless the wage could be lowered. He therefore determined to get together the two public bodies, which have to deal with wages and rates, and give them every possible encouragement to take a strong lead in the effort at adjustment."

Sixteen More Unions Vote in Favor of Nation-Wide Walkout

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sixteen more railroad unions have taken a secret strike vote and authorized their officers to order a walkout if deemed advisable, C. J. Manion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, announced today.

Although the sixteen will act independently of the four big Brotherhoods, a joint meeting has been called for 2 p. m. today, at which the Brotherhoods will submit their plan of action to the other organizations.

One high union official announced the date for the strike had been set, but declined to reveal it. October 30 has been reported as the day.

PLAN TO STRIKE ON UNITS OF TEN ROADS.

The Brotherhoods have selected the list of ten roads on which the strike will be effective the first day, the same union official said. It is understood that strikes will be ordered on additional units of ten roads every forty-eight hours, until the roads either give in or the walkout becomes nation-wide.

Union leaders who had been hopeful of averting a strike, some of whom had even opposed it, declared today that the action of the railroad executives yesterday in deciding on further wage reductions has destroyed the last hope of peace.

The sixteen unions involved have a total membership of about 2,000,000 men.

It will be the greatest strike in history," W. G. Lee, president of the trainmen, was quoted as saying, when he left the union conference. "It is a life and death struggle for our organization and we are not going into this with our eyes closed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Powerful railroad unions, turned down cold in their efforts to negotiate with their employers, must strike or back down.

A strike seemed certain.

"What else is there left to do but strike?" W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, said in reply to a question as the 500 general chairmen representing 2,000,000 railroad workers started their deciding session here today.

Confronted with the most serious rebuff in the experience of railroad unionism, the workers' representatives were in angry mood.

"I do not see how the roads have the nerve to suggest another wage cut when they know we have voted to strike because of the last one," Lee said. "The time for talking is past."

The strike committee of the unions was in session, mapping out plans for the walkout.

CUT IN PAY TO BEGIN BY NOVEMBER 1ST.

Adding further to the strike temper of the unions, information from high railroad executives today was that the ten per cent slice in wages for skilled labor and 25 per cent for unskilled workers, agreed upon at the employers' meeting, would be placed in effect just as soon as the payrolls can be changed, without waiting for action by the United States Railroad Labor Board. Some officials, high executives said, would be cutting wages by November 1.

This could be done without violating the transportation act, the executives contended. A dispute must have arisen between the workers and the employers before a case can be brought before the board. The roads, they declared, could arbitrarily cut wages. The men then would appeal to the board for relief and the hearing would be called.

The whole procedure, according to one high official, was mapped out in Washington last week.

This whirl of events confronted the brotherhoods in the last 24 hours:

Railroad executives met. They carried out their schedule of deciding to cut wages and of later asking the Interstate Commerce Commission to slash freight rates after wages were trimmed.

BROTHERHOOD CHIEFS TOLD OF ACTION.

Brotherhood chiefs asked for a conference. This was granted. Executives merely told the brotherhood chiefs what action had been taken. The union leaders walked out.

This procedure was in spite of the fact that the brotherhoods were armed with their most powerful weapon—a strike vote. The strike vote was taken on the wage cut of last July. Now they faced a more aggravated issue.

Having decided to call a strike October 30, this is what the brotherhoods faced today:

They realized, according to best information, that a strike would not be popular. Farmers and business men are promised decreased freight rates when wages are cut. High freight rates have been blamed by both, and also representative public men, as the cause of business stagnation.

It would be possible to recruit from the legions of unemployed men to take the place of strikers.

WOULD MITIGATE AGAINST SYMPATHY.

Two million me would become jobless, with winter coming on.

Transportation would be crippled and food supplies cut off, which would mitigate against sympathy from the public.

If a strike were called, it would be a case of bucking the government. It has been declared at the unemployment conference in Washington that the administration believes that one of the first steps toward normalcy should be a reduction of railroad wages and freight rates.

Railroad executives who met here declared the administration was back of their move to cut wages and then reduce freight rates.

The strike date was set for October 30, provided executives refused to enter into further negotiations in which the unions hoped to obtain pledges against additional wage cuts.

The committee of union leaders who conferred with the executives reported back to the general chairmen the unsatisfactory results of their conference at the meeting today.

Following their report, the strike plans were submitted to the general chairmen. These plans include calling out the trainmen of the Southern Pacific on October 30, the first step in the strike.

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 15.—Even though national railroad brotherhood chiefs have selected the Southern Pacific lines for the first walkout on October 30 of union railwaymen, providing they are granted no more negotiations on wage reductions and working conditions, William Sproule, president of of the Southern Pacific, does not believe Southern Pacific employees will go out on strike, he said here today.

"I have no fear our lines will be tied up," he said.

The federal government is, in effect, determining wages paid railwaymen through the United States Railroad Labor Board, Sproule declared.

With the government dictating the policy, he can't see how the unions can strike against the government.

Sproule, with several other Southern Pacific executives, is spending the day here on a tour of inspection. He leaves for Portland at 3:35 this afternoon.

Rea Is Accused of Misstating Earnings

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania railway, and Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, were accused today of misrepresenting railroad earnings and operating expenses to the senate interstate commerce committee by Frank J. Warne, statistician of the railroad brotherhoods.

Rail Shop Crafts Ready to Join Strike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, issued a statement in which he declared that "if the trainmen and other operating employees go out on October 30, the machinists and the railroad employees in group 2, which includes all the shop crafts, will go with them at the same time."

This would result, he declared, in "the g reatest railroad tie-up in history."

Secession of Oakland From Neighbors Is Charter Issue

The question before the people of Oakland at the election of November 15, is whether they are for a separate city and county of Oakland, Joseph R. Knowland declared in discussing the proposed charter for the new city and county government before Oakland Center, California Civic League of Women Voters, yesterday.

Public opinion indicated, according to the speaker, that neither Alameda, Berkeley or the other parts of the present county would agree to accept the charter plan offered.

Aahmes Temple was thronged with clubwomen assembled to hear a discussion of the new charter scheme as it will be presented to voters next month. E. A. Vandeventer spoke in favor of the charter. Knowland opposed its acceptance.

The autocracy of the city manager as provided for in the instrument; the prohibition of the right of appeal on the part of discharged civil service employees, and the various provisions which were made whereby the municipal council might create positions and name the salaries, guaranteeing no reduction of the present expense of government, was pointed out by Knowland.

WILL REND COUNTY.

County division is inevitable if the charter is adopted, according to Knowland. Vandeventer tacitly admitted that the consolidation scheme would fail in cities throughout Alameda county other than Oakland. The vital importance of serious consideration of the movement with the relization that a consolidated city and county government cannot succeed without the co-operation of other leading municipalities' was emphasized by Knowland.

"Regardless of which way you may vote, I do not believe the women of this community are on trial, or even probation," he told them. "I have faith in the woman's vote.

"I am opposed to the charter which is offered because it means county division instead of consolidation. We shall kill for all time any possibility of the coming of any city so vital to successful consolidation which might in the future be willing to join in such a movement. We shall kill for all time a sane plan of co-operation in joining together Berkeley, Oakland and Alameda if this scheme carries. Is it city and county consolidation? No. It is county division.

"We must face facts. Alameda is absolutely opposed to this consolidation. Not a single club has endorsed it. Every organization has voted against it. One club in Berkeley endorsed it, later to reverse its decision. The whole issue is whether you are for a separate city and county government of Oakland alone, not only for now but for all time.

PRESENT BENEFITS.

"The charter framed for the entire county of Alameda when only applicable to Oakland cannot be changed at the second election," Knowland declared. "Every officer and head of department except perhaps the number of councilmen must be placed in the city of Oakland. The costs under the charter foisted on Oakland alone cannot reduce costs. Oakland now pays 57 per cent of the cost of the Alameda county government and expends 73 per cent of the entire revenue.

"In one breath the proponents deny that county division is possible and in the next declare if Berkeley and Alameda and other localities separate that they will come later to Oakland as applicants begging to be taken in.

"If Berkeley forms its own city and county government, they say, and Oakland forms its separate city and county government, what will be beneficial for Oakland, saving millions they allege but fail to prove, will be so disastrous for Berkeley that the people of the college city will come to Oakland, hats in hand, pleading to be taken into what is good if tried in Oakland and bad if established in Berkeley. Speaking charitably, their jewel of consistency appears to have lost its luster.

OLD FIGHT RECALLED.

"Oakland has had experience with prophets before, but the Bible tells us that a prophet is not without honor save in his own house. In 1910 Oakland had another charter agitation, and some of the same prophets told us how this almost perfect instrument would bring about wonderful and amazing economies. Then as now they were likewise shy on exact figures, but strong on generalities. The charter was adopted. Then the tax rate was $1.26. Now it is $2.25 under this beneficent and highly praised instrument. History repeats itself.

"The truth is, no one knows anything about reduction of taxes. We are at liberty now to reduce our tax rate by increasing our assessed valuation, but the taxpayers would not receive any benefit. Under the present law the same changes as proposed can be brought about by consolidating offices without the expense of a $100,000 charter agitation.

"In a dozen or more cases the municipal council can fix the number of employees and their salaries without any restrictions under the proposed charter. How then can one figure on what will be the cost of government when the offices and salaries are unlimited?" the speaker asked.

"The czar or the imperial emperor of Germany had no power beyond that of the proposed city manager," Knowland pointed out. "His minimum salary will be $12,000 a year with as much more even to $50,000, as the council agrees.

"Right of appeal is denied to every civil service employee under the charter. We hear that the charter will give preference to the service men, as it rightly should. But having given them preference, they may be deprived of their rights by political influence and afforded only the satisfaction of having a written statement for the cause of their dismissal. Civil service employees are absolutely denied all right of appeal. It would look as though there was an attempt to destroy civil service in Oakland."

VANDEVENTER CLAIMS.

Vandeventer, speaking on behalf of the charter and the consolidation movement, said in part:

"If Oakland alone votes for consolidation of county and municipal governments, a new city and county can be formed to include the present city of Oakland, 31,591 square acres; Piedmont, 1150 square acres; Emeryville, 720 square acres, and unincorporated territory that can be annexed, 70,000 square acres—total area of new city and county of Oakland, 103,451 square land acres. The population of this area in 1920 totaled about 228,832. The city and county of Oakland would be over three times as large in area as the city and county of San Francisco, with less than half the population. It would have plenty of room for growth without annexing any other city."

"You will be told that all the cities in Alameda county, except Oakland, will reject the charter, and that, therefore, Oakland's acceptance of it will mean county division.

"One would think that Oakland had no right, but was merely supposed to go on paying the major portion of the high cost of duplicating local governments without hope of relief.

"If the charter is good enough for Oakland, it is good enough for Oakland's neighbors.

"Oakland cannot vote any city out of the county. All have an equal chance to accept the excellent charter. If all vote 'yes' at the first election, there will be no division of the county.

SECOND ELECTION.

"There can be no division at the second election, unless such division is approved by the majority of the voters of the entire county.

"The gentleman says that Oakland has a majority of 30,000 votes and that Berkeley will aid this majority at the second election, so that the way will be clear for Berkeley to form a separate city and county.

"Still the approval of the majority of all the voters in this entire county will be required before there can be any division of the county.

"We have examined the official reports of the county government and the Oakland city government, setting down in parallel columns the expenses of various departments. The out-and-out duplication and extravagance shown by official figures are appalling.

"It must be remembered always that while Oakland supports its own municipal government it pays 58 per cent of the cost of the county government, most of whose efforts are duplications of what the Oakland municipal government does.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE.

"Oakland's share of maintaining the sheriff's office and the numerous constables now amounts to more than will be required for the city and county. The sheriff will have practically no work to do in handling crime. There will be a saving here.

"The district attorney's office will be relieved of a great deal of work, first because the territory covered will be only a small portion of the total now covered, and second because the city attorney will be the legal advisor of the legislative and administrative branches of the government. The district attorney's office will cost less than Oakland's present share of the county expense.

"Oakland's share of the cost of supporting the board of supervisors, plus the cost of the city council, with stenographers, clerks, stationery and other expenses, brings the total legislative cost to $41,747.65.

"The salaries of a mayor and four councilmen, a city manager, clerks and stenographers, added to the mayor's emergency funds, mayor's entertainment fund, etc., will bring the cost for the city and county up to about $37,700, a saving of $4000."

BRUMFIELD HELD INSANE BY M. D. AFTER CAPTURE

Defense Launched in Trial of Oregon Dentist Accused Of Slaying Man.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Oct. 15.—Attorneys defending Dr. Richard M. Brumfield on a charge of first degree murder resumed their battle today to prove to the court that Brumfield was insane at the time of the alleged murder of Dennis Russell on a lonely spot near Melrose.

The state rested its case shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday and without preliminary of any sort, the defense placed Dr. C. S. Mahood, health officer for the city of Calgary, Alberta, upon the stand.

Mahood testified to various incidents connected with Brumfield's arrest and imprisonment in Calgary.

"When I first saw Brumfield," Mahood testified, "I formed the opinion that he was suffering from temporary dementia, brought on by worry. The third time I saw the prisoner, which was August 15, I definitely decided that he was insane."

acted to secure the $10,000 bounty on Ho Sang's head.

Without the willingness of the Orientals, however, police officials could never unearth or convict the murderers. Hence the fate of the Hip Sing gunmen lies in the hands of their chief.

Should he decide that their offense against a member of their own tong is a bad precedent to set and therefore intolerable, it is expected that the slayrs will be turned over to the authorities for punishment.

DECISION OF CHIEF LARGELY AWAITED.

That there will be no guarantee of safety in the tongs if the shooting of Ho Sang is countenanced by the Hip Sing gunmen, is the general belief of the Orientals. Thus the decision of the national president is being watched by every Chinese gunman on the Pacific coast who is a member of the Hip Sing, Hop Sing or Suey Sing tongs.

Particularly, too, are the Hop Sing gunmen awaiting action of he Hip Sing leader to see what steps are taken against the murderers of Ho Sang. Should the Hips countenance the murder, the Hops will declare the act of the Hip gunmen an act of assistance to the Suey Sings, with whom the Hops are at war, and the armistice between Hops and Hips will be at an end.

DOCTOR DESCRIBES THIRD HUSBAND'S DEATH BY POISON

Symptoms Same As in Case of Bluebeardess' Fourth Spouse, M. D. Says.

By ROBERT A. DONALDSON,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Oct. 15.—Harlan C. Lewis of Billings, Mont., third husband of Mrs. Lyda Southard, alleged "Bluebeardess," showed exactly the same symptoms of arsenical poisoning during his fatal illness as did Edward F. Meyer, Mrs. Southard's fourth husband, whom she is charged with murdering, according to testimony given today by Dr. Jas. I. Wornham of Billings, who attended Lewis.

The State is prepared to introduce into evidence a large quantity of flypaper, torn into small strips and showing sign of having been soaked for some time, which were found at the Lewis home in Billings.

POISONED, SAYS M. D.

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Oct. 15.—Further testimony as to the circumstances surrounding the death of Harlan C. Lewis, third husband of Mrs. Lyda Southard, was offered by the State in district court this morning.

With Dr. Wernham, Billings, Mont., physician, who attended Lewis during his last illness on the stand, attorneys for the State brought out his opinion that the death of Lewis was clearly from arsenical poisoning.

Dr. Wernham reiterated statements made in direct examination last evening to the effect that the case at no time simulated ptomaine or other food poisoning. The witness said the condition of the linings of the stomach and intestinal tract, in his opinion, was occasioned by the administration of arsenic. The witness felt certain more than one dose of the poison had been administered to Lewis.

Jars containing portions taken from the organs of Lewis stood upon a table beside others containing the organs of Meyer, and Mrs. Southard looked upon the array without apparent emotion. When court convened she and her fifth husband, Paul Vincent Southard, chatted within arm's length of the samples, with no apparent embarrassment.

One Year Old!

MONTCLAIR

with its acre and half-acre home sites, has set a new record in city planning. Seldom is such an enormous acreage of high-class home property available within the city limits of a large city. Landscape engineers have laid out a wonderful new section of Oakland, within 12 minutes' drive of the City Hall by automobile.

A Year's Progress

During the year since Montclair was first offered to the public the following things have been accomplished:

1—Fourteen miles of oil macadam roads have been completed or are under way.

2—Two hundred and fifty purchasers have bought sites ranging from a half-acre to seven acres.

3—Ten homes have been built and occupied.

4—Five more homes, costing from $5500 to $18,000, are under way; many more are planned.

5—The San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways has installed a bus line in connection with the Piedmont Avenue car line running from 40th and Piedmont to Montclair. This puts Oakland's business center 20 minutes away, and the Ferry Building 41 minutes. Over 25,000 people have traveled in the Montclair buses since they were installed last May.

6—The Great Western Power Co. and the P. G. and E. have both entered Montclair and are serving residents.

7—Telephone service is in.

8—The East Bay Water Company has installed mains on the Moraga Road and from its two reservoirs on the property. Fire protection is adequately taken care of by hydrants at frequent intervals. These are being rapidly extended.

9—Open prices of $10 to $20 a front foot still prevail, with terms of $50 down and small monthly payments and no interest or taxes until July 1, 1922.

See this new and highly desirable section of Oakland tomorrow. Get a slice of the birthday cake when Montclair celebrates tomorrow!

To get there
Take Piedmont Ave. car from Oakland, or Key Route ferry and Piedmont train from San Francisco. Transfer to bus at 40th and Piedmont. Drive out over Moraga Road.

University Women to Act On Affiliation

By EDNA B. KINARD.

Whether or not the San Francisco Bay Branch of the American Association of University Women (the newest appellation of the California branch of the Collegiate Alumnae), shall continue its affiliation with the California Federation of Women's Clubs will be discussed next Saturday following the October luncheon at Hotel Whitecotton, Berkeley. A state organization of University Women has recently been created. The perfecting of this organization has given rise to the question of withdrawing from the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

A second subject which is creating wide discussion within the ranks of the membership is a proposed amendment to the constitution which would permit any woman completing a two-year academic course in colleges providing four-year courses and granting an A. B., who is not registered as an undergraduate, to become an associate member. Certain restrictions are named in the eligibility. The amendment will be discussed at the November meeting.

"The Orient and Disarmament" will be discussed by Professor George M. Stratton of the University of California before the university women at their October luncheon.

The nutrition class in Lakeview school, fostered by the Lakeview Woman's club, is looking out after itself admirably with more than 500 elementary students daily calling for their half pint of milk. When the clubwomen learned the findings for malnutrition in the public schools they determined to install some system in the north of the lake and elementary institution which would prohibit any large percentage of students enrolled dropping below the normal. A few weeks ago the method was adopted of the mid-morning breakfast, which has become a real game to the youngsters.

On Fridays students who desire a delivery of milk during the coming week deposit fifteen cents with the classroom teacher. For the five mornings thereafter a half pint bottle with straw is delivered to the rooms and time allowed for its consumption. More than 500 pints are being used daily.

Booze Found in Car Halted by Traffic Squad

FAIRFIELD, Oct. 15.—While apprehending motorists here last night who had no lights or no licenses, Speed Cops J. H. Parker and Joseph McEniry hailed a motorist in a large machine who had no license. He gave his name as V. Mozzollion of Oakland, and stated that he would go back to Oakland and obtain his license and certificate.

Accordingly he hired a jitney to take him to Vallejo where he is presumed to have caught the boat.

Upon the departure of the driver the officers looked through the machine and found seventy-five gallons of wine which he had been taking from Sebastopol to Sacramento.

Federal officers were notified and stated that they would arrive and confiscate the wine and the machine.

Mozzollion did not re-appear with the license.

U. S. PLANE BOOZE RUNNING DENIED

DETROIT, Oct. 15.—Denial that United States army airplanes had been used for smuggling liquor across the Canadian border was made here last night by Captain C. H. Kells, intelligence officer at Fort Wayne, who recently investigated the destruction of an army plane on Canadian soil.

The airplane, Captain Kells reported, made a forced landing near Sunnyside, Ont., August 20, and the pilot, Lieutenant James Hutchinson, was injured. Later the motor was stolen from the machine and the inflammable parts burned.

Residents declared frequent landings of airplanes from the United States had aroused their suspicions that the machines were engaged in smuggling whisky.

British Premier Is Kept Guarded Against Attack

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Political and labor problems have inflamed feeling to such a high pitch in various quarters of the country that extraordinary precautions are being taken to prevent any attack against the life of Premier Lloyd George. The two chief questions which have aroused passionate resentment are the Irish peace situation and unemployment.

In industrial districts the labor classes have begun to mutter threats against the government, and when they speak of the government the premier, as the chief spokesman of the cabinet, is always the target.

Barricades have been erected at the entrance of Downing street to prevent mobs of unemployed from storming the premier's official residence—a thing they have been attempting.

The premier's residence is constantly under police guard and when the premier goes to his country place at Chequers, the metropolitan police sends a detail of guards.

Like every man in public life, the premier receives threats from time to time, but he never takes them seriously.

LONDON, Oct. 15 (By the Associated Press).—Information obtained by police emissaries several weeks ago that noon had been fixed for the beginning of a "revolution" under the Communist banner accounted for the unprecedented preparations by Scotland Yard for dealing with any emergency.

Police preparations included the commandeering of the Metropolitan underground railways and the omnibus lines, if found necessary, which would have enabled the concentration of 15,000 police at any center of trouble within half an hour.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 15 (By the Associated Press).—Demonstrations by this city's unemployed occurred in the streets facing the congressional building, in which hundreds of jobless participated. The disorder broke out when several senators attempted to address the demonstrators, who threw stones and other missils, so that mounted police had to intervene and disperse the crowds by firing several shots into the air.

ASK THE TRIBUNE Bureau of Information

"Would you please give comparative statistics as to the weather conditions of this and past years?" asks a Tribune reader. "Has this been an unusually cold and rainy year or has it been a normal one?"

Chabot Observatory records show that the month of September holds the heat record for 17 years for Oakland. On September 28 the thermometer registered 93 degrees. In the month of June also, the record for heat was broken, the thermometer registering 81 degrees on June 10. The rainfall so far this year has been far below normal. Up to October 14, at noon only .52 of an inch of rain had fallen. The normal up to that time is 1.5 inches Last year by October 14, the precipitation totaled 4.5 inches.

If Henry Leavy, who gave his address as 931 Thirty-first street, Oakland, will send in his correct address the information he requested will be forwarded. A letter sent to the above address was returned for better address.

Another reader writes in to enquire how to go to Mt. Tamalpais. Boats leave every day from the Ferry Building, San Francisco, making connections for the trip. Special excursions are run on Sunday Information as to rates can be procured by telephoning direct to the Information Department of the Mt. Tamalpais and Muir Woods Railway, San Francisco.

The TRIBUNE Information Bureau will answer all questions of a general nature except school or legal problems, debates, trade and firm names and queries as to the time of day.

The Bureau is open every day, except Sunday, from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m.

If answers are desired by mail stamps must be enclosed. Quickest results can be obtained by telephoning to the Bureau. If you have any problems of a general nature to solve ask The TRIBUNE Information Bureau, Lakeside 6000.

Students To Travel As "Limited Freight"

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—Reservations on the "box car limited" are being held up on the University of California campus because no word has been received from the railroad company regarding the freight car applied for to take a number of students to Portland to witness the coming Washington-California football game.

Many students have signified their desire to take places on the "limited," and although a request for rates was made many days ago, the students have received no definite word. Local agents declare that they are unable to give rates, and that they have written to the district passenger agent for instructions. They say that "rooters" are not listed on the freight tariff tables with which they are supplied.

The students have requested a car of even the slowest kind, provided that they reach Portland on October 28.

WILL SPEAK ON NEAR EAST.

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—E. Guy Talbot, who returned recently from Turkey where he made a careful study of conditions, will speak on Near East relief at the South Berkeley Community church tomorrow morning. In the evening he will be the speaker at the Central Avenue Method'st Episcopal church, Alameda.

HEAVY GRAPE ORDERS.

MANTECA, Oct. 15.—Wine grapes to the extent of about 3000 tons have been shipped from this district to eastern markets for the season, to do their share in slaking the great thirst beyond the Rockies. Growers are some $300,000 richer.

MUSIC TEACHERS TO HONOR LEADER

Mme. Sofia Newland Neustadt, who leaves on Ocober 28 for an extended absence abroad, will be honored at a reception on Sunday, October 23, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Nicholson in Piedmont, with the Alameda County Music Teachers' Association as host.

Mme Neustadt, a former president of this group of musicians, has been actively identified with the work of the organized music teachers in the state. Since returning several years ago from a long residence abroad she has been a leader in the local musical world. Her European trip will be of indefinite length, probably extending over two years. Mme. Neustadt is expecting to continue her studies in the world's art centers and to hear what the continent has to offer in a musical way.

The farewell reception is the compliment of her local fellow artists to Mme. Neustadt.

Artists' Paintings Are Shown At U. C.

John Marin, Paul Dougherty, George Suks and Maurice Prendergast, four interesting figures among the modern painters of the East, whose work at the Post Exposition attracted attention of lovers of art, are represented with others in an exhibition at Architectural hall at the Unversity of California, opening today and remaining until October 29.

The exhibition comes from Carnegie Institute at Pittsburg, being shown at the important museums across the country.

Prendergast will be remembered as one of the contributors to the ultra-modern rooms at the Palace of Fine Arts, where structural qualities absorbed the attention of the painters, followers of the Cezanne movement.

John Marin still follows the lure of the Orient in his design, one of the most sensitive among the moderns, though diverging in his treatments in his later work.

The exhibition is one of importance, not nly to tetaholinvg-r tance, not only to the art-loving public, but to students who would know at first hand men who made a deep impression upon the modern movement in America.

Proposed Auto Camp Meets Opposition

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—That the ten acres in the Schmidt tract at Sacramento and Rose streets be converted into a public park and playground instead of an automobile camp as proposed, was the request sent to the city council yesterday by the Buena Peralta Improvement club.

New opposition to the proposed auto camp was voiced in resolutions from the club, of which Pedro Saiz is president. Members request that no site adjoining a school building be chosen for an automobile camp in any section of the city.

The communication was filed for further reference by the council.

"Industrial Conflict" Is Subject Chosen

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—"What is the Solution of the Industrial Conflict?" is the subject that will be discussed before the Humanitarians Monday evening. Charles Mundell, who has conducted many evangelistic campaigns in the Southern States, will be the opening speaker. The meeting will be held at the rooms of the Berkeley Y. M. C. A. Monday evening at 8 o'clock, and all who come will be invited to join in the discussion.

CLUB HEAD FLAYS WOMAN'S BATTLE DURING LECTURE

Denied Entry, Ex-Member Breaks Into St. Francis Session With Umbrella.

Members of the University of Fine Arts Society today are discussing how the address of Basil King, novelist, before the society at the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco yesterday was interrupted when an irate woman tried to club her way into the gathering with her umbrella, after she had been denied admittance.

The woman has been identified as Mrs. Caroline Penna Hyman, 3421 Jackson street, San Francisco, a former member of the society. She is said to have wielded her umbrella with telling effect until restrained. Mrs. Hyman was denied admission by Mrs. Margaret Bruce Beaumont, secretary of the organization.

CALLED TROUBLE MAKER.

"Mrs Hyman has been a trouble maker in the society for some time," Mrs. Beaumont is quoted as saying. "Her actions were such that we had to ask her to give up her membership As she is not a member of the society, we, of course, were within our rights in excluding her yesterday. She worked out her spite by making this demonstration."

The encounter, it is admitted, will remain as a high light in the history of the society, which has encountered several temperamental tempests since it was launched in the bay region at a comparatively recent date.

Although denied admittance, Mrs Hyman was successful in having distributed circulars purporting to be copies of a letter addressed to Mrs. Gaillard Stoney, club executive, in which the organization was criticised.

CRITICISMS DISTRIBUTED.

The letter asked whether the society was incorporated, whether it was formed for educational purposes or profit, requested information as to the duties of the governing board, patronesses and secretary, whether the secretary received a salary or a share in the profits, and whether the books showing receipts and disbursements are open to inspection by the members.

"Up to date," the letter concluded, "there has been no attempt on the part of the society to meet the criticisms and complaints of its members, and as the governing power of the society apparently remains in impenetrable obscurity, all members are urged to join in a demand for a full and open statement as to the nature, government and aims of this organization."

The last time the unprogramed activities of the organization came to public notice was when several prominent San Francisco and East-bay society women resigned from the society, while others said they had not sanctioned the public use of their names as patronesses, in view of the fact they were not patronesses.

WOMAN MAY BE SENT TO ASYLUM

Hearing of insanity charges against Mrs. Ida Hurst, "the mystery woman," preferred by Mrs. Anna Louisa Cole, secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, were continued today before Superior Judge A. F. St. Sure. The woman declared that she did not know her home address, where her husband whom she married four months ago was, nor what her correct name was. when confronted with officers who had investigated her case. According to court officers the woman will probably be sent to the State Hospital at Agnew.

Mrs. Hurst appeared at the Central Police station several nights ago and told of being robbed by a negro, who took from her at the point of a gun $40 in currency, all the money she possessed. The next night she returned again to the police station and told of being assaulted near the Key Route tunnel by eight men. She exhibited a blackened eye to the police. The case was investigated by the police and found to be untrue, according to statements made by officers.

Mrs. Hurst is 34, well educated and has been a music teacher for several years. She was married four months ago to Irving W. Hurst, a salesman, by Rev. Frank M. Silsey of the First Presbyterian church.

NEW SKIPPER ON 'TOONERVILLE TROLLEY,' SECOND

The "Toonerville Trolley the Second" is running on scheduled time again today, skippered by a big and burley conductor-motorman. Tom Lemas, a passenger, who yesterday headed an expedition which tried to exterminate M. L. Eiland, the former skipper, was released from jail on deposit of $50 bail by Police Judge W. J. Gannon of San Leandro, and battery warrants against four more of the party were issued. From last reports other members of the attacking party had departed for parts unknown.

Warrants were issued against D. Lemas, Jose Lemas, Mrs. D. Tarrion and Manuel Lemas, and Deputy Sheriff Joe Soares was ordered to serve them.

Failure of the "Toonerville Trolley the Second" to appear on scheduled time Thursday night at East Fourteenth street and the San Lorenzo was caused by a pitched battle in which Eiland fought six persons when he ejected Tom Lemas, a passenger, after he failed to pay the proper fare. While Eiland is suffering from cuts and severe bruises, other members of the party are suffering from large bruises, lacerations and other injuries inflicted by Eiland with his trusty controller bar.

Complainants in the issuance of the warrants were officials of the street car company. Eiland lives at 1316 Ninety-seventh avenue.

AGED MAN HIT BY AUTO MAY DIE, IS FEARED

Injuries Received When Victim Steps From Behind Motor Truck.

An aged man, whom the police, through papers found on his person, believe to be S. M. Snow, a Livermore rancher, suffered what is believed will be fatal injuries when he was struck down by an automobile at 100th avenue and East Fourteenth street shortly before noon today. Police Inspectors William Kyle and Edward O'Donnell found a receipt among the injured man's effects. The receipt was made out to S. M. Snow. The man also had $105 in his pockets at the time of the accident.

The automobile was driven by Eli Jacob, a resident of Del Rey. According to Jacob the victim stepped from behind an auto truck directly in the path of Jacob's automobile. The vehicle passed over the man's body.

Spectators assisted in placing the man in Jacob's automobile. One of these witnesses, who accompanied Jacob and the injured man to the emergency hospital, said he believed the victim's name was "Snow."

Little hope is held for his recovery. He is suffering from a broken ankle, broken shoulder, several broken ribs, concussion of the brain and a probable fracture of the skull. He is about 75 years of age.

Valera to Rule On 'Erin Within Empire' Scheme

With Parley Adjourned Till Monday, Irish Confer With Dublin.

BY DANIEL O'CONNELL,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—In the absence of a formal session of the Irish peace conference today the Sinn Fein delegates conferred among themselves, meanwhile waiting an answer from the message sent by special courier to Eamonn de Valera at Dublin last night.

The communication was understood to have referred to Premier Lloyd-George's question whether the Irish would consent to a continuation of the deliberations upon the basis that Ireland remain a part of the British empire.

CONTRARY VIEWS ON PARLEY'S PROGRESS.

Contrary views were expressed as to the viewpoint of the conferees. A report was current in official circles that the British delegates were pessimistic and that the Irish envoys feared that the conference might end next week. On the other hand, the Daily Express said that "there is entire satisfaction on both sides over the progress made so far."

An agreement for strengthening the Irish truce was reached on Friday and is being put into effect over the week-end. This made it appear that both sides believe the conference will continue indefinitely. Details of the armistice arrangements will be made public next week

The delegates are maintaining the utmost secrecy regarding the subjects discussed. It is understood, however, that the conference is now at the heart of the Irish problem and that it was upon the request of the Irish that a postponement was taken until Monday to enable certain inquiries to be made at Dublin.

BRITAIN NOT TO FREE IRISH PRISONERS.

Progress has been made on issues dealing with the armistice and the treatment of Irish prisoners and it is believed an agreement may be reached when the parley is renewed on Monday. Britain has refused to liberate the Irish prisoners, but has promised to accord them better treatment.

It was reported that Michael Collins might return to Dublin over Sunday on account of "family affairs" and to consult with De Valera.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Considerable currency was given here to a sensational report of the ordering of uniforms for the Irish republican army and formation of a company to come to London to escort the Dail delegation back to Ireland upon the conclusion of peace.

The story, however, was ridiculed by Sinn Fein leaders, who say no uniforming of the army is going on and that there is no question of any detachment coming to London.

Since the truce there has been no interference by the military with the Irish republican army, uniformed or not, and its existence has been officially recognized for truce purposes, with the co-operation of liaison officers of the Irish republican army and the British army.

Winter Season Is Having Dry Start

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—The winter season is having a dry start according to the meteorological synopsis of the university issued for the month of September.

According to Burton M. Varney, in charge of weather records on the campus, but one-seventeenth of an inch of rain fell last month, or one forty-ninth of an inch below normal. A deficit this early in the season, Varney states, is of little consequence.

September was marked by a short period of above normal temperatures the university report shows, with 98 degrees on September 27 and 96 degrees on September 28. An unusually large number of clear days also marked last month, according to the university report.

200 Toothaches At U. Wait Attention

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—Two hundred toothaches are waiting to be attended to by the university dentist, according to a report issued today from the college infirmary. Because of a lack of facilities, two hundred students are on the waiting list for dental attention, it is said.

Two chairs and two dentists are kept constantly at work by the students, according to Dr. L. W. Hahn, head dentist, and the infirmary faces a serious problem. Further additions to the department cannot be made for lack of funds.

'Edith' With Hollow Legs; Then Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Ruth M. Clairmont, 478 Sanchez street, today is in possession of an interlocutory decree of divorce awarded her after she had introduced in evidence a letter written to her husband by another woman who said her friends called her "Miss Hollow-legs" because of her ability to drink intoxicating liquor.

Another letter written to Clairmont, who formerly was an army officer, expressed the wish of the writer that she could meet him "where rivers of booze abound, and sloe gin rickeys hang on the trees and highballs roll on the ground." Both letters were signed "Edith."

Mrs. Clairmont said her husband is living in Porto Rico, and that he wrote her a letter in which he expressed a determination never to return to her, asserting "during the latter part of our married life I felt as though you were a hand and I a bird; the hand was closed and holding the bird in captivity. . . . Finally the hand opened and the bird escaped, never to return again of its own free will."

The plaintiff was awarded the custody of a five-year-old daughter and $75 a month allmony.

MERCHANT WINS ORPHEUM SEATS

Who do you suppose won the two Orpheum tickets yesterday by reading the Orpheum ad in The Oakland TRIBUNE? Adolph Schlueter, local merchant.

The automobile license number of Schlueter's car was picked up on the street the preceding day by Manager Lew Newcomb and appeared in the Orpheum ad in The TRIBUNE yesterday, providing two of the best seats in the Orpheum for the lucky motorist.

Each day there appears in the Orpheum ad in The Oakland TRIBUNE an automobile license number picked at random, either on the street, in a garage or service station of Oakland, Alameda or Berkeley. The following day that number appears in the Orpheum ad in The Oakland TRIBUNE exclusively.

The owner of the number has only to call on the circulation manager of The TRIBUNE and he will be given two of the best seats at the Oakland Orpheum, good for any performance except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Watch the Orpheum ads in The TRIBUNE. Your number may be next.

Pupils Enroll In Farm Course At High School

CONCORD, Oct. 15.—Indicative of the success attendant on the institution of the agricultural course in Mt. Diablo union high school is the fact that eighteen students are now enrolled for the course and a considerable number who desired to enroll have been requested to wait until next year. It was not anticipated that more than ten students would enroll for the initial year's course. W. C. Gaines is the instructor.

The first part of the course is to be taken up by a survey of this district. One committee of boys will investigate livestock conditions and all questions pertaining to care and marketing; another committee is to make a survey of tractors and their operation, while still another committee is to make a survey of pumps and pumping plants.

Ice Plant Reports Quietus On Noises

The Union Ice company's manufacturing plant at Twenty-second and Filbert streets, which caused a recent furore because of an ammonia tank explosion which culminated in noises and vibrations that have made residents complain, is now in a better condition and should not alarm neighbors, according to a letter received today by Commissioner Frank Colbourn from R. M. Fitzgerald, attorney for the ice plant. Colbourn referred the matter to Attorney A. P. Stiefvater representing the protestants.

BERKELEY TO SECURE WORK FOR JOBLESS

Hall to Discuss Unemployment Situation.

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—A complete investigation will be made of Berkeley's unemployment situation with the object of securing work for all who need it, as a result of a mass meeting held last evening in the council chamber at the city hall with Mayor Louis Bartlett presiding.

Ira A. Morris, manager of the Berkeley branch of the Oakland Bank of Savings, was named chairman of a committee which will have as its work the investigation of local labor conditions and the framing of a program to meet the needs of the unemployed. Others on the committee are Charles Keeler, secretary of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce; Chief of Police August Vollmer; Mrs. J. Koughan, former President of the Berkeley Federation of Mothers, and Rev. Norman W. Pendelton, member of the charity commission.

HOOVER'S REQUEST.

A half hundred representatives of civic, commercial and business organizations of Berkeley joined in last night's meeting called by Mayor Bartlett in response to instructions from Herbert Hoover, who is in charge of the national unemployment problem at Washington, D. C.

As the first move of the committee named to investigate conditions will be the ascertaining of the exact number of Berkeleyans needing work at the present time. This number has been estimated at approximately 500, with an increase of 200 or more before the winter is over anticipated.

"No amount of talking and planning will accomplish anything unless, in the end, work is provided for all who need it," declared Secretary Keeler of the Chamber of Commerce, who urged that immediate action be taken to ascertain exact conditions in the college city.

WORK AT UNIVERSITY.

Keeler pointed out that the university was now ready to begin work on two large buildings on the campus and he declared that contractors should be urged to employ Berkeley men on the jobs. If construction work is started on the proposed Pacific Port Terminal on the Berkeley waterfront, Keeler declared that not only the unemployment problem of the college city would be solved but that of the entire Eastbay region as well.

That the Berkeley Welfare society, the city charity organization, is assisting 23 men at the present time who are unable to find work was stated by Mrs. Helen Neal, secretary of the society, while Hollis Thompson, industrial secretary of the Y. M. C. A., placed the unemployed number at a much larger figure. Thompson declared that there were at least 500 men in the city needing work, while other estimates of the number unemployed ranged from 200 to 300.

CENSUS SOUGHT.

Registration places in various parts of the city where the unemployed might sign up for jobs were urged by Rev. T. J. Brennan of St. Joseph's church. An accurate total of the number of men needing work could be secured in this way, he said.

Prompt action will be taken by Morris and his committee in their investigations, according to a statement issued at the close of the meeting. Suggestions made by Secretary Keeler of the Chamber of Commerce that the city inaugurate a street improvement program and other municipal activities were declared impractical by Mayor Bartlett, who pointed to the financial condition of the city in declaring that nothing could be done along this line.

ATTEND CONFERENCE.

Among those joining in the conference were Chief of Police August Vollmer, Mrs. Samuel B. McLenegan, Berkeley Chapter, Red Cross; Supervisor Redmond C. Staats; Mrs. Lewis A. Hicks, Mobilized Women's Organizations; Roy R. Henderson, Lions Club; E. A. Brown, vice-president First National Bank; Ira A. Morris, Berkeley branch, Oakland Bank of Savings; Curtis Wright, president Berkeley Chamber of Commerce; Perry T. Tompkins, E. J. McCullagh, Professor William A. Kirk, Bert Driver, Hall Ether, Mrs. Agnes Claypole Moody, Mrs. Ida M. Blochman and others representing various phases of civic activity.

Speakers to Be Selected For C. of C. Booster Meet

HAYWARD, Oct. 15.—The selection of speakers for the coming booster luncheon of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce, which is to be held in the Hayward hotel dining room on Thursday noon, October 20, is now in the hands of the committee on arrangements, and will be completed today, Secretary J. D. Armstrong of the chamber said here this morning.

Armstrong is himself serving on the luncheon committee, in company with Walter H. Daniels, chairman, and Samuel Kiegmann. The affair promises to be an especially interesting one and a large attendance of Chamber of Commerce directors is anticipated.

One of the principal features of the luncheon will be an address on the formation of the County Chamber of Commerce in Niles recently. It is probable that President A. W. Beam, who has also been elected president of the county body, will speak on this subject. The directors will also be advised of the success of the San Leandro business men with regard to the formation of a local chamber in that city. The San Leandro organization meeting is planned for this coming Wednesday evening, according to E. E. Linthicum, a prominent merchant who is interested in the development of this activity.

Rehearsals are now under way for the American Legion play, "A Man from Mexico," which is to be given here shortly in an effort to raise funds towards a clubhouse for the local boys. The piece is being directed by "Buddy" Archie Stephens. Many well known Hayward men and women have been cast in the play, according to Stephens.

Farm bureau meeting announcements given out by the secretary of that organization, Lloyd Russell, here today, are as follows: October 18, Irvington Center; October 19, Hayward Heath Center, poultry department meeting in conjunction; October 21, Orchard Avenue Center. Farm Adviser Russell Robinson will speak at all the center meetings listed above, according to the secretary.

H. C. Cutting, participant in a running gun fight with a group of three armed bandits at the Daisy Farm inn recently, who has since been convalescing from the effects of two bullet wounds in his right leg, was able to visit friends in Hayward yesterday. Cutting was the center of quite a crowd on B street, where the party stopped for a few moments.

All signs indicate that there will be a record breaking attendance at the open meeting of the Hill and Valley club at the Odd Fellows' hall here Monday afternoon when the subject of the city and county consolidation will be discussed. Ex-Governor George C. Pardee will speak on the affirmative side of the question; Professor W. L. Gibson will oppose the adoption of the measure. Expressions of sentiment are expected on the part of the guests present at the debate.

Gowns New, Not Women, Wilbur Says

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 15.—Women had a new champion today—in the person of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University.

Conclusions based on "years of observation" have been reached by Dr. Wilbur, he said, that women are no different now from what they used to be.

"The only change in women in recent years," he declared in an interview, "is a superficial one, changing with the styles.

"They wear their hair now like they did at the close of the Civil War. Of course, then they wore hoop skirts and crinolines and they don't now, but that change is merely superficial.

"Old folks, too, are just the same as they were fifty years ago—finding fault with the younger women even as they did in days gone by."

FRESNO, Oct. 15.—L. R. Ryan, the ninth to be arrested in connection with the kidnaping of two Associated Oil Company employees early in the week, was arraigned by Judge George B. Graham yesterday on charges of burglary, assault with a deadly weapon and kidnaping. His bond was fixed at $6000.

Cannon, Oakley Warren and E. H. Potts. The latter was arraigned by Judge Graham. The preliminary hearing of the men has been set for November 8.

Operators in the Coalinga oil district are said to be unanimously in favor of the proposition fathered by Walter Yarrow, organizer of the Oil Workers' Union, to bring troops into the district affected by the strike.

They contend that martial law would be welcome, as it would relieve them of hiring and maintaining guards on their property and would aid in clearing he situation considerably.

The press committee of the strikers issued a statement, in which they denied picketing deputy sheriffs. The statement says it is the intention of the committee and of the strikers to co-operate wih the Sheriff's office. The committee adds that, while picketing has been done in the fields, it has been by individuals with no authority from the union.

COUNSEL FEES BASIS OF SUIT IN HIGH COURT

Fees Three Times As High As Judgment Asked in 331 Richmond Suits.

MARTINEZ, Oct. 15.—Whether attorneys can demand and secure counsel fees in a number of suits of exactly the same nature, fees three times in excess of the amount sought in the actions, is to be determined by the state supreme court on an appeal from a decision rendered by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie in a suit instituted by G. H. Stokes against the late Henrietta P. Watkinson, individually and as executrix of the estate of Joseph P. Watkinson.

The suits were before Judge McKenzie for several months, were taken to the appellate court and will now go to the supreme court for a final decision.

Stokes, through Attorneys Faulkner & Faulkner, instituted 331 suits against Mrs. Watkinson to recover for sewer assessments against as many lots in Richmond. The total amount sought to recover was $1532 or an average of less than $5 on each suit. The attorneys asked counsel fees of $15 on each action and costs. In his decision Judge McKenzie granted the judgments asked, assessed costs of suit against the defendant but disallowed the attorneys' plea for fees of $15 in each action and allowed them but $25 for the 331 suits.

The decision of Judge McKenzie was appealed to the appellate court and that tribunal upheld the decision as it related to costs and judgment but reversed the ruling on attorneys' fees. The fees sought by Faulkner & Faulkner total about $5000.

Attorneys W. T. Kearney and E. C. Harrison, representing the Watkinson estate, applied to the supreme court for a rehearing on the attorneys' fees ruling and word was received here today that the court had granted their request.

The suits were instituted in 1917 and the decision of Judge McKenzie was made in June, 1918. Should the plea of Stokes' attorneys be granted the costs of the suits would approximate $9000—$5000 attorneys' fees and $4000 costs at the rate of $12 per suit—while the total amount sought as judgment was but $1532.

BAD TELEPHONE SERVICE SINCE 1917 IS PLAINT

The bell on the telephone of J. E. Rhodes of 623 Twentieth street doesn't ring as it ought to.

Rhodes told Mayor Davie about it today, in a letter in which he complains of poor service on the part of the telephone company, and tells of several alleged episodes where customers could not get in touch with him, although he was at his shop all the time.

Rhodes says he has had trouble with his telephone since 1917.

"I have come to the conclusion," says Rhodes, "that business generally is greatly hampered by poor service."

Mayor Davie says this protest may be filed for the present, as the city officials are bending their energies toward securing actual installation of telephones where folks have waited long to get them.

Emanuel Movement To Be Discussed

ALAMEDA, Oct. 15.—Dr. John W. Mace of New York will lecture at the Congregational church upon "Conditions in War-Ridden Turkey and Armenia," tomorrow evening. He was a member of the special commission appointed to investigate conditions in the Near East.

In the morning service the Rev. C. C. Wilson will speak on "How the Emanuel Movement Heals." He will discuss the reasons for faith having more effect over function than organic diseases and will show how both the physician and minister can work together to usher in a new era of health and happiness. The vested choir will sing at both services.

Airplane Baggage Limit Is 30 Pounds

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Women air travelers to Paris are limited to thirty pounds of baggage. An inquiring reporter got the following list of her outfit from a woman passenger whose baggage was accepted without question: Evening dress, evening cape, soft hat, sports skirt, jumper, two blouses, satin slippers, change of underwear, kimono, pair of gloves, six handkerchiefs, diary, brush, comb, mirror, box of powder and two jars of cold cream.

BRITISH IN GRAVE EARNEST ON U. S. ARMS MEETING

Change in Attitude Is Shown By Proposed Sending Of Premier.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The "essence of the British change of attitude" toward the Harding disarmament conference today was contained in the editorial expressions of the Daily Chronicle. It said:

"Lloyd George's visit is the most convincing proof that we are in grave earnest regarding the problems which President Harding has propounded.

We can imagine no better overture to Washington than the good news regarding the developments of the Irish peace negotiations."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Harding told newspaper correspondents at their regular conference with him that he regarded the results of the unemployment conference as very beneficial.

"The unemployment conference," said Harding, has borne rich rewards to the unemployed of this country."

The conference already has stimulated an increase in employment in many sections of the country, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, said in a statement.

Representatives of the "American labor movement" can readily give support to the pronouncements of the conference, he said, since all of the "many proposals purporting to be to the interest of the working people" which were offered were rejected by the conference.

The citizens' employment committee of the District of Columbia issued a statement advising those seeking employment in the Government service not to come to Washington unless they are prepared to maintain themselves until such time as they are employed by the government. They are warned, the statement said, that they cannot expect employment in any other channel in the interim.

Herrick's Suit Styled Without Foundation

Superior Judge Kinsell all but demanded the withdrawal of the suit of Dr. L. F. Herrick against the City of Oakland yesterday afternoon when he gave his opinion that the suit was without foundation, and endeavored to secure an agreement from H. L. Hagan, Herrick's attorney, not to present an amended complaint which would continue the matter. Herrick is suing to force the city council to declare invalid the waterfront lease of the Parr Terminal company.

Judge Kinsell told Hagan he did not believe his complaint in the case could be amended to sustain Herrick's right to sue, and pointed out that Herrick's suit was unnecessary, since the whole matter will be settled with a decision on the suit brought by Fred D. Parr over the same question.

Judge Kinsell's action followed his decision sustaining the demurrer of the City of Oakland against Dr. Herrick's suit, in which the court ruled Dr. Herrick, in the capacity of a private citizen, had not laid a foundation for his suit, since he had not shown fraud or collusion or even bad faith in the transaction.

Is Your Family Breaking Up?

Are those children of yours who were babies only yesterday marrying and going into homes of their own? Or it may be some members of the family are seeking success in foreign fields, or perhaps death has decreased the number of your household.

If, from these or any other causes, the old home acquires a sort of empty feeling, you should trade it for a smaller place. Besides dispelling any depression which you may feel in your present home, the new one will be easier to take care of.

You will probably find someone who will trade his home and some cash for a larger place if you read the Classified Columns today and Wednesday under

MISSIS HARRIS DISCOVERED!!!

Not since Corisande came to call ("Corisande Came to Call" should be a good title to a verse) have we been so triumphant as we were the other day when we learned the secret of Missis Harris. The Missis, we will let drop, has thrown out a number of false clews. She is young and most bee-you-tiful, is not engaged in scrubbing floors and has no serious intentions of embarking on an ark. When we saw the Missis she was writing a letter on the back of a pancake, absent-mindedly eating, the while, a piece of note paper. Her friends say that she once played checkers on a waffle and that her list of eccentricities is longer than the list of appointive officers under the proposed charter.

As for us we were completely dazzled at the sight of her and because of the knowledge that the long search was over.

As for the Marin county hikers, F. Spinkeyvintz informs us, they are victims of lipsecamania.

Put your heart into your work, says the advice given. But suppose you are grinding sausage?

It is getting so now that whenever a poet writes a verse that does not rhyme he labels it "Translation from the Chinese," a hokum poem or whatever it is. From what we have seen of them we would conclude that it is easier to write them than to win a reader for them. With this word of warning we will append:

CERTAINLY.

Most every day
When I walk the street
Some man cries out,
"Hello, old man."
And then, "Excuse me, you're not Bill Jones. I thought you were."

And every day
I become more and more convinced
That I am not Bill Jones—
And never was.

Holding a Husband

by Adele Garrison

She looked up at me quizzically.

"I know I'm going to frighten you out of seven years' growth," she said, "but I can't help it. I never baste anything that is to go on a machine."

I repressed the protest which rose to my lips. I am a good needlewoman, though a fussy one, but I had seen Lillian in action many times, knew her cool judgment, and that she would not jeopardize the rose-colored fittings of Leila's room.

For the next few minutes the sewing machine whirred steadily while I pinned strips of cloth together, and when that task was accomplished I began to turn hems. Lillian rose from the machine as she finished the last stitch, came over to me, smiling triumphantly.

"Anything wrong with this stitching?"

"Not a thing," I agreed promptly. "And I shall be able to get along beautifully now."

"I'll get at the trunk, pronto," she said. "It won't take long, and then I'll be able to help you with the basting and hem turning. So just take one piece at a time to hem. But, look here. You're in a bad light. Come over to this window."

And only after she had carefully arranged my chair and had esconced me in it, did I realize that her kindly thoughtfulness had arranged my position in such wise that my back was to the heap of my despoiled mementoes which she was now going to search.

Fortunate, indeed, was I to have an occupation like the hemming of Leila's window draperies during Lillian's search through the contents of my wrecked keepsake trunk for some clew to the marauding hands which had flung them in a heap on the floor after mutilating some of them.

If it had been anything less mechanical I could not have kept my mind on it, for my ears were keenly alert to every rustle of paper, and especially to every time when there was absolute silence of movement on Lillian's part. It was then, although I could not see her, that I knew some fresh evidence of wantonness had engaged her attention, and every nerve in my body quivered with anxious stress.

But my needle knew no diminution of speed, and I thanked my little mother for the almost automatic skill she had given me by rigid training so long ago. The occupation steadied me, held me to sanity until the noise of the closing trunk lid and Lillian's abrupt crossing to my side signalled the end of her task.

"Everything is back in the trunk, dear," she said softly, "with the exception of a few articles which I know you won't mind my keeping for a little more careful attention. Not one of them was your mother's—indeed, her things have not been disturbed, as far as I can judge. Do you want to see these things I have?"

I did want to see them, intensely, but there was that in Lillian's voice—so used am I to her every inflection—which betrayed the fact that she would rather I did not look at them. So I heroically repressed my inclination to eager assent and shook my head instead.

"It would only upset me," I said truthfully.

She laid her hand for a tender approving instant upon my shoulder, then moved briskly away.

"If you can tell me where I can find some wrapping paper and twine," she said in matter of fact tones, "I'll have every trace of disturbance removed in the next few seconds."

"In my father's room, on the top shelf of that old-fashioned wardrobe," I directed. "I always depend on him for my supply of those things, and I noticed this morning when Katie and I were cleaning his room there were plenty of both there."

"All right. I'll be back in a minute."

She went out of the room, and through the open door. I heard her in my father's room, then, to my surprise, her footsteps went rapidly to the rear of the hall beyond, which are the rooms of Jim and Katie, and from which a staircase descends to the kitchen. There she evidently halted, for I heard nothing more from her for a long minute, when she came flying back.

Uncle Wiggily Stories

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND SUSIE'S APPLE.

Once upon a time Susie Littletail, the cute little girl rabbit, hopped over to Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow and said to the bunny gentleman:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Please come for a hop in the woods with me and perhaps we may have an adventure!"

"Well, I'm sure it would be lovely if we could have one!" laughed Mr. Longears, with a twinkle of his pink nose. "Anyhow, we'll try, Susie. Come along!"

So the rabbit gentleman and the little girl bunny began hopping through the woods. The dried leaves rustled under their paws and other leaves, golden, red and purple, sifted down from the trees and tickled the bunnies on their big ears. Uncle Wiggily and Susie rather liked that and laughed in glee.

Pretty soon Uncle Wiggily said:

"Well, Susie, we don't seem to be having many adventures. I haven't seen the Fuzzy Fox, nor yet the Woozie Wolf!"

"And I'm glad of it!" laughed Susie. "I don't want any wolfie or foxie adventures. I want a pretty one. Just wait until I go to the top of the next hill. I may see a lovely adventure there."

So Susie hopped to the top of the hill and, looking down, she clapped her paws and cried:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, I see it! A lovely red one!"

"A red what?" asked the bunny.

"A red adventure!" chuckled Susie. "Come and look."

Uncle Wiggily looked down the hill and said:

"That isn't an adventure, Susie. It's only a big red apple that has fallen from some tree."

"Well, I can make an adventure out of a red apple!" spoke the rabbit girl. "I can take it home and mother can put it into a pie, or make a dumpling of it, or stew it into sauce, or make an apple turnover, and that will be an adventure."

"Indeed it will," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "And as the apple is so large, Susie, I'll help you take it home."

Well, it was a very large, red, juicy apple, so big, in fact, that between them Susie and Uncle Wiggily couldn't carry it.

"I know what we can do!" exclaimed the bunny. "I can tie a wild grape vine, like a piece of rope, around the apple, and we can pull it home."

"Just like a little sled or express wagon!" laughed Susie. "Oh, what fun it will be!"

So the bunny tied the grape vine to the apple, and, taking hold of the other end of the vine, he and Susie pulled the fruit along the ground.

"I think I'll have mother make a pie of this apple," said Susie, after a while, when they were about a quarter of the way home.

"A pie would be very good," said Uncle Wiggily.

They went on a little further, with the apple going bimpity-bump over the ground, and, all of a sudden, Susie stopped and said:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Do you know what I think?"

"Well, not exactly. What do you think?" asked the bunny, twinkling his pink nose curious like.

"I think, instead of a pie, I'll have mother make a dumpling of this apple," said Susie.

"Very good," answered the bunny. "A dumpling would be fine."

They went on a little further, and, all of a sudden Susie said:

"Oh, I've changed my mind! I think, instead of a dumpling, I'll have mother make a turnover of this apple!"

"Turnovers are most excellent," spoke Mr. Longears. "And perhaps it would be a good thing if we hurried on, Susie, to get home before you changed your mind again. The poor apple will be worried, wondering what is going to happen it."

"Apples don't worry," laughed Susie.

They went on a little farther, the apple going bimpity-bump over the ground, and, all of a sudden, as they reached the top of a hill, Susie exclaimed:

"Oh, I've changed my mind again."

"What are you going to do with the apple now?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I'm going to roll it down hill and make it go bang on the nose of the old Fuzzy Fox who is hiding at the foot of the hill to catch us!" said Susie.

"What's that! A Fox?" exclaimed the bunny.

"A sure-enough Fox!" said Susie. Quickly she unfastened the grapevine from the apple, and rolled it down the hill. Bimpity-bump it rolled until at last it hit the old Fox right on the nose as he stuck his head out of the bushes.

"Oh, wow!" cried the Fox, and away he ran to the doctor's, not hurting Uncle Wiggily at all.

"It's a good thing you had sharp eyes, Susie, and saw the Fox!" said Uncle Wiggily, as he once more tied the vine on the apple, which was all right except that a little skin was rubbed off.

Then the two bunnies dragged the apple home, and Mrs. Littletail made some fudge out of it, which was the very nicest thing to do. So every one was happy, and if the automobile doesn't turn upside down when it's trying to climb the telegraph pole after the pussy cat's bicycle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Lulu's plums.

CUT OUT ALONG THESE LINES.

Beauty Talks

by Lucrezia Bori

How to Soften Sunlight Lines Which May Mar Your Beauty.

This is the season of the year when fine lines may creep insidiously around your eyes. The brilliant sunshine brings them forth, but if you are at all interested in your appearance you will see that they do not remain long upon your face.

LUCREZIA BORI

To help prevent these lines you should wear a wide-brimmed hat when you go outdoors in the daytime. If you do not take this precaution then you should carry a parasol so that your eyes are shaded.

If, however, in spite of all your care, after you have spent a day on the lake or aboard a steamer, or even playing tennis or golf, you discover that your lovely eyes are rimmed with innumerable delicate lines, you should set to work to massage them away.

This can be done, but you should exert great care in massaging. You should use only the tips of your fingers, for the little muscles and nerves which lie under the skin of your face are many, and you should not buffet them about in a careless manner. You should use a good cold cream when you do this, so that there will be no unnecessary friction when you rub your face.

Every woman has a certain cold cream which she prefers. Some persons make their own, but naturally this somewhat lengthy process is not for every one. There are many delightful creams to be had, and so long as you use one which is made by a reliable manufacturer your skin should be well nourished.

Differences are, of course, noticeable even in the finest creams, but if you will give them a fair trial you soon will discover which is the one best suited to the texture of your skin. Once having discovered this, you should not waste your time nor risk injuring your complexion by trying every cream that everybody's recommended.

You should rub your face upwards and slightly toward your temples. It is not necessary to rub in circles, and it is merely a waste of time to spend too long over this procedure. If you will devote about five minutes to this massage just before you retire you will be surprised after a night's refreshing slumber to discover that many of these lines have vanished. Such lines, caused by the sun, merely are transient if you immediately take steps to remove them. But if you should neglect them they may assume a permanent location at the corners of your eyes.

If your eyes are tired at night, and often after a day of sightseeing this is the result, you should apply a compress of linen wrung out of very cold water. It will prove most beneficial.

Should you prefer it, you may bathe your eyes with a lotion which is made by taking a pinch of boracic acid and dissolving it in a tablespoonful of water. This is most refreshing, and rests the eyes immeasurably.

The better way, however, to retain the beauty of your eyes and their setting is to exercise great watchfulness. This applies not only to the hours when you go outdoors, but also when you are at home. You never should sit and read or write where the glare of the sunlight induces those little telltale lines about your eyes.

Household Hints

Solving the Problems of Luncheon Favors and PlaceCards.

There is rarely a luncheon or dinner given nowadays where favors and place-cards are omitted. The hostess counts on these little trifles to start the conversation ball rolling and as a means of breaking the social ice.

There is such a wide choice among the favors and cards it is only a question of how much one wishes to spend on them which governs the selection. Place-cards show the guests where the hostess wishes them to sit and the placing of the guests is usually arranged in the most tactful manner.

Most place-cards are of paper formation and their cost depends upon their originality or the work lavished on them.

Tiny paper parasols have streamers from the handles on which to write the names. They are in plain colors and in patterned papers. Dainty painted butterflies of paper are made in such a manner as to be easily attached to the rims of the water glasses. They are made with gauze wings, done in natural markings, with a plain place left on the body or the wing for the name.

Fairies, large single flowers and patriotic emblems are made to fasten on the water glasses. Then there are endless comics, beads, figures and little groups which are chosen to carry out the ideas of the party.

At a suffrage luncheon which a friend of mine attended the other day, little wooden soap boxes made of papier-mache had wee doll speakers fastened to them named for prominent suffragists. Each box was weighted with salted nuts, and the guest's name appeared on the bonnet or hat crown of the speaker.

For a vegetarian luncheon there are imitation vegetable favors of all sorts which may be used. If they are made of silk or cloth they may be used later as cushions, needlebooks and so on.

One of the newest ideas in placecards is a little crocheted silk hat, smartly trimmed, which rests upon a wee hatstand. The crown of the hat holds a rolled tape measure. The guest's name is on a card marked "sold," which is attached to the stand.

Blown eggs, painted and dressed, and fastened to a card were recently used for a "coming out" luncheon. The colors of the decorations were yellow and white. The centerpiece was a favor pie in the form of a nest with downy chicks and shells in it. The favors were egg-shell china pin trays.

Favors take the form of useful little gifts rather than expensive, but useless trifles in these thrifty times.

Painted leather sweater belts, pin cases for the traveling bag, motor hat bags of embroidered linen and wicker covered glass flower bowls, small in size, are among the novelties.

At a very recent dinner I attended the women had a choice of charmingly woven novel Philippine hats. Some of them were developed in two colors, plaided or striped. Others were of plain white with colored facings, while some were in rainbow colorings, plain or fringed at the edges. The hats are suitable for outing wear and not only wash but they may be dyed if one tires of the original color.

Hand embroidered trifles, handmade handkerchiefs and linen hats figure in the selection of favors which may be made at home and show the original ideas of the various hostesses.

Any one may buy favors but not everyone can make unusual favors.

3-Minute Journeys

WHERE THE OLDEST LIVING MOTHER RULES THE HOME.

Much has been written about the unhappy situation of women in China. The fact that girl babies—particularly in other years—have been drowned or disposed of in other ways, because girls are said not to be welcome in China, has been told so often that perhaps the impression has been given the world that women have a very hard time of it, indeed, in China. Furthermore, the stories of the binding of the feet of women—now happily a thing of the past—have added to the belief that to be a woman in China is a pitiful fate. And yet, Chinese of fine quality declare that in no other country are women so revered or so loved.

Perhaps the reason for the belief that women in China are not altogether happy has been caused by the undue emphasis placed upon exceptional cases. Furthermore, it may be due to the fact that the better class of Chinese keep their homes as separate from the workaday world as possible, scarcely ever inviting a foreigner to meet their families.

A glimpse into a Chinese house dispels many a wrong impression and gives at least one interesting view of the status of women in the good average Chinese home.

In many a Chinese home the daughter-to-be is brought into the home of the man she is to marry when she is very young. She is trained as though she were the daughter of the house, and is as carefully chaperoned by her mother-in-law-to-be as though she were in her own home. Or, as is our custom, the daughtetr-in-law is brought to her new home only when she is a bride. But no matter when the girl comes to the homes in which she is to spend the rest of her life, she adopts toward her mother-in-law the most humble of attitudes, calling herself "your servant," and promising—and giving—the most perfect obedience.

But if there is a grandmother-in-law, the bride makes to her the chief "obedience." Or should there be a great-grandmother-in-law, it is to her—as the "oldest living ancestor"—that the bride pays her reverence. For in the Chinese home the oldest mother is the ruler of the house, and every woman in that home obeys her without delay or thought or question.

The event which makes a Chinese woman secure in the love of her husband and "honorable" in the eyes of the other women of her family, is becoming the mother of a man child. It lifts her high in the social scale of the family—far above the childless woman or even the mother of a girl—and thereafter she is herself an ancestor, which means everything in that land of ancestor worship.

Songs of Frank L. Stanton

What We're Wantin' to Be

We're tollable well, but we're wantin' to be
More than that's meanin' to you an' to me!
We're wantin' to be where this life's ever sunny,
Where the hives of the world are jes' drippin' with honey!
Oh, we're tollable well, but we'd like for to see
More than that's meanin' to you an' to me!

We're tollable well, but we want to be better—
The old world to roll where the sunlight'll let her!
Where a glimpse of the sweet, promised land we may win—
So close to high heaven we'll want to hop in!
Oh, we're tollable well—but we're wantin' to see
All the glory that's comin' to you an' to me!

TRUST.

Lord, we don't go on together
Allus growlin' at the weather;
Know, since weather's up to You,
Storm or sunshine, it'll do!

City on Geraldine's Shoulder

Listen, World

I'm sitting in the middle of the mosquito brush as I write this. Pals, with nothin' to neighbor with but two buzzards, a coyote, about 79,841 ground squirrels and 100 miles of sunshine. So if my thoughts are a bit too rangy, for civilized laugh society, just blame it on the scenery. Blame it on the scenery and on the bandit who's hiding somewhere out here in the loneliness of it all. Yes—a bandit. A real, live bandit. That is, he's still alive as far as I know but the chances are strong that he won't be alive long, for they're hunting him with bloodhounds and posses and sawed off shotguns. He robbed the mails, and they finally landed him in the pen after he's made a dozen escapes. Whereupon he broke loose again—an' now he's off and away. There's hardly a ghost of a chance that he can escape—and he knew it as he broke. But they say he laughed as he ran—that he'd boasted that he'd rather die an exciting death than live safe and snug, in prison or out.

One shouldn't sentimentalize over bandits and when you're walking the city streets surrounded by expensive stores and expensive people and nice, fat limousines, bandits do seem most reprehensible. But somehow, when you're sitting out alone in the wilderness with the coyotes and vultures and other hunted and hunting things—when you're smelling the glory of fresh air and thrilling to the joyful dangers of the trail, bandits seem more comprehensible. It's almost as if the free sunshine shriveled up a lot of society's values. Stealing's wrong—there's no mistake about that. But bravery and daring and a contempt for the skimping of life are beautiful whenever you find them. Out here it almost seems a finer thing to laugh at fat limousines than to ride in them. Almost a finer thing to spurn life for the sake of adventure than to conserve it at the cost of adventure. If the hill wolves bother with such foolishness, it must seem strange to them that we prefer our steam heated cells to a million miles of danger and joy. What a brave Game we might make of Life if we could laugh at death and have a large contempt for mere possessions.

Dear Jerry:

I would like your advice. I am a married woman and a mother. I have a little girl, which I do really love.

My husband is very good to me, but Jerry, it seems I cannot get along with him.

Every time he comes home I always have something to quarrel over. He is always very happy and loves the baby. But Jerry, there is a funny feeling within me. He says he can see I don't care any more. But still I know I couldn't be without him. I feel awful bad about it, because it makes him worry. Please advise me what to do.

FRIEND MAUD.

Gracious, girl, that's SOME proposition to solve! You may have a dozen things ailing you, measles coming on, or an ulcerated tooth or any old thing. But I have a hunch that the main thing is THE FOUR-WALL GROUCH. That's a trouble that sometimes afflicts the best of wives, although I'll acknowledge it isn't as common now as it was. They stick so close on the job that they grow stale—love particularly.

Love needs fresh air and sunshine and brisk breezes just as well as anything else. You can't make it beautiful by cooping it up and meditating on it all day. It will simply reflect your cooped-up, stagnant viewpoint. The best of husbands will appear irritating if you never see any other landscape. Broaden your interests a bit—and I'll wager you won't have as many scraps to pick.

She Shunned Men

Once upon a time a maiden lady of some threescore years informed us that "very early in life she had made up her mind not to marry because of the disagreeable features of the marriage relation." And she then proceeded to state her mind concerning certain modern freedoms indulged in by the young of the species.

That letter didn't sound good to Jerry—not a bit of it. But somehow she thought that if sixty years of living a mistake hadn't taught her any sense, a few words from Jerry couldn't mend matters. So I printed the letter anr let it pass.

Comes now our good pal, "T. T.," to put Jerry right and say some of the things Jerry also thought. Thanks, pal—your analysis is GREAT—and that's my "reason why."

View of Things

Dear OUR Geraldine:

I have been promising myself that I would not write this letter, "ab-so-tively." Said I to myself, "I am no better qualified to say what's what—and isn't—than any other of Jerry's half million readers." "But," myself argued back, "you'll bust if you don't."

I sat through the smudge of the cigarette fracas, which to a noncombatter would seem to be a matter of the employment of personal common (home-grown) sense. The uses and abuses of short skirts, rouge, kalsomine and other decorative effects rampsed and raged without my aid. "What shall we do with our girls?" provoked not a word from me, though I could have written a book about it.

And I will remark, in passing, that the girls—God bless 'em—will see to that. They are no worse than our grandmothers, only more frank. The relative value of politeness on a state issue interested me not at all. I "spoke my piece" to "Expectant Mother's" appeal—the heart which would not be touched by it must be of reinforced concrete.

I have really been very much interested in the discussion, "Shall married women work outside their homes?" At present it looks to me like a draw. I hoped that one side or the other would definitely win, for their problem is my problem. I can earn $5 per hour at very exacting work which I did; but the old-fashioned notion of the sacredness of the office of High Chief Dishwasher, still persists with me, though otherwise I am a modern, progressive woman.

I "listened in" when "Kate, the Bum," had her say. I smiled over the fuss and feathers stirred up by the L. Y. L. A.—and wondered why so much valuable space and print paper was wasted on him. Because you all know, if you stop to think, that he is not a menace, only a mistake. And if we try to convert all the small mistakes we see running around loose, what will become of the great issues?

Now to the Point

But the thing that got me, that seated me, pen in hand, after two weeks of internal seething, was the fact that NOT ONE OF YOU offered a comment on the letter written by the woman who stated that "very early in life" she had made up her mind not to marry because of the disagreeable features of the marriage relations!

Even Geraldine—and I wanted to slap her—though very gently, for I love Geraldine—fell down on that job. Heaven, folks, what kind of a mind did that innocent young thing have "very early in life" to have come to such a decision? A mind, I judge, concerned with tatting—and tattling; with scandals—and scandals (scandals somehow, seem to go with that brand of innocence).

The real harm of that prudent virgin's communication, though, is this: There are always those like "Sheltered Girl" who might be influenced, whose lives might be sent awry by just such vicious reasoning. For it IS vicious. "He who saveth his life shall lose it." If we sidestep life, what do we gain of life? Are we better than the Great Plan?

I hate you, pals. I would rather be "Kate, the Bum," who under the hammering blows of life, has developed a vein of pure gold than this woman, afraid of life. I would rather have passed through the agonies of the unwed "Expectant Mother" if the victory of understanding crowns her agony than to be this—this TURNIP whose bloodless heart repudiates wifehood and motherhood.

T. C.

Another Mother

Here's the REAL kind of a mother: Dear Jerry:

Ever since I read the letter from a Prospective Mother I've sworn I would write to you. I love the girl and how I condemn her mother. Then when Kate Jensen spoke I swore I would write and thank her through you, then this Mrs. McRoberts wrote her views and I was too mad to trust a letter, and now this evening all those blessed people are sticking up for Kate and the mother, so I must love them, too.

I agree with Kate Jensen that nine times out of ten if the neighbors would not hang over the fences and some of the so-called reformers were put under bonds to keep the peace, there would be a chance for the girl who unthinkingly took a misstep, but thanks to them they generally manage to see that she makes another.

I wonder if Mrs. McRoberts has a son or a daughter and if she has I hope they are grown to such an extent that misfortune will not overtake them.

I have three daughters and one son and if they ever make a mistake I hope they will be man and women enough to come out of it with as pure and clean a soul as a Prospective Mother and Kate Jensen. I wonder if Kate is really a Barbary Coast bum? Somehow I believe it takes nerve to face some things and get by with it.

Good night, Jerry, dear. You are my kind.

FROM A MOTHER.

FANSY—I think it's his business to come to you for an explanation—if he wants one, but if you will be happier and life will smile again at you, ask him to listen to your "story." It is hard for me to recommend the books you want through these columns. Ask any librarian for the subjects you want discussed and she will be glad to refer you to some book.

Witches' Pirates' Story Den

A BRAVE GIRL.
JEAN LOUISE HUSTED.
1145 Wellington Ave., Oakland.
Aged 10.

Louise awoke with a start. She rubbed her eyes and looked about. What a change had come over the room. The beautiful draperies were torn and not hanging from their places. The chairs were turned over. The drawers of the bureau were open and half the things lay on the floor. A thought flashed through her mind. Her two little gold rings, were they gone? Yes, they were gone.

She got out of bed and went into her mother's and father's room. They were gone! The room was all turned upside down like her own room.

She, but a girl of ten years, kept back a flood of tears that seemed trying to come. She dressed and went downstairs. She went into the servants' chambers. They had all gone.

All of a sudden she jumped, hearing two raps at the door. She waited for a butler to open the door. Suddenly, remembering there was no butler, she timidly went to the door. She opened it. There stood two policemen. They searched the house, came back and told Louise they would take her to her uncle's.

They took Louise to her Uncle Brown's, one of the richest millionaires of that city. Louise went to bed that night feeling very sad. She had told her uncle all about the house.

The next day three letters came for Uncle Brown. The third had jerky handwriting. He opened it and read: "Mr. and Mrs. Clark are in my hands ('Bloody Pete's'). Place $10,000 under the old rock by the mill. This must be done in one month." Mr. Brown kept his seat, too busy in thought to do anything else.

One week passed and another, but yet he had not put the money there. Uncle Brown was waiting for an answer from the detectives.

Three weeks had passed since Louise's mother and father had been gone. Louise was going on a walk today. She took a little lunch and started. At last she came to some woods a mile or so from the house. After she had gone a little way in she ate her lunch. She walked on now and then stopped to pick some blackberries that grew by the way. It was growing dark very fast, but she did not notice it. At last Louise noticed it. She knew it was too far to go home. She looked about for shelter. She looked through the dusk as far as she could see a cave a little ways from where she stood. She went over, entered the cave and laid down and soon drifted off into dreamland.

The next morning Louise awoke very early and started to look about the cave. Louise looked about for quite a while. As she looked she saw a little button in the wall. She pressed it and there in front of her was a little room and in the room was her mother and father! Louise rushed to them. A sudden thought of happiness flashed through her. She looked back where the door was. It was closed and her mother and father were locked in once more. Mr. Clark said: "Let's give one more look for a button or door to escape." They looked and looked but nothing could be found. Mrs. Clark stepped in a corner. Her foot hit something. A door opened. It was the same door Louise had come in. They all stepped out by turns. They got out of the cave safely and started on the road. As they went down the road they heard a gallop of horse's feet in the distance; they hid behind a big bush. They got hidden just in time, for five of Bloody Pete's men rode by. They did not see Mr. and Mrs. Clark and Louise. They are safe once more.

As they near their uncle's house he rushed out and says: "Louise, I just sent detectives after you, and now you come back bringing your mother and father!" Then the story is told. How happy everybody is.

The next day the detectives come back from their search. They got Bloody Pete's men after a hard battle with them.

Old Oakland and Oakland's Oldest Bank

Fourteenth and San Pablo in 1867

THE business district of Oakland in 1867 had reached no higher on Broadway than Twelfth Street, and the first Oakland City Directory, published in 1869, lists the following branches of business:

2 auctioneers, 80 liquor saloons, 6 billiard saloons, 3 breweries, 6 cigar stores, 10 bakeries, 2 bath houses, 15 groceries, 1 laundry, 3 clothing stores, miscellaneous collection of various other stores, 9 real estate agents —and one bank

The directory comments on this institution, as follows:

OAKLAND BANK OF SAVINGS—This is the first regular bank ever established in Oakland. Its certificate of incorporation was executed August 13, 1867, and signed by A. C. Henry, Ed. M. Hall, Samuel Merritt, P. S. Wilcox, W. W. Crane Jr., Joseph Becht.

The capital stock of the bank is $150,000, divided into fifteen hundred shares of $100 each.

The population of Oakland in the Federal Census of 1870—three years after The Oakland Bank of Savings was established—was 11,104. It is, therefore, safe to assume that in 1867 it was not over 9000. It is now over 216,000, or 24 times as large as in 1867.

The deposits in the bank at the end of the first year's business amounted to $65,656, and this year they are over $43,000,000, or 655 times as large as in 1867.

These figures indicate an increase in the banking habits of the people, as, when Oakland had one bank only, the deposits represented $7.29 per capita, while in 1921, with many other banks flourishing, the deposits in The Oakland Bank of Savings—Alameda County's Oldest and Largest Bank—represent practically $200 per capita of the population of the city.

Uncle Sam's O.K. VENTURA MOTOR OIL

HERE'S what the U. S. Geological Survey says about the quality of California Paraffin-Base Oil:

"Although the productive area in this new field (Ventura County) will not likely be very large, the high quality Paraffin-Base Oil obtained makes this field a valuable addition to the California Resources."

The field referred to is the one that produces the crude oil from which the Ventura Refining Company manufactures "Ventura" Paraffin-Base Motor Oil.

Because Paraffin-Base Motor Oil first came from the East, many motorists have fallen into the habit of asking for "Eastern" instead of "Paraffin-Base" Oil.

Since many "Eastern" oils are not Paraffin Base, it's safer for you to ask for "Paraffin Base" rather than "Eastern" — or better still, to ask for "Ventura" Motor Oil, which is pure Paraffin-Base Oil, guaranteed by a reputable Company.

—it's "there" for wear.

Mrs. Rose M. Brown Gained 20 Pounds In Four Weeks Time

Declares It's Simply Astonishing to See the Wonderful Benefits She Has Derived From Tanlac—Says Terrible Headaches Have Disappeared.

"It sounds unreasonable, but I have actually gained 20 pounds in less than a month's time by taking Tanlac, and the wonderful benefit I have derived from the use of this medicine is simply astonishing," said Mrs Rose M. Brown, 111 Third Street, Manchester, N. H.

"Why, I am so happy to be relieved of my trouble I can really never praise this medicine enough Up to the time I began taking Tanlac, I suffered for something over two years with a very bad form of stomach trouble.

"My appetite was so poor I could scarcely eat a thing. My stomach would be so badly bloated with gas sometimes I was almost afraid to go to bed for fear I would actually smother. I felt tired and worn out most of the time and became terribly discouraged over my condition I often had such violent headaches I was unable to be out of bed for two or three days at a stretch

"Four bottles of Tanlac completely restored my health and anyone can see at a glance the wonderful change that has taken place in my condition I have a splendid appetite now and the stomach trouble has entirely disappeared I can eat just anything I want without ever feeling a sign of indigestion The best of all, I am never bothered any more with headaches and this was the greatest relief of all. I want to tell everybody what this medicine has done for me"

Are You Dull, Achy— "All Out of Sorts?"

DON'T let that dull, constant backache discourage you. Worry will only make it worse. The sensible plan is to find the cause and correct it. That nagging backache may be a friend after all. It may be Nature's way of warning you that all is not right with your kidneys.

When the kidneys fall behind, the blood becomes overloaded with uric acid and other poisons. You suffer daily backache, morning lameness, sharp, cutting pains, and a tired, weak, all-worn-out feeling. You feel nervous and depressed, your head aches; you are dizzy and annoyed by bladder irregularities.

You should be thankful for these early warnings. If heeded they may spare you some serious kidney sickness.

You want to be well, and the best way to get well is to give the weakened kidneys the help they need Just take things easier for awhile, get plenty of fresh air, rest and sleep, avoid worry, and help the weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

These Oakland people speak:

MRS. J. L. ROGERS, 814 Thirty-third avenue, says:

"My kidneys began to give me a lot of trouble. My back was lame and weak so I could hardly bend over to wash or lift anything heavy Any heavy housework would exhaust me and I would get so faint and dizzy I hardly knew what to do. I was feeling languid and depressed, when a friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills I tried them and after using two boxes all symptoms of this trouble left me"

M. McDONALD, shoemaker, 2057 Eighty-fifth avenue, says:

"I gladly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills and know they are just as represented My kidneys were out of fix and I had severe backaches I was lame and stiff, especially mornings My work was a strain on my kidneys and it was often hard for me to straighten up. My kidneys didn't act right, so I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They benefited me in every way, strengthening my back and kidneys."

FARMERS' PLAN ON LEGISLATIVE CONTROL URGED

Rural Districts Back Initiative To Give Certain Counties One Senator.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 15.—The "Farmers' Reapportionment Plan," which would give one senator to each county of 10,000 inhabitants, is whipped into shape today for presentation as an initiative measure in the 1922 election. It is a compromise of the Van Bernard proposal for a senator to the county regardless of population and one by Assemblyman Guy Windrem.

Representatives of the United Chambers of Commerce of the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys, in a meeting here, have agreed to support the proposal, which will also be given the backing of the Fourteen Counties Association, of which Bernard is the head. Another conference will be held within a short time and representatives from all parts of the state will be invited. The new proposal will figure in the coming special election of the legislature, when reapportionment is to be the question up for settlement.

COMMITTEE CHOSEN.

The following committee was named to arrange the date of the Fresno conference and to send out the invitations.

Assemblyman Guy E. Windrem of Madera, chairman; H. E. Patterson, secretary of the Fresno county Chamber of Commerce, and George T. McCabe, secretary of the Stanislaus board of trade.

The proposed amendment adopted at today's conference was a compromise for one offered by Assemblyman Van Bernard of Butte City, Glenn county, designed to give each county in the state a senator. The compromise amendment adopted was offered by Assemblyman Windrem.

WOULD CONTROL SENATE.

Under the proposed amendment the assembly would consist of eighty members who would be apportioned throughout the state strictly on a basis of population as is now the case. But the senate virtually would be placed in control of the rural districts by alloting one senator to each county and limiting representation to not less than 10,000 population.

Windrem declared this scheme would necessitate forty-five senators instead of forty now provided by the constitution, and the 10,000 population requirement, he figured, would cause a grouping of some of the smaller counties as follows:

Del Norte and Siskiyou; Modoc and Lassen; Trinity and Shasta; Plumas, Sierra and Nevada; Lake and Napa; Colusa and Yolo; El Dorado and Amador; Calaveras, Alpine and Tuolumne; Monterey and San Benito; Mono, Inyo and Mariposa.

Persecutions in Persia Are Told By Missionary

Dr. Ellis Says Armenians and Nestorians Look To America For Aid.

It is to America that the persecuted Armenians and Nestorians in Persia turn for aid, because they are convinced that the assistance this nation is giving the oppressed peoples of Europe is based on altruistic motives and not from any hope of increased power or gain.

This is the opinion held by Dr. W. P. Ellis, member of the Presbyterian Missionary board, who for five years was stationed in Persia at a time when the Christian Armenians and Nestorians were being unceasingly harried and persecuted by the Turks and Kurds.

TELLS OF TERRORS.

In an address yesterday before the Optimists' club at their weekly luncheon in the Hotel Oakland, Dr. Ellis told a graphic story of what he had witnessed while in Persia, and more particularly while he and his family and more than thirty other Americans lived in a compound in Tabriz at a time when Christian refugees by the thousands were flooding into the city for protection.

The cruelties, hardships and terrors that beset the Christians in Persia have not been mitigated, according to Dr. Ellis, as most of the victims have not been able to return to their villages or homes, and the only nation now in a position to aid them in their fight for life from starvation and disease is this country.

ONSLAUGHT BY TURKS.

Dr. Ellis told of an early onslaught by the Turks against a community of Christians near the border of Persia and Uruima, when it appeared as if all the Christians weer to be killed. A missionary worker, also a member of the medical profession, set out from Tabriz to induce the invaders to permit the belagured Christians to depart in safety and go to Tabriz. Under a law prevailing at that time Christians were able to find sanctuary in yards or compounds like consular offices or missions under foreign supervision

The Turks' commanders finally consented to the plan because two of them had been saved from death by the doctor while suffering from serious illnesses, and the American medico was permitted to lead his small caravan of Christians safely into the missionary compound at Tabriz.

BAR TO RESIST READMISSION OF FORMER MEMBER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—The San Francisco Bar association is said to have taken steps to have a grand jury investigation in the case of George D. Collins, disbarred attorney, who yesterday filed before the state supreme court an application for reinstatement as a practicing attorney. The investigation asked for by the bar association is said to be based on a charge of practicing without a license.

A few years ago Collins figured as central figure in a sensational bigamy suit, following which he was disbarred. Collins in his application asked for reinstatement on the ground that his disbarment was illegal, having taken place while he was in San Quentin thus giving him no opportunity to be heard.

Interests Back Mexican Treaty, Lamont Shows

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 15.—An intimation that the interests represented solidly support the state department in Washington in its demand for the signing of a treaty of amity and commerce by Mexico prior to the United States according recognition to Mexico, was contained in an address made by Thomas W. Lamont at luncheon at the American Chamber of Commerce here.

"Our American business men in Mexico," said Lamont, "must not attempt to exploit Mexico. They must have scrupulous regard for private and for public rights. They must know at all times just where they stand.

"Whatever form of expression the Mexican government takes to manifest its national attitude towards Americans (as indicated in President Obregon's public utterances) is not a matter of so much importance to American business men, always provided that its declarations are of a character absolutely clear and explicit and capable of only one interpretation by honorable men.

TO DISSIPATE CLOUDS.

"If such should prove to be the case, then indeed the clouds, which I already can see breaking away on both sides, will be completely dissipated."

Lamont prefaced his remarks with a reference to business conditions in the United States, saying:

"In a business way the United States has seen the worst of its troubles. I do not say we are all over them yet, but we have been through the depths of the Valley of Despond and are now beginning to creep up the slope again. Our crops are good; the steel business, always an important index to the general trade, is picking up, and railroad earnings are improving.

"You are already aware of the views of American business men as to Mexico; first they earnestly desire to see relations between the two countries close and friendly. They believe the only way to establish them permanently upon such a basis is to have such a clear understanding of each other's viewpoint that no question can arise between us that will not yield to a ready settlement."

Lamont declared that the informal public declarations of the present government with regard to private and public rights were most satisfactory.

CONFIDENT OF INTENT.

"I am confident," he added, "that their earnest intent is strongly to oppose injustice of any kind, and to accord fully that protection and encouragement so vital to continued and successful business enterprise. And what business men of the United States interested in helping to build up the prosperity of Mexico are anxious to see is widespread and hearty approval by the Mexican people generally of the wise and honorable declaration of the Obregon government that it intends to see to it that just and generous treatment is accorded to every foreign subject doing business in Mexico, whether he be American, British, French or whatever nationality. In the same way, it is natural for us to expect the separate states in the execution of their loyal laws to follow this liberal policy as declared by President Obregon."

TRUTH DECLARED ESSENTIAL IN ADS.

NEW HAVEN Conn. Oct. 15.—"Truth in advertising will make you" declared Richard R. Lee counsel for the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World in an address to the delegates attending the convention of the New England Advertising Clubs who were given a banquet last night by local newspaper publishers.

"Falseness in advertising soon reveals you to the reading and buying public as a liar" said Lee. "Advertising is news commercial news. It shows the public where to buy what to buy and the price to pay. This is news of vital importance to the public.

"A countrywide survey has proved to me that 86 per cent of advertising is trustworthy. All there is to advertising is reader confidence. The day of false advertising must cease or advertising will cease, retailing will cease.

"Truth in advertising is the advertiser's protection and his defense against the false advertiser. Newspapers throughout the country and the federal government stand solidly behind the 'truth in advertising movement.'"

EXPERT PREDICTS HAY BREAKFASTS, SAWDUST 'SINKER'

Stanford Savant Depicts the Time When Science Must Take Nature's Place.

With scientific discoveries startling the world in their variety and scope, it is more than likely that within the next decade a fairly delectable and nutritious breakfast food will be manufactured from a common grade of timothy hay or straw, according to Dr C. L. Alsberg, former chief of the bureau of chemistry and now director of the food research institute at Stanford university. Dr. Alsberg also declared that a doughnut, that restaurant favorite, may be evolved from a common variety of fine sawdust, with such perfection that the difference between flour and sawdust cannot be noticed.

TO MANUFACTURE FOOD.

In a lecture before the Commonwealth club of San Francisco, Dr Alsberg, speaking on "Can Science Keep Pace With Human Needs," predicted the time when nature is stripped bare of all her products and there man is forced to resort to manufacture of nourishing foodstuffs through scientific research

Dr. Alsberg declared that science could keep pace with human needs only if government realizes and makes liberal appropriations for the furthering of research in agriculture and other industries. Synthetic manufacture of food never will be accomplished until it can be nourishing at about half the expense necessitated now in its making.

In making the assertion that "Science Can Keep Pace With Human Needs," Dr. Alsberger said.

"In generations to come not in our age, but still further in the future, the food supply problem will be one of utmost importance in the United States.

LIKE CHINA, JAPAN.

"The time is coming when land will be comparatively scarce and America will revert through dire necessity to the crowded, intensive agriculture of China and Japan—unless through fundamental research the efficiency of the limited farming land is increased

"Products of the land not foodstuffs soon will be eliminated. For instance, products raised for their dye-giving elements will soon not be necessary for human consumption, because synthetic dyestuffs are now made satisfactorily. However, foodstuffs are, after all, only the locked-up energy of the sun."

"Greater food values can be gleaned from the land, not by the increasing of the number of men on that land, as is done in the Orient, but by scientific increasing of the efficiency of the land itself and by making the most of each unit of food value."

VERA CRUZ LIFTS EMBARGO ON OIL

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 15 (By the Associated Press).—Officials of the state of Vera Cruz lifted the embargo placed on the properties of the Aguilar Oil Company last Saturday, following legal proceedings brought by the firm, a British corporation. The embargo was ordered as a security for back taxes totaling 3,000,000 pesos, which it is alleged had not been paid.

Further relief against adverse action by the state authorities of Vera Cruz apparently was obtained by the Aguilar Company yesterday when it secured a reversal by the Supreme Court of a decision by a lower tribunal relative to the validity of certain decrees issued by Vera Cruz officials. Some of these decrees dated as far back as 1912.

The Supreme Court voted 7 to 2 in reversing the finding of the lower court. A prominent oil man declared last evening that "the Supreme Court does not consider that its decision of May, 1917, established either the validity or legality of alleged derogatory decrees against which protest has been made. The court appears to uphold the contract entered into by the Aguilar Company and the state of Vera Cruz in July, 1912."

Five Men Prepare For Novel Cruise

SAN FRANCISCO. The object of the expedition, according to travelers, is partly for pleasure and partly for scientific research.

Those who will sail the craft are Jacob Z. Goldberg, mechanical engineer; Earl Brooks, navigator and professional photographer; Joseph Lescanett, shipwright; Aaron Goldberg, son of the head of the expedition, and Arthur G. Krause, an accountant, who is to be historian of the expedition.

OAKLAND MAN IS MADE MISSIONARY SAILS FOR ORIENT

Recently ordained and commissioned by the Synodical Conference of the Lutheran church as a missionary to China, Rev. Henry W. Theiss, son of Professor and Mrs. J. G. Theiss of Oakland, left today for the Orient accompanied by his bride of a month.

Rev. Theiss is an Oakland lad and received his grammar-school education at Zion Lutheran school, of which his father is principal. He completed his high-school course at California Concordia College, the local Lutheran preparatory school. Subsequently Rev. Theiss studied at Concordia Seminary, Milwaukee, and completed his theological training at Concordia Lutheran Seminary in St. Louis, from which institution he graduated with high honors and was one of ten men selected for foreign service.

Three other Lutheran missionaires and their wives, all of whom are accompanying Rev. Theiss to China, arrived in Oakland Wednesday. They are: Rev. Arno Scholz of Tonowanda, N. Y., Rev. Max Zschiregner, Wellesville, N. Y., and Rev. Herman Klein of Pueblo, Colorado.

CHILDREN'S CHOIR FEATURE.

A children's choir of twenty-five voices will be a feature of the morning service at Fruitvale M. E. church tomorrow. Rev. Harry Pressdee, the pastor, preaches at both services. In the morning at 11 o'clock his theme will be "The Divine Antagonism," and in the evening at 7:30 "The Human Antagonism" will form his theme.

REV. HENRY W. THEISS, who has been commissioned missionary to China by the Lutheran church.

CHURCH OUTLINES WINTER PROGRAM

The Church of the United Brethren in Christ is working under a full schedule, with the slogan of "evangelism" in every department of church activities. The climax will be special evangelistic meetings. The morning prayers will be held from 9 a. m. to 9:45. The Sunday-school will open at 9:45 a. m., in charge of the officers recently elected, with an efficient corps of teachers in all departments. Special days and surprise programs will be some of the new features of the fall and winter months.

The pastor, Rev. Milton C. Lutz, will speak at 11 a. m. tomorrow on the subject "Knighted to God." This is "Citizenship Day," also the centenary of the birth of George Williams, the founder of the Y. M. C. A. The pastor will deal with some of the qualities that constitute good citizenship, pointing out the dominating feature of the citizenship of George Williams to his country, and the value of his work to the world.

The Endeavor Societies will meet at 6:45; evening worship and sermon at 7:30, subject, "The Living Temple of God." The address will deal in part with some logical questions on spiritual healing, and the baptism of the Holy Spirit.

The mid-week praise and testimony meeting, with prayers for the sick are held Wednesday evenings at 7:30. Community prayer services are held at 2929 Myrtle street on Friday evening.

The church is conducting a campaign of relief for the drought-stricken people of Montana. Cash contributions may be given to the church treasurer, and clothing may be left at the church, 1132 Thirty-fourth street.

First of Series of Socials To Be Held

The first of a series of Friday evening socials was held last night at the First Christian Church of Alameda. D. Lloyd Morgan of Vallejo, impersonator and reader, furnished the evening's entertainment, appearing in several different characters, notably "Zeke," "The Deacon" and "Esau Buck."

Rev. C. D. Wells, pastor of the church, will preach tomorrow morning on "The Trinity." In the evening his subject will be "Hoboes."

A "marked down" social is being arranged for next Friday evening. The public is invited to attend any of the social gatherings of the church.

EARLY EPISCOPAL HISTORY CLOSELY PARALLELS U. S.

Historians delving into the records of the Missionary Society of the Episcopal church in the United States, whose centennial will be celebrated this year, have come across interesting facts in connection with the Revolutionary period of the nation's history. The constitution of the church, it is pointed out, parallels in practically every detail the Constitution of the United States, and in large measure the same men who framed the one drafted the other. Long before either constitution took form Bishop William White of Pennsylvania was chaplain of the Continental Congress.

"You are offering your neck to the rope," the bishop was warned when he accepted the post.

WASHINGTON ON ROLL.

George Washington worshipped in Christ church, Philadelphia, of which White was the rector, as did also Adams, Hamilton, Dickinson, Madison, Monroe, Jay and Morris, who was a brother-in-law of the bishop. Ben Franklin was one of the vestrymen of the church. Betsy Ross, who made the first Stars and Stripes, also worshipped under White in old Christ church.

Coming down to 1821, the year that the missionary society was organized, Bishop White was one of the founders of that organization, and Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner" and a member of the Maryland communion of the church, assisted in framing the constitution of the society. So, too, Joseph Hopkinson, author of "Hail, Columbia," was a communicant of Christ church.

FAMOUS OLD POEM.

Millions of children all over the land have been thrilled by the recital of the Yuletide classic, "'Twas the Night Before Christmas." How many know who wrote it or where it was written? Its author was Dr. Clement C. Moore, son of Rt. Rev. Benjamin Moore, D. D., second Episcopal bishop of New York. It was written in Old Chelsea House, home of the bishop, which stood on a hill near what is now Twenty-third street and Ninth avenue, New York City. Dr. Moore donated to the church the land on which the General Theological Seminary now stands in New York. In the refectory of the seminary his portrait hangs, and on "the night before Christmas" of each succeeding year the students at the seminary twine evergreens around it in memory of this churchman who has carried happiness into the hearts of countless generations of little ones.

Science Applied To Religion to Be Pastor's Topic

Science applied to religion will achieve a higher social order, develop a nobler type of manhood and express a religion that will be greater than any religions of the past, according to Rev. Clarence Reed, pastor of the First Unitarian church. He will give his views on this subject in a sermon on "The Remaking of Human Nature" tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

The first of a series of illustrated lectures on the art of modern masters will be given by Dr. Reed in the parlors of the church on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, under the auspices of the Women's Alliance. The subject of the lecture will be "The Art of Auguste Rodin." Dr. Reed has found many persons are especially interested in the sculptures of Rodin on account of a number of them having been exhibited at the Exposition in 1915. He will compare the work of Rodin with the sculptures of the Greek masters and Michael Angelo by means of stereopticon slides. The admission is free, and all persons interested in the study of modern art are invited to attend.

J. H. M'LAFFERTY WILL SPEAK FOR ABSENT PASTOR

J. H. McLafferty will speak in the First Universalist church tomorrow morning in the absence of Rev. Bernard C. Ruggles, pastor of the church, who is attending the national convention of the Universalists in Detroit. Rev. Ida B. Ellicott of the First Church of Divine Science will conduct the devotional services. A week from tomorrow E. B. Randall, San Francisco businessman and New Thought speaker, will occupy the pulpit.

Rev. Ruggles, with Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Van Tassell, left last night for Detroit. The convention will be in session October 18 to 23. Rev. Ruggles will address the convention next Thursday evening, and Van Tassell will speak before several of its business sessions relative to the appropriation from the general body for the new church in Oakland.

Mrs. Van Tassell will represent the California women's societies of the various churches and will speak before the National Association of Universalist Women.

The chief concern of the convention will be the Murray Crusade, a movement for the founder of the church in America, John Murray, which represents the results of two years in the intensifying of the spiritual life of the church, the increase of church membership and the extension of the field work of the denomination in all parts of the country.

Rev. Ruggles will return and occupy his pulpit on October 30.

"Are You Well Bred?" Article To Be Topic

The first of a series of open forum discussions on Dr. Frank Crane's article "Are You Well Bred?" which took place at the University Christian church last Sunday night, was successful in that it drew a large crowd and assured the success of the series, according to Rev. C. G. Pride, the pastor. More than 100 members of the Christian Endeavor were present. Mrs. W. F. Meyers led the discussion.

Frank Dunnington will have charge of the devotionals tomorrow night, and M. F. Branch will lead the open forum. "Bravery, tactfulness, good taste, cleanliness and supercilliousness," points emphasized in the article, will be introduced and discussed tomorrow night.

Tomorrow afternoon the members of the C. E. will make their monthly visit of cheer to the county hospital. Charles Suggett, social service chairman, has planned a fruit and flower shower for the inmates.

San Jose Pastor Will Occupy Pulpit

Rev. Howard McConnell, pastor of the First Christian Church of San Jose, will occupy the pulpit of the First Christian Church of Oakland tomorrow morning and evening. Rev. H. A. Van Winkle will go to San Jose to preach.

Members of the Christian Endeavor Society will visit the County Hospital at San Leandro tomorrow, leaving the church at 2 o'clock. The C. E. topic for tomorrow night will be "Lessons From Patriots of the Past and Present."

Anniversary of Church Society Is Celebrated

The anniversary of the founding of the Red Dragon society at the Welsh Presbyterian church was celebrated Tuesday night with a dinner and social evening. New officers for the coming year were installed, as follows: W. J. Parry, president; Dan Williams, vice-president; E. W. Hughes, secretary, and Miss Margaret Williams, treasurer. Mrs. E. W. Hughes prepared a huge birthday cake in honor of the anniversary.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Gainey Jones during the week. The affair was arranged in preparation for the annual bazaar and dinner, which is to take place in September.

R. D. Parry has been chosen to train and direct the mixed choir for forty-five voices which is to compete in the Eisteddfod on January 2.

Services in the church will be as follows tomorrow: Sunday school at 10 o'clock; devotions, featured by infant baptism, at 11 o'clock; rehearsal of music in preparation for the coming Eisteddfod at 7:30. Rev. O. R. Williams, the pastor, will conduct the morning services in English.

'INNER CIRCLE' WILL BE SUBJECT

"Renewed Strength" is to be the theme of Rev. Harold Govette's sermon in Olivet Congregational church tomorrow.

Rev. Govette proposes to show that it is God's will that all of his followers should be robust in Christian health; that the church of today is overburdened with weak and sickly members and it needs to renew its strength by waiting upon the Lord.

At the evening service at 7:30 o'clock the pastor will preach on the "Inner Circle." In this sermon he says he will show that the power for Christian service is engendered in the inner circle, which is composed of the truest and most loyal Christians, who keep in constant touch with God. He will speak of what is necessary to be done in order to find admittance to the inner circle.

On Thursday the Ladies' Guild is to meet in all-day session. Luncheon will be served at noon. Mrs. W. A. Bressler is to have charge of the meeting.

On Tuesday the women of the Philathea class are to hold an important meeting. They will be entertained by Mrs. A. N. Rowe in her home at 5109 Manila avenue.

ST. ANDREW'S M. E.

Kenneth Williams will conduct the devotional services at St. Andrew's M. E. church tomorrow morning and in the evening Rev. T. A. Story, the pastor, will speak. Sunday school services will be held at 9:45.

DR. VAN HORN TO TALK ON MODERN WOOING, MARRIAGE

Should mothers-in-law be chloroformed? Are they chiefly responsible for the failure of so many marriages? How can young people get wholesome opportunities for courtship under modern city conditions? These questions, propounded last Sunday night by Rev. Francis J. Van Horn, pastor of the First Congregational church, will be answered in the sermon tomorrow night. Last Sunday evening Dr. Van Horn performed his thousandth marriage ceremony, and immediately thereafter began a series of sermons on marriage and divorce.

In conjunction with the evening sermon there will be a program of music by the Western male quartet, a group of colored singers from the south.

At the morning hour Dr. Van Horn will speak on the subject "The King's Business." That business, Dr. Van Horn declares, is the building of the Kingdom of Heaven on earth. He will answer the questions: Is there any progress in this direction? Will the conference on the limitation of armament, soon to be held in Washington, hasten it?

Dr. Van Horn will return to Asilomar, where the annual conference of the Congregational church is going on, Monday in time to speak Monday night on "Mending the Morale of the Ministry."

'The Growing Church' To Be Pastor's Topis

Rev. J. A. Shoptaugh, pastor of Elmhurst Christian church, will speak at both services tomorrow. His morning subject will be "The Growing Church" and in the evening he will answer the question "Can We Believe?" Special music will be given in connection with both services. Plans for the school of missions which is soon to be inaugurated will be announced at the evening service.

Mrs. Shoptaugh's class of girls, "The Loyal Friends," is preparing a cantata to be given in the near future. Thirty girls will take part in the affair.

The Organized Women will meet with Mrs. McBrice, 2021 Eighty-seventh avenue, on Thursday, October 20, at 2 p. m. The class in personal evangelism meets Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Professor Aylesworth's community chorus meets each Monday evening.

Dinner Planned to Launch U. S. Episcopal Drive

ST. PAUL'S Episcopal parish will have a parish dinner on Monday evening, October 17, at 6:30 in the parish house to inaugurate the nation-wide campaign, the annual educational and inspirational program of the Episcopal church. The speakers at the dinner will be Right Reverend Edward Lambe Parsons, bishop coadjutor of the diocese, and Rev. Charles P. Deems, chaplain of the Seamen's Church Institute.

GOLDEN JUBILEE TO BE OBSERVED

The Golden Jubilee of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal church in the United States, will be observed by the women of the Church of the Advent (Episcopal) tomorrow morning. Practically every Episcopal church throughout the United States will observe the fiftieth anniversary with special services, it is stated.

There will be a special celebration of Holy Communion with prayers of thanksgiving for the glorious work accomplished during the past fifty years. It is estimated that $15,000,000 has been raised for missions at home and abroad during that period.

Rev. Isaac Dawson, the rector, will deliver the golden jubilee sermon. The Y. P. F. will meet at 6 o'clock tomorrow night, and the evening service will be held at 7:30.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew will meet on Wednesday night. Captain W. R. Conson will make the address of the evening, speaking on "The Heroic Joshua."

KING'S DAUGHTERS SOCIETIES WILL HOLD CONVENTION

Members of the Kings' Daughters Societies of the Northern California branch are to hold their annual convention in the Twenty-third Avenue Baptist Church, beginning Friday morning, October 21, at 10 o'clock. Twenty senior and junior circles will be represented. Mrs. Andrew M. Aitken, state president, will preside. The morning session will be given over to the reports of the various state officers and from the circles of the organization throughout the district.

Mrs. John B. Buwalda of Berkeley, who has been prominently identified with public welfare work throughout the East, will make the address of the day.

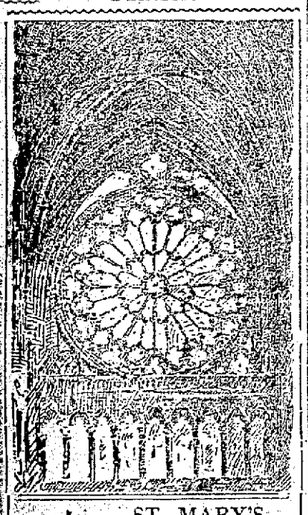

The women of the Twenty-third avenue church will serve luncheon at noon. The three East Oakland circles will be hosts. Every phase of the King's Daughters' work, which includes conducting the home at 3800 Broadway, aiding Near East relief and conducting the Big Sisters' and Travelers' Aid movements, will be discussed.

Mission Services To Close Sunday

The mission exercises which have been conducted for two weeks at St. Francis de Sales Catholic church on Grove and Hobart street will culminate with the evening service at 7:45 tomorrow. The final sermon of the mission will be delivered by one of the Jesuit fathers.

The mission fathers will also deliver the sermons at the regular masses at 6:30, 7:30, 9, 10, 11 and 12:15 o'clock. Immense congregations have gathered to listen to the sermons during the last two weeks and much spiritual interest has been aroused, it is said.

Problems of Church Before Congregational Conference

The sixty-fifth annual meeting of the Northern California Congregational conference held its first session Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with Rev. Harley H. Gill, pastor of the First Congregational church of Stockton, presiding as moderator.

Three sessions each day will be held up to and including Wednesday, October 18.

Rev. Carl S. Patton of Los Angeles made the opening address, speaking on "The Challenge of the Times." Rev. Benjamin Gould preached the conference sermon Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Features of the conference up to this time have been two conferences on religious education, led by Miss Sarah Bundy; conferences on the problems of the city, led by Rev. Harvey V. Miller, and problems of the country, led by Rev. William H. Youngman, and one full evening devoted to parish evangelism, in which discussion was led by Rev. F. L. Fagley, secretary of the National commission on evangelism.

Rev. Francis J. Van Horn, pastor of the First Congregational church of Oakland, is scheduled to speak on "Mending the Morale of the Ministry." Rev. F. M. Morrison, assistant pastor of the First church, is superintending the various sessions of the Bible school. Rev. W. A. Schwimley, assistant moderator and pastor of Calvary Congregational church, Thirty-sixth and Grove streets, will give echoes from the national council on Monday evening.

The playlet "Onesimus," which was successfully presented by members of the Boulevard Players from Boulevard Congregational church last spring, will be presented tonight.

Church Arranges Program

"Evangelize. He who is wise winneth souls." This is the slogan adopted by the Twenty-third Avenue Baptist church at a congregational meeting on Friday evening. Mrs. Grant D. Miller, chairman of the promotion committee, presented the slogan along with the following program which will be carried out during the coming year:

1—Financial: A stewardship league with a membership of seventy-five; New World Movement offerings aggregating $6000 and officers for local expenses totaling 45,250.

2—Educational: The periodicals "Missionary" and "The Baptist" in fifty homes; organization of a teacher training class of twenty-five; Sunday school and Church Vacation school with a membership of 300 each.

3—Spiritual: Prayer life will be quickened; a Personal Workers' league with a membership of twenty-five will be formed; 100 new members will be sought, along with fifty baptisms and restorations.

The annual reports for the year ending October 1 were given by the various churches' officers before the adoption of the new program. The offerings for the year aggregated $11,524. There were more additions during the year than at any time since 1918. Baptisms increase 100 per cent over last year.

One of the features of the meeting was the chicken dinner served by the men of the church. Miss Helen Holmes and Prof. J. F. Jones rendered solos during the evening.

Good Fellowship Day will be observed by the B. Y. P. U. tomorrow with a program under the leadership of Dane Bryan, Margaret Jackson and T. S. Watson.

YOUNG WOMEN TO BE SERMON TEXT OF REV. SILSLEY

What is the theology of the young woman whom we see at dinner parties, or in the schools, streets or public assemblies? Is the modern woman's religion her desire to be a hostess like Mrs. Potter Palmer or to have a career like Geraldine Farrar or Mrs. Asquith? Or does she desire nothing more than to have a good time like "Peggy" Joyce? Does the desire to glorify her Lord ever inspire her to undertake higher things?

These questions will form the major part of Rev. Frank M. Silsley's evening sermon in the First Presbyterian Church tomorrow night, and will be answered as he develops his theme, "The Theology of a Woman of Thirty at a Dinner Party." The sermon is one of a series on "The Theology of the Twentieth Century Man or Woman."

The temple choir of fifty voices will render the anthem "A Song in the Night" at the evening service. The quartet will sing Dudley Buck's "Lead Kindly Light." At the sacred concert Walter B. Kennedy, organist will play "Narcissus," "Capriccio" and "Laudat Dominum."

Dr. Silsley will speak tomorrow morning on the subject, "Peace for the Worried." Announcement is made of the opening of a course of studies in the Roo kof Romans, which will be conducted each Wednesday night in the future.

"Glory of Common Task" To Be Theme

"The Glory of the Common Task," will be the subject of the morning sermon in Centennial Presbyterian church, Twenty-fourth avenue and Foothill Boulevard, tomorrow. Rev. Edward C. Philleo, the pastor, will speak. In the evening he will deal with the subject "What Shall I Do With Jesus?"

General announcements are as follows: Sunday school at 9:45 tomorrow morning; Junior Endeavor at 4 p. m., and Intermediate and Senior Endeavors at 6:30; prayer meeting at 7:45 on Wednesday evening.

Religion in Home Will Be Subject Of Rev. Barrett

Is religion, or rather lack of religion in the home, the missing factor of life today? Did the old morning or evening family gathering in which the head of the house led in prayer fill a place in the life of the individual and in the community which is left vacant at this time? Rev. John Barrett, rector of St. John's Episcopal church believes that religion in the home is necessary, and his sermon on that subject tomorrow will be an exposition of his views.

In the evening he will give another of his sermons on the general theme, "Man as Today." His subject will be "A Man's Friendship." Eyre's "Mass in E Flat" will be sung at the 11 o'clock service, along with Robbins' anthem, "O For a Closer Walk With God." In the evening there will be a soprano solo at the offertory by Mrs. Castle Landsdale.

BISHOP NUELSEN OF SWITZERLAND TO PREACH HERE

Bishop John N. Nuelsen, of Zurich, Switzerland, will preach at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Twenty-fourth and Broadway, at 7:30 tomorrow night. Bishop Nuelsen has represented the Methodist church in Europe for the past ten years, and was there during the war. Probably no man is better acquainted with conditions in the war-swept nations than he, and his story is one of thrilling interest.

In the morning at 11 o'clock Rev. John Stephens, the pastor, will preach on "The Gospel of Certitude." There will be music by the full-vested choir under the direction of Bessie Beatty Roland.

The Men's Club will hold its monthly dinner next Thursday evening. The speaker will be Dr. Frank M. Larkin, editor of the California Christian Advocate, who has just returned from the Methodist Ecumenical Conference in London, and also made a tour of the battlefields of France and Flanders.

Healer To Speak At Two Services

Evangelist A. G. Garr, who is conducting healing and evangelistic services at Aahmes Temple, will preach at the afternoon and evening services tomorrow. The theme which predominates at all of the meetings, according to Rev. Garr, is that healing has not changed since the time of Christ and that it is as possible now as it was then.

I am conducting the services in an orthodox manner," Rev. Garr states, "and there is none of the hysterical emotion that sometimes characterizes meetings of a similar nature."

Special music is rendered in connection with each service. At the present time Rev. Garr contemplates conducting the meetings until November 1, at least.

Unitarian

THE STRONGEST ARGUMENT

against the possibility of realizing universal peace among the nations is that in order to eliminate war human nature will have to be changed. The same argument is used in regard to the enforcement of the law prohibiting the sale of alcoholic liquors. The great problem that we face today is as to whether it is possible to remake human nature.

You are invited to hear Rev. Clarence Reed speak Sunday at 11 A. M. on the subject—

THE JOHN EDWIN ANDREWS EVANGELISTIC AND DIVINE HEALING MEETINGS

At the Big Tabernacle, Beulah Park Camp Meeting Grounds Twenty-third Ave. and Hopkins Street, Oakland (Hopkins Street (G) car line goes by the grounds

Notable healings and miracles are now being wrought through prayer at the camp grounds daily.

Four notable services—Saturday night, 7:30; Sunday all day, 10:30 A. M., 2:30 P. M., 7:30 P. M., and all week.

To catalogue for publication the great number of cures affected at these wonderful meetings is impossible.

MR. HARNOCK—Cancer of stomach. Given up to die. Healed three weeks ago. Comes to tent and gives testimony to healing.

MR. AND MRS. SHELL—Both very sick with complication of diseases. Testify to instantaneous healing.

MRS. WARD—Twenty years a sufferer with sciatic rheumatism and goiter on neck. Delivered from both.

MRS. HUNT—Very weak eyes. Rheumatism. Comes to the tent and testifies to her healing by the evangelist.

A WOMAN—Dislocated vertebrae. Neck all twisted. Couldn't lift her babies in her arms for two and one half years. Now perfectly healed. Holds her babies—lifts them. A miracle indeed.

All kinds of sickness, diseases and afflictions now being cured in these nightly meetings.

One woman, who had not heard a single sound in forty-eight years, now hears Evangelist's voice. SOME ARE BEING HEALED OF SICKNESS BY MERELY SITTING IN THE MEETINGS AND LISTENING TO THE EVANGELIST'S VOICE.

EVANGELIST ANDREWS, who attended the Great Annie Semple McPherson meetings at San Jose, opened up his Eastbay campaign at Alameda, upon the recommendation of Dr. William Keeney Towner, pastor of the First Baptist Church of San Jose, under which auspices the McPherson meetings had been held. Since coming to Beulah Park with his work the meetings have met with marked success along all lines.

But you will have to hurry if you wish to avail yourself of the healing work of the evangelist, as there is no certainty as to how long the Beulah Park effort is to continue.

Evangelistic preaching and healing three times daily. Bring your sick with you.

Evangelistic Meetings

CONDUCTED IN THE

Aahmes Temple—1260 Harrison Street

BY

is attracting considerable attention—especially the Divine Healings—that are being performed from service to service.

Some astonishing cases, such as infantile paralysis—the lady afflicted for thirty-eight years—the limb totally dead—received new life when the Evangelist prayed for her.

Many others who were afflicted with complications, baffling physicians were instantly healed when the Evangelist prayed for them. Instances of healing too numerous to mention here—of the most serious nature—are yielding to the prayers of the Evangelist. Scores and scores are bowing at the altar, invoking the Divine forgiveness of sins, arising, joyfully proclaiming that they are forgiven and saved. Many are seeking in every service to be baptised with the Holy Spirit. EVANGELIST GARR'S style of preaching is simple, yet powerful and deep interest is being manifested in the work being done.

The next regular Divine Healing Service will be MONDAY EVENING.

EVANGELIST GARR is a regular ordained Baptist minister, membership First Baptist Church, San Jose, Cal., and is an expounder of the doctrines of Divine Healing—the baptism of the Holy Spirit and the coming again of the Saviour to this earth.

You will enjoy these meetings. The public is welcome.

OAKLAND'S ADVANTAGES.

Proponents of the new charter scheme have lately been driven to the admission of the certainty of county division if their scheme is persisted in. They have voiced their recognition of the fact that Berkeley and Alameda are overwhelmingly against their ostensible project and that an unfavorable vote in these cities will necessarily result in major county division.

In this extremity they have frankly and openly ventured to defend their plot of county division as being a good thing for Oakland. They assert volubly that Oakland is paying 60 per cent of the taxes of Alameda county, by which they aim to plant in the minds of their hearers the dishonest implication that Oakland is getting all the worst of the bargain in its existing association with the other municipalities and the rural districts. They smug and smirk about the tail wagging the dog in an effort to evade a forthright answer to questions as to the danger of county division which their scheme carries.

During the week Mr. W. E. Gibson, president of the Alameda County Anti-Division League, has given the correct statement of Oakland's fiscal relation to the rest of the county—once in a public discussion with the head of the campaign to put the county division plot over and once in a public discussion with a Berkeley member of the freeholders committee.

The truth of the case is that Oakland pays 57.3 per cent of the county taxes and absorbs an average of 73 of the expenditures. In several departments Oakland gets much more than 60 per cent of the benefits, as at the county hospitals, the home for aged and indigent, and the tuberculosis sanitarium at Arroyo, in both the criminal and civil departments of the county courts.

These are the advantages Oakland enjoys that can be measured in dollars and cents. She derives other advantages of inestimable value because of her association with the communities around her. She is the heart of the Eastbay district, the center of the harbor and of traffic lines; she is the center and headquarters of all county business. All roads in the Eastbay district lead to Oakland.

County division would bring about a mal adjustment. Oakland would lose all these advantages she now holds.

THE PHILIPPINE WARNING.

In issuing a warning against further American investments in the Philippine islands until the political relations between the islands and the United States government are definitely established the American Chamber of Commerce in Manila has probably taken a step that will serve to focus decisive attention on present conditions in the Philippines.

Antagonism to and repression of American enterprise in the Philippines under the administration of Governor-General Francis Burton Harrison reached so harsh a stage that many investors were forced to withdraw from the island field at heavy loss. It should not occasion surprise, therefore, that those Americans still in the islands should warn those at home against the danger.

Although there is substantial ground for the hope that under the administration of General Wood as governor-general and during the next session of Congress a definite and permanent policy will be put into effect, this is not yet done and the conditions which Mr. Harrison left still prevail. It is also hoped that the new policy which the Harding administration will draft will make it possible for American investors to do business in the Philippines free of the governmental harassments that have afflicted their efforts for the last eight years. But the business men now in the islands cannot be sure of this until the new policy has been promulgated and a change in governmental tactics ensues.

It is rather a pathetic stage in the history of the United States in the Philippines when Americans are urged to withdraw present and with hold further investments in the islands that have been under American guardianship for twenty years. The whole miserable story of the Wilson-Harrison regime in the Philippines remains to be written and is a discreditable tale.

CREDIT STRINGENCY PASSING.

One of the most interesting reports which the American Bankers' Association received during its annual convention in Los Angeles last week was that from the economic policy commission, of which Mr. Paul M. Warburg of New York was the chairman. This report voiced the judgment of the commission that the worst of the credit stringency is over and records the fact that the country has borne the period of stress remarkably well. Mr. Warburg's committee went on to say:

"Natural recuperative forces are now making for recovery and there is every reason to believe that when wages have been readjusted and normal balance is re-established between industries and between nations our country will enter upon a new career of prosperity and advancement.

"The commission again points to the dangerous attempts which are made so frequently at present to undertake to cure all existing economic evils by legislative action. The commission feels strongly that most of our troubles will be eradicated more quickly and cured more thoroughly if economic laws are allowed free play."

The warning against too frequent attempts to cure all economic evils by legislation is timely and well conceived. The one effectual agency in carrying the country safely through the period of credit stringency was the Federal Reserve Bank. The one effective power in the government to enforce credit deflation and currency deflation, both necessary to price deflation, by controlling the rates on new credits and curtailing the use of credit and money for speculative purposes, was the Federal Reserve Board.

By its timely and benevolent intervention, the Federal Reserve Board stopped the national frenzy of speculation in the winter of 1919-20 and saved the country from complete disaster. It shortened the period of post-war depression to a few months and laid quickly the foundation for a return to prosperity.

Yet there are pending in Congress several proposals to amend the Federal Reserve Act so that the board will not have the power to interfere with mad speculation again. Such amendments should not be made. The Federal Reserve Board vindicated the soundness of the existing act and there should be no debilitating changes.

As was to be expected as a result of the abdication of government in Kern county by the regularly constituted authorities and the turning over to members of either faction in a labor controversy the business of maintaining order, closing highways and searching travelers, armed conflict has broken out in the Kern oil fields district. The danger that the conflict will spread, with much bloodshed, is imminent. Matters are taking the same course that in West Virginia led to the necessity of federal troops being despatched to maintain order in a morally bankrupted State. In the meantime Governor Stephens has left the State capital and is visiting in Los Angeles.

There are now barely 700,000 people in all Palestine, a population much less than that of Galilee alone in the time of Jesus, says Sir Herbert Samuel, the British High Commissioner for Palestine, in a report recently made public. But migrations to the Holy Land is swelling the population somewhat. During the seven months ended May 31, over 10,000 arrived in Palestine. The question must soon be answered, how large a population will Palestine support under modern conditions of life?

An alarm clock is like a conscience. Treat it with contempt a few times, and after that you won't hear it at all.

PEACE IN THE PACIFIC.

News that Canada and South Africa, as well as Australasia, will have representatives in the British delegation to Washington for limitation of armaments and settlement of Pacific problems is good news indeed. Either Premier Meighen or former Premier Borden is expected to represent Canada and Premier Jan Smuts may represent South Africa. With Minister of Defense Pearce representing Australasia we are assured that the British dominions whose shores are touched by the Pacific, and whose interests in the Pacific settlement are proportionally as great as our own, will have a very positive voice in the decisions of the conference.

Such an arrangement brings to the conference an assurance that the now tentative Anglo-Japanese alliance will not be an alliance in the parley for the advancement of Japanese interests, or of English interests in China, to the detriment of the white races touching upon the Pacific.

In this matter the interests of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and to some extent the Union of South Africa, are identical with our own. In the present state of international affairs, when the United States is none too popular with any foreign government, it is well for us to have friends in the conference, even though they be friends for the sake of expediency.

The dominions should have little trouble in convincing Japan that they have no imperialistic designs upon China, or upon any Japanese territory or potential resources. What they want is safety and freedom to trade. That is what the United States wants. With such community of interests the dominions should be able to convince their central government in England that it will profit more extensively by supporting their reasonable desires than by aligning itself in any way with the imperialistic aims of Japan. With this accomplished the rest should be easy.

We can readily recognize Japan's right of access to such sources of raw material as the coal and iron of China or the agricultural production of Siberia without recognizing its right to occupy and govern the territory involved. If that is done, and Japan is thereby made industrially self-supporting, as England is now industrially self-supporting, the chief cause of friction—Japanese penetration of other countries—will be eliminated.

Thus peace, with a limitation of armaments, can be assured. The path to that happy condition is much improved by promise of the full participation of the British dominions in the conference.—Chicago Tribune.

NOTES and COMMENT

Householders are again mystified by the sudden antics of potatoes. They find that they have to pay "$3 00 up" for good stock, when they were buying a few weeks ago for a third of that price, or less. A scarcity is urged by those who sell, but a corner is the more reasonable explanation of those who buy. Spud corners would not seem to be easy of achieving—the potato is a readily grown vegetable—but the way in which corners occur argues that they are.

Despatches from the corn belt foreshadow that farmers in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota are debating the question whether they shall consume their corn as fuel. It is worth only twenty cents a bushel, which is away below normal, while coal is considerably above normal on account of miners' strikes, and everything. If corn is used as fuel it will be a recurrence of the experiences of fifty years ago, and an economic puzzle, considering that there are so many peoples in different parts of the world reported to be starving.

The Hanford Sentinel reports it in this way. "The University of California shut down on the production of a play entitled 'The Queen of Sheba' because it required too many legs to support the queen. Some students seem to think that so-called classic dancing is a good excuse to hop around on a lawn sans dress, and take an occasional kick at a tin pan."

"Hoyt cries after game." Some who read this may be unimpressed at the idea of a big, strong athlete shedding tears over losing a game of ball, but others will sense the great disappointment that must have been felt by the man in the crux—upon whom depended a world struggle, as it were—and to understand the intense emotion that he was under. It is at least evidence that he was "playing the game," heart and soul.

Another accident to a hunter with the unaccustomed gun. This was a variant from those which happen through being mistaken for a deer, or dragging a gun by the muzzle. A revolver which the innocent and unfortunate victim was carrying dropped and was thus accidentally discharged, the shot taking effect in his leg. The ways of coming to grief with the unaccustomed gun seem to be limitless.

The news despatches are of a tone to confirm the idea that Senator Knox was a figure in national affairs whose place any successor who may be in sight is not likely to fill. He had extended experience in national affairs, had a mature judgment and great tact—being a welcome presidential advisor and on friendly terms with Senator Johnson at the same time.

Recent years seem to have been bad for speculating. The subject comes up because of a despatch to the effect that an Omaha speculator has lost a million in grain. That appears to be the medium in the Middle West, but coffee, rice and sugar have served to reduce bankrolls in this section. If losses now fall upon bank accounts that were swollen when the tendency of prices was up instead of down, there are compensations.

From this statement of the case by the Stockton Record it appears that the American populace is remiss as to pickles: "Looks as if we need to have a pickle week. The pickle packers are complaining that only 5,000,000 bushels of pickles are eaten in the United States in a year, and they are strongly of the opinion that every American should do his duty by eating at least one pickle a week."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS.

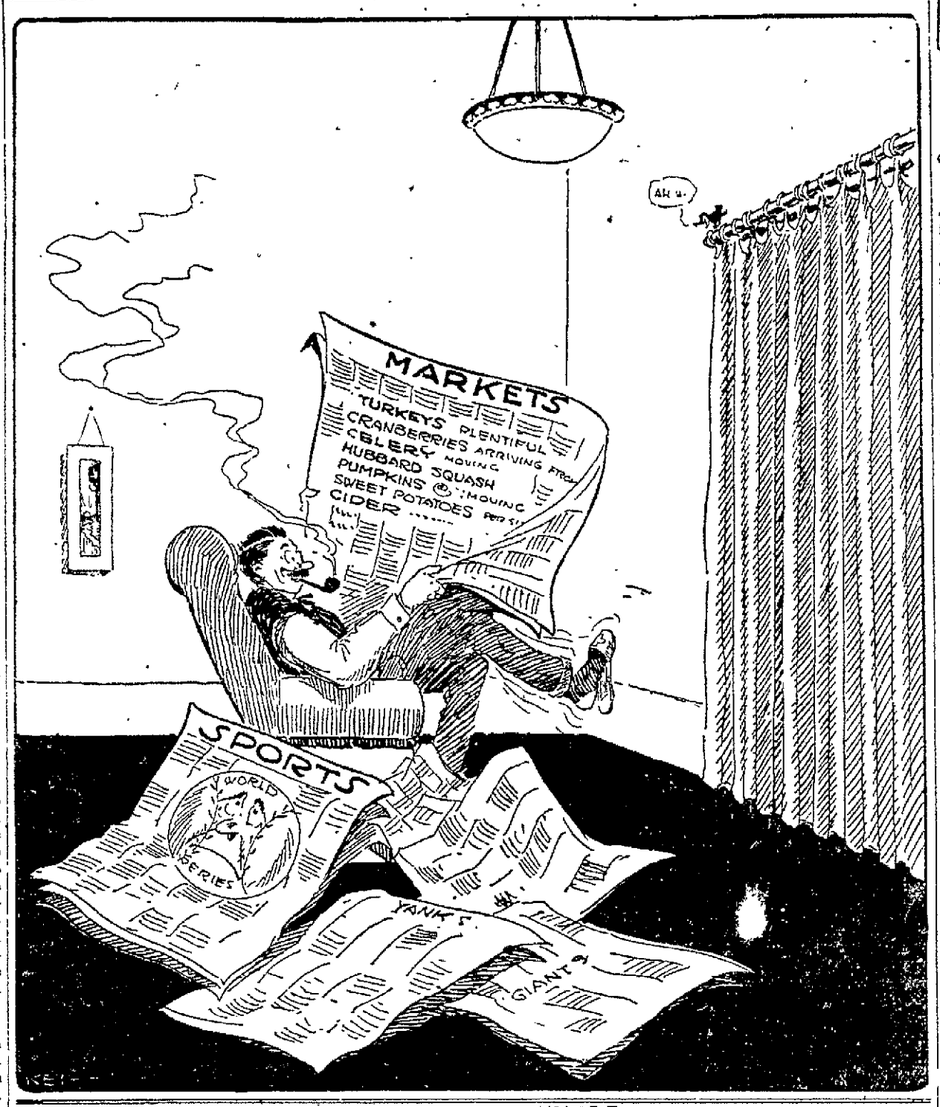

Through a syndicate, Babe Ruth offers to sell his life story to the newspapers for $25 and promises "a thrill in every line." We know of many other people who would gladly pay the newspapers more than $25 to forget all about their life stories, particularly the thrills—Fatty Arbuckle, for instance.—Stockton Record.

"Greater Ventura County" is the caption of a very handsome and well edited book on the richest small county in the state, issued by the Santa Paula Chronicle, which is edited by Horace McPhee, former Riverside and Santa Ana newspaperman. It ought to do some effective advertising for the varied resources of Ventura county.—Riverside Press.

Wherever women swim as freely as men do the one-piece bathing suit will be popular. And if no vulgar-minded reformers or legislators are present, no one will notice, in the general and normal enjoyment of sun and wind and sea and good exercise, whether women are wearing stockings or not.—Woodland Democrat.

Women of Southern California are said to give a great deal more attention to politics than the men in the northern part of the state do. That may be, for the men in Southern California are too busy boosting the climate to pay much attention to politics.—Hanford Sentinel.

JUST FOLKS: By EDGAR A. GUEST

WHAT TO BE

"What shall I be?" said he to me
The other night upon my knee,
"When I grow up to be a man?'
'Twas plain he wanted me to plan
His life on earth throughout the years,
And cite, perhaps, a few careers
That lead to fame and fortune great
From which he soon must choose his fate.

And so I said: "Let's talk it o'er
And see what really lies before
Each little boy who later on
Must do men's work when we are gone.
What is it every one must need
Out there who's eager to succeed?
Let's try to understand and see
Just what it is that you must be.

"First keep in mind that this is true:
The kind of work you choose to do
Will matter not, if it's a task
That men of you may fairly ask;
If real service here you give,
No shame can harm you while you live.
But whatsoe'er your post or fee,
There are some things that you must be:

"You must be honest—therein lies
The test of men, however wise;
You must be loyal through and through,
Willing to work and cheerful, too;
You must be patient and be kind,
Be big of heart and broad of mind,
And be too manly here to claim
Advantage that is linked with same;
"You must be clean—the world demands
Clean hearts and minds as well as hands;
You must be willing here to bear
Your portion of life's constant care,
And set in every way you can
The fine example of a man.
If these you are, you need not fear—
You shall succeed in any sphere."

CULTURE AT DINNER.

I asked Professor Jurden how his Italian lessons were coming.

"But I am not taking lessons," he replied. "My wife is having them. I have a method I have devised for myself."

"What is that?" I asked, for I was having strenuous discipline under a priest, the author of a grammar.

"I am translating Shakespeare into Italian. I figure that way I'll get a good vocabulary as well as learning the language in my own way."

"To begin with Shakespeare without knowing any Italian!" I exclaimed, astonished. I asked only, "And are you putting it into verse also?"

"How do you mean?"

"I mean, are you trying to reproduce the verse of the original?"

Professor Jurden looked at me puzzled for a moment. His wife tapped his back.

"Darling, I asked you not to do that. Why, is the original in verse?" he asked, turning to me.

"Why, yes," I answered, "how do you mean?" I thought that there must be something that I had missed in his question.

"I didn't know that Shakespeare's plays were in verse."

AMERICA'S ALTERNATIVES IN THE PACIFIC.

In maintaining its position in the far Pacific these alternatives confront the United States. One is to go in for enormous naval expansion, coupled with adequate defenses for the Philippines, Guam and Hawaii. The other is to reach an understanding—not necessarily an alliance—with Britain. If Japan can be induced to be a party to that understanding, so much the better.

Britain has bases in China, the use of which by the American fleet would eliminate the San Francisco-Manila naval supply train, which is the weak point in our present naval defense. Counted as one for the purpose of enforcing a joint Pacific mandate, the American and British fleets would more than restore the two-power naval standard which Britain in the past has found sufficient to protect her dependencies. That standard would do as much for ours. No power, no combination of powers now possible could challenge the American and British fleets. They could maintain the status quo in the Pacific without ever pulling a tarpaulin off a gun.

As American and British Pacific interests now stand, the defense of one is the defense of the other. The association of nations, as Mr. Lloyd George has properly called the British empire, has, so far as its interests relate to the Pacific, exactly the same policy as the United States and the same reasons for seeing danger in the aspirations of Japan. Those aspirations arouse apprehension in Australia and New Zealand. Canada has the same anti-Japanese policy as California. Prime Minister Hughes of Australia said on the occasion of his departure for the imperial conference in London: "Any scheme of imperial defense must necessarily provide for defense of the Pacific ocean, as it is there that the present and future of Australia is to be decided. Whatever the splendor or greatness, menace or trial, the future has in store, good and evil alike, will come to us from the Pacific. Naval defense is for us a Pacific question, and our foreign policy must concern itself closely with the aims and aspirations of peoples and countries surrounding that mighty ocean."

From America the association of British nations in the Pacific has nothing to fear. America has nothing to fear from them. But all have to fear the imperialism of another Pacific nation that is convinced its future is dependent upon unchallenged supremacy in those waters. By its expansion upon the Asiatic mainland Japan has secured those resources, wanting in its island empire, that are the essentials of an imperialist policy. Japan now has the materials for armaments, naval and military, which it lacked previous to its adventures in China and Manchuria. It has a rapidly growing navy, a large standing army organized, drilled and equipped upon the Prussian model, and a government with none of the handicaps that shackle democracies when they make war. This formidable military, naval and imperialist autocracy is the dominating power in the far Pacific. Its most extended outpost, Formosa, is only two hundred miles from the Philippines.

These are the elements of the Pacific question that raise identical problems for the United States and the British dominions. That they point to an American and British understanding is a conclusion that the statesmen of both countries cannot escape when they examine the grounds for a new entente to replace the British-Japanese alliance which has served its purpose and cannot be renewed in the old form.—Kansas City Star.

About YOUR HEALTH

Why It's Silly to Say "I Fear a Hospital So."

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City.

There is a growing appreciation of the hospital and a recognition of its value to the community. There used to be a real dread of these establishments whose mission is to serve men, women and children when they are in direst need. Endless silly and cruel stories have made it difficult for some hospitals to live down the traditions of the dark ages of medicine and of men. But every wise man and woman now turns to a hospital with confidence and gratitude won by the services hospitals perform for humanity.

If there was ever a time when evil practices existed, they do not exist today. Under our law all hospitals are supervised by official and semi-official bodies. More than this, hospitals are directed by lay trustees, or by church agents who have no monetary interest in the operation of these philanthropies, but who are unselfishly serving humanity from pure love of the privilege. They are saturated with the zeal for public service.

For nearly thirty years I have had exceptional opportunities to know hospitals from the inside. I am sure I know the ideals and ambitions, the weaknesses and trials of the American hospital system. With this background of accurate information I desire to express my confidence and belief in our hospitals as agents for tremendous accomplishments for the public good.

I think of the housing conditions of our great cities with their overcrowding and lack of facilities for the care of the well, to say nothing of the sick. I think of the lack of training of the average man or woman so far as the care of sick persons is concerned. I think of the advances of science and of the apparatus and equipment for the diagnosis and treatment of disease.

Hospitals are the repositories of civilization's facilities and talent for the care of the sick. In this age of specialism you would not send a delicate watch to a blacksmith for repairs. You make use of the special talent required for the given job.

In repairing the broken-down human body, the hospital is the place above all others for the job.

Medicine and surgery have progressed to the point that the nurse transforms the sick room—when she is called to a private home—into a miniature hospital. In small and crowded houses this means that the whole household is upset. To give privacy, quiet and comfort to the invalid, all the rest of the family must be inconvenienced. This discomfort is cheerfully borne, but in most houses it is an unwise sacrifice, because the hospital would spare all this, and at the same time promote the safety, shorten the period of illness, and lessen the suffering of the patient.

In the hospital are nurses glad to serve you, and skilled in ways of doing so. Here are doctors at your command day and night. Here are dietitians and special cooks ready to provide for your slightest need. Here are the X-ray, the electrical apparatus, the delicate scientific human machinery dedicated to the relief of human misery. And here are the quiet, the air of confidence and all the elements essential to speedy and complete recovery.

It is never convenient or comfortable to be sick. But if you are sick, the best place for you is the hospital.

OUR PACIFIC FRONTIER.

If the United States is to undertake to defend the Philippines without regard to any other nation, it will have serious problems to consider without delay. A frontier position seven thousand miles from the home base is not easily protected.

Naval experts tell us Japan could take the Philippines in their present condition at a blow before we could do anything to prevent it. They tell us that a navy double the strength of Japan's would not suffice to offset the disadvantage we would be at in having to operate far from our continental bases. We would require an immense auxiliary fleet to supply our main line, and this long line of communication could easily be broken. Moreover the present building operations in Japan would preclude any possibility that our fleet, at present superior, will at any future time be twice the strength of Japan's.

An important naval group, headed by Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, insists that the defense might be maintained were a powerful fleet and naval base to be supplemented by a strong force of airplanes to disrupt landing parties by bombing. This argument is presented in the current issue of the World's Work by a former naval officer, Commander Turnbull, who believes that a force of a thousand planes, whose cost would approximate that of a single dreadnaught like the Maryland, would be able to destroy a Japanese landing expedition. This method of defense would offset every advantage, from a naval standpoint, which the Japanese now enjoy by reason of their proximity to the Philippines. Even if they could reduce the defenses of Manila by naval bombardment they could not occupy the city, or land anywhere upon the islands, so long as the United States commanded the air. Their own air forces, even if based on Formosa, the nearest Japanese possession, would be at the same disadvantage to ours that our fleet would be at to theirs, if it were a question of naval defense purely.

It is possible, then, to defend the islands by the necessary expenditure for ships, airplanes and fortifications. Under no circumstances can such a defense be neglected. The extent to which it must go, however, might be affected by the outcome of the approaching Washington conference and the relationships there established between this country, Britain and Japan.—Kansas City Star.

U. C. AIRMAN SETS 12,580 FOOT RECORD

Check of Instruments Shows Nearly 3000 Feet Added To Coast Altitude Mark During Allied Club Test

William R. Davis Jr., of the Allied Fliers, added nearly 3000 feet to the Pacific coast altitude record for one-man, single engined hydroairplanes in his recent trials in Alameda, according to corrected records announced today by Professor Lloyd Jones of the University of California physics department. Davis, according to the carefully checked record of his recording baragroph, rose to a height of 12,580 feet, although non-recording altimeter of his Standard seaplane showed an altitude of 11,500 feet. He is a University of California student.

Prior to Davis' flight, conducted by the Allied Fliers' club, on October 2, the Pacific coast record for this type of "ship" was 9600 feet, and was held by Jacob Struebel.

"Davis was unusually fortunate in picking a day when the atmospheric pressure was just right for altitude flying," said Professor Jones in announcing the corrected record. "If he had flown a day earlier or a day later, he could not have reached the same altitude.

"In checking the record, we used the report of the United States weather bureau in San Francisco for barometric pressure and temperature on the day of the flight."

The flight was conducted by Harvey M. Pugh, president of the Allied Fliers' club; Reed Chambers, distinguished A. E. F. ace; Walter E. Baird and Professor Jones, in connection with the official test whereby Davis earned the hydro-airplane pilot license of the Aero Club of America. The recording barograph was calibrated before the flight by Professor Jones and scientists in the university physics department who are taking an active interest in aviation matters.

Site Being Sought For "Preventorium"

Establishment of a "Preventorium" for anaemic and malnourished children, is practically assured by the Alameda County Society for the Study of Tuberculosis. Next week will witness a tour of inspection of proposed sites by the officers of the society. Location of the institution in the vicinity of Arroyo Sanitarium at Livermore is considered feasible, according to Roscoe Jones, president. It is pointed out facilities of the county hospital may be utilized by the children's institution.

Children in a weakened condition of health will be sent to the "Preventorium" in an effort to restore them to normality. The project is a direct outcome of the nutrition work sponsored by the Tuberculosis Society.

Officers of the organization and county chairmen will meet in conference at Hotel Oakland on Tuesday to outline the campaign for the annual sale of Christmas seals, proceeds of which is appropriated to carrying on their work.

Alleged Forger To Be Tried Oct. 28

Henry E. Wagner, an alleged forger, who was arrested after a thrilling chase through the downtown business section, was arraigned this morning before Police Judge Ralph Richmond. The date of his preliminary examination was set for October 28.

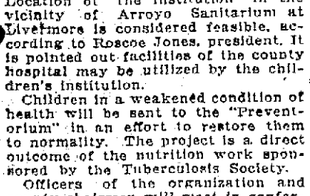

He was arrested Tuesday on a warrant sworn to by J. P. Summer, 723 Broadway, on a charge of forging the name of R. Crowther, of the Northern California Alfalfa Growers' Association, to a check for $22.

According to the police, he is alleged to have stolen several hundred blank checks of the association which, they claim, he passed on various stores here. The amount, the police say, will total about $300.

Jazz Plays No Part in Long Life of Women

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—Twentieth century "jazz" is not inducive to longevity, according to Mrs. Susan Clarke, widow of W. A. Clarke, California '49er who will tomorrow celebrate her 101st birthday at her home, 2437 Le Conte avenue.

"Life is too strenuous these days; one can't stand much of it," says Mrs. Clarke. "Young people have no time to take care of themselves. All they think of is a good time. The good old-fashioned quiet family life is not countenanced in these busy days."

To the quiet, wholesome life she had led, with her family as her first interest, does Mrs. Clarke attribute the fact that on tomorrow she will celebrate her first birthday past the cenuryt mark.

Despie her love for quiet Mrs. Clarke has had more than the usual number of thrills in her life. In 1852 she arrived in California after a perilous trip around the Horn from her home in Ohio, bringing with her a baby son who died shortly after the arrival in he west. Mrs. Clarke's husband had preceded her during the gold rush of '49 and upon her arrival in California she found a mountain home awaiting her in Sonora, where her husband prospected and won success along with other pioneers.

Bret Harte, Mark Twain and all of the other celebrities of the Tuolumne and Calaveras mining region of early fame, Mrs. Clarke knew, and a wealth of experiences is in her store of memories of the early days of her sojourn in the Golden West. Later the Clarkes moved to Modesto, where agricultural interests held Clarke until his death some years ago.

For twenty years the Clarke family has resided in Berkeley, taking an important place in business and social circles of the bay region.

Longevity runs in her family of hardy Ohio stock, points out Mrs. Clarke. A sister also reached the age of 101 years while a brother passed away in his 90th year, and other members of the family lived to ripe old age.

Until a year and one-half ago Mrs. Clarke was in full possession of all her faculties, insisting on daily automobile rides. Of late she has been confined to her room.

Tomorrow's birthday anniversary will occasion a family reunion at the Clarke home, where an informal gathering will be held in honor of the occasion.

Of her five children but two survive to join in tomorrow's festivities with Mrs. Clarke. They are Mrs. W. O. Minor, 1720 Euclid avenue, Berkeley, and Miss Lulu F. Clarke, who resides with her mother. The late Mrs. W. C. Crittenden, mother of Will Crittenden, well known attorney, and Mrs. Emma Mays were other daughters.

FIVE POLICE JOIN FORCE; 3 IN PROBE

Colbourn Gives New Patrolmen Final Instructions; Hearings Due Shortly On Two Facing Accusations

While five new patrolmen for the Oakland police force were instructed this morning by Commissioner Colbourn, preparatory to their taking the oath of office, Colbourn also announced that three patrolmen now on the force are in trouble and their hearings will come up shortly.

Patrolman Luke Hart's case will come up Monday. Hart is the subject of a complaint by Sergeant Maxey, who says that Hart made threats against his superior officer and shook a fist in Maxey's face. Hart was accused during the regime of Chief of Police Fenton Thompson of acting in a rude and boisterous manner and failing to show respect for his superiors. He appealed to the civil service board and the board, after a hearing, held that Hart's transgressions came through ignorance, and he was given another chance.

MEALS FOR NOTHING.

Commissioner Colbourn today notified Patrolman Robert Cheli that the latter is suspended for 15 days, for "conduct subversive to good order and discipline."

Cheli is accused of making himself too much at home in an Italian restaurant in East Oakland, where the proprietor alleges that the patrolman, in uniform, had a habit of ordering meals and not paying for them. It is also alleged that he took a woman to the place and "treated" her to a free meal at the owner's expense.

INTOXICATION CHARGE.

Patrolman Michael Connelly is the third policeman in trouble. Connelly is accused by Erick Turner, 970 Walnut street, of making himself obnoxious by entering the man's home and making various vague threats. Turner alleges that the policeman was half intoxicated. His hearing has been set for Thursday.

In meeting the five new policemen this morning in his office, Commissioner Colbourn, in his short talk, emphasized the need for good conduct and honesty among police officers. The new men are:

Eugene S. Faulkner, W. L. Wieben, W. A. Beeson, Leon M. Carroll and H. C. Nelson.

Stadium Backers To Get Choice of 'Big Game' Seats

MISS SPENCER ALLEN, university sophomore, as she appeared in a women's feature stunt on the Berkeley campus in the interests of the stadium drive.

Thousands of Blank Applications Being Sent Out To Subscribers.

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—Thousands of blank applications for big game tickets for this year's game between California and Stanford at Palo Alto, November 19, are now being mailed from Berkeley to all stadium subscribers.

Maps of the new athletic bowl at Palo Alto are attached to the applications, so that big game spectators may choose the location of their seats.

Dean Frank H. Probert, general chairman of the memorial stadium campaign, states emphatically that the only way for California alumni and citizens to be sure of attending this year's big game is by means of stadium subscriptions.

"At the suggestion of our alumni," states Dean Probert, "we have decided to give seats to this year's big game not only to the subscribers by the $100 cash plan, but to all subscribers on the $25 part payment basis. To attend this year's game it is only necessary to send your check for $25 to stadium headquarters on the Berkeley campus and you will immediately receive applications for your tickets."

Dean Probert wants it specifically understood that the $25 paid into the stadium fund is not in any way a sacrifice or donation upon the part of the subscriber. Each subscriber will receive dollar-for-dollar value, and when his $100 is entirely paid up will be given a scrip book redeemable for big game tickets over a period of ten years. Paying $100 now or $25 in quarterly installments is merely paying for your big game seats in advance for ten years.

U. C. TO GET ARTS PALACE AT PRESIDIO

Bill Transferring Structure On Reservation To University Is Introduced In Congress; Will of Searles

Chances for two noteworthy additions to the resources and equipment of the University of California are made brighter today by developments in Washington and Boston. At the national capital a bill has been introduced to give to the university the Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco. As the building is situated on the Presidio reservation, it requires an act of Congress to make the transfer. The directors of the exposition and a number of others, including Congressman Julius Kahn, have been working on the plan to preserve the building as a part of the university and as a permanent exhibition center for fine arts.

The quarter of a million dollars that is to go to the university if its suit against the executor of the will of Edward F. Searles, eccentric Massachusetts millionaire who died recently, is won, figures in developments of the day at Boston. Arthur T. Walker, executor and principal heir, has denied that he holds any property belonging to Albert Victor Searles, Boston artist, except the $250,000 which is also claimed by the University of California. The sum is claimed because of a clause in the Searles will which stipulated that if there was any contest of the document, the university be given the money. Albert Searles filed suit in contest and then compromised for a payment which is said to have amounted to more than a million.

'PROPAGANDA' IS RESENTED BY FILIPINOS

Students At University Make Protest Against Alleged "Malicious" Story Circulated; Club House Planned

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—Joining in a protest against alleged "malicious propaganda" circulated against them, fifty Filipino students, most of them enrolled at the university, held a meeting last night in Stiles hall.

Action to purchase a residence at 2525 Virginia street to be used as a clubhouse for Filipino college students was taken. President David P. Barrows of the university has given his approval to the transaction, and will aid the students in their undertaking. The property in question will house 25 students, it is declared, and is to be purchased for the sum of $7500, $2000 of which has already been pledged.

Indignation that a story was published declaring that a North Berkeley neighborhood was up in arms at the renting of a room by a housewife to a Filipino student prevailed at the meeting.

"We feel that such a story was malicious propaganda aimed against the Filipinos for a reason we cannot determine," said Andreas Palma, president of the Filipino Students' Association of the university. "Filipino students at the university are good American citizens, and have always tried to uphold American ideals. We cannot feel that this criticism emanated from any true American source."

That steps be taken to counteract any "Propaganda" of a similar kind was decided by the meeting. According to officers of the Filipino Students' Association, there are 26 Filipino students at present enrolled at the university. The new clubhouse is planned to care for the majority of that number.

Money Is Raised For Athletic Fund

ALAMEDA, Oct. 15.—The pupils of the Haight school raised more than $200 for their athletic fund yesterday through the collection of old newspapers. The youngsters in going over the city in a house-to-house canvass gathered in twenty tons of discarded papers and magazines which were sold to a paper dealer in Oakland. Several large trucks were required to haul the collection away.

This is the second largest amount that the Haight school children have collected. The former high mark was thirty-five tons and was made for the Red Cross during the war.

Sign Painted On Pavement Moves a Foot

A queer distortion of a city pavement, proving the elasticity of asphalt, was noted today by Superintendent of Streets George Mattis at East Twelfth street and Twenty-fourth avenue, where all traffic leaving Oakland makes a left-hand turn from Twelfth to Fourteenth street.

Some time ago the street department placed a bread arrow in the center of this turn, painted in the asphalt so that traffic going each way should keep on its own side. The white arrow runs with the turn.

Today it was discovered that the arrow has traveled east and south nearly a foot, proving that the "pull" of automobiles making the turn causes the asphalt to stretch over to that side of the street. A peculiarity is that the asphalt is not roughened or corrugated.

A new arrow will be painted immediately in the center of the street.

Accused Attorney Too Ill To Appear

Joseph P. Lacey, prominent Oakland attorney, who was arrested yesterday on a charge of issuing a check on a bank in which he did not have sufficient funds to cover the amount, did not appear in court today when his case was called before Police Judge Richmond. Prosecuting Attorney Fred Donahue informed Judge Richmond that Lacey was suffering from a nervous breakdown and could not appear today to answer the charge. The case was continued until October 19.

The warrant upon which Lacey was arrested was sworn to by Joseph Radcliffe, 1520 Seventy-ninth avenue, father of John B. Radcliffe, a stock salesman, who is in the city prison charged with embezzlement in connection with the sale of stock in a string of restaurants.

According to Radcliffe he engaged Lacey to represent his son, and gave Lacey $400 to pay brokerage fee on a $10,000 bond to secure his son's release from prison. According to Radcliffe the bond was never obtained. He alleges that when he approached Lacey concerning the money he had advanced, Lacey tendered him a check for the amount, which, when presented at the bank, was worthless.

BLAME THE STORKS.

HUBER MAJOR OF ARTILLERY FOR OAKLAND

Former Member of Civil Service Board Appointed to Command of Local Batteries; To Form New Unit

Harry F. Huber, major in the 143rd Field Artillery and former member of the Oakland civil service board, today received from Adjutant General Borree a commission as major in the Field Artillery, California National Guard, effective October 5. Huber has not been active in military circles since the demobolization following the war.

The newly-commissioned major will have the task of making Oakland's artillery units the best in the state. His headquarters will be in this city.

Huber has been an active figure in the development of the National Guard. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American war and the Mexican expedition, and for the past ten years aided in building up the Guard units in the northern part of the state. Previous to the war he commanded Battery B of Oakland. During the war he was promoted to major and served with the 143rd, after graduating from the Fort Sill school and acting as instructor for several artillery regiments.

The first official act of Major Huber is the announcement that the stables of Batteries B and E will be moved from the corporation yard to the Leona Heights rifle range. He also plans a polo field at the rifle range, where expert horsemen will be trained.

A third battery for Oakland will be organized immediately, says Huber, and enlistments will begin next week. He plans a compact unit for this city, with a headquarters detachment and a combat train.

It is announced that plans are being made for the erection of an armory in Oakland by private contract, for the housing of artillery, infantry and headquarters units.

Two Injured At School Playground

ALAMEDA, Oct. 15.—The playground of the Porter school sent two patients to the emergency hospital yesterday afternoon. The first was Marvin Slipsager, who had his left leg broken while playing soccer football.

Slipsager had hardly been taken home before Anna Marmino, 1715 Walnut street, was brought into the hospital. She had fallen while running across the yard and received a badly sprained ankle. Dr. Arthur Heironymus treated both cases.

IT WAS SOME CANDY PARTY!

20,000 Packages of the Famous Peanut Candy Given Away

To Oakland goes the honor of celebrating National Candy Day in the handsomest and most spectacular manner of any city in the United States. The Martin M. Hoffman Company, wholesale candy manufacturers, were hosts at a beautiful free lawn party on the afternoon of October 8 at Fourteenth and Franklin streets in the heart of the business district.

At this free party the children of Oakland and the grown-ups were treated to a mountain of Hoffman's Famous Peanut Candy.

Twenty thousand packages of delicious confection were passed out to the happy and clamorous multitude.

Pearl Hickman's beautiful dancing kiddies performed for the crowds and helped to pass out the joy candy. Hawaiian musicians dispensed music and made the occasion a gladsome and unique event in the history of commercial enterprise.

The crowds marveled at the lavishness of the free party. It was California hospitality without a string and it made HOFFMAN'S FAMOUS PEANUT CANDY the joy candy supreme. Movies were taken of the big party and will be shown in the east to let the folks there know how we do things in Oakland, California.

BIG LEAGUE SCOUTS TO SEE TRIBUNE LEAGUERS PERFORM

TWENTY-SIX GAMES WILL BE FURNISHED FREE OF CHARGE BY TRIBUNE BOYS TOMORROW

MAJOR, MINOR SCOUTS ARE HERE TO GLANCE AT TRIBUNE LEAGUERS

Seventeen Games Will Be Played Tomorrow In the Class B and C Leagues.

By EDDIE MURPHY

Little Joe Bushers take notice! Roll up the legs of your baseball unies, just like a big leaguer would, before you trot out on the ball field tomorrow. Also step out on the field and play as best you know how. Joe Engle, scout for the Washington Americans, is coming to Oakland tomorrow morning and will visit at several parks where TRIBUNE League games will be played. Last evening he asked Joe Devine where he thought it would be best to go tomorrow and look over some youngsters, and Joe told him that there were so many places that it would be best to ride in an airplane. But the Washington scout has heard of too many fatal slides being made by the air boats, and prefers to burn some gasoline or drop six cents in the car box in getting around to TRIBUNE League parks.

Engle is a fellow who will never tell what park he is going to visit. Joe has heard a lot of nice things about The TRIBUNE league being there when it comes to turning out young ball players each winter. He was up around Canada to see Joe Devine's club in the Canadian league fight, and he also saw several of The TRIBUNE leaguers perform in the majors. Joe is going to get around to as many parks as he can tomorrow.

Joe Engle Will Find Other Scouts On Job.

But Engle is not going to be the only scout looking over The TRIBUNE leaguers, for Joe Devine will also be looking for some youngsters, and so will Pat Kilhullen and Nate Shandling. The latter is the fellow who used to be a football star and catcher at St. Mary's college. Nate graduated from The TRIBUNE Midwinter league and is now rated as one of the best catchers in the Texas league. He has been sent here to try and land a good pitcher, outfielder, infielder and first sacker for one of the clubs in the Texas league.

Joe Devine does not expect to return to Calgary next summer, for he has several offers from other minor league clubs he is considering, and that is why he is out so early to grab players while the grabbing is good. Joe already has several players under observation, and the chances are that he will get a couple of them to put their names on dotted lines today.

Class B and C Clubs To Stage Seventeen Games.

It is no easy problem for the bushball fans to decide what ball park they will see a game at these Sundays. Every one of the class A games, of which there are eight each Sunday, offer a problem in themselves, because they are all big attractions, but the bush fans also have the class B list to look over, besides that of the class C.

It was surprising to note the large attendance at class B games last Sunday, and in most cases, the lads playing that league made a big hit with the crowd. Class B games are being played tomorrow on almost every baseball field in the boundary of Alameda, Berkeley and Hayward.

Out at the Twenty-third Avenue levee two games are played each Sunday, they first starting at noon. In the first game tomorrow the Oakland Art Pottery will meet the American Legion Post No. 5 team, while at 2:30 p. m. Ed Perz will lead his Twenty-third Avenue Merchants against the Del Monte Packers No. 45.

The Hayward high school diamond will also be the scene of two class B games, the first starting at noon between the Hayward W. O. W. and the Western Electric Co., and the second at 2:30 between the Hayward N. S. G. W. and the Telegraph Avenue Merchants.

Risdon Bakery Nine Bears Watching in "B" Race.

Keep your eye on the Risdon Bakery team in the California division of the class B league, is the tip that the bush managers are passing around these days. The Risdons made one of the best showing of any of the class B clubs in the opening game last Sunday. They met defeat at the hands of the Twenty-third Avenue Merchants, but it was only after eleven hard innings. The score was 2 to 1. Manager Risdon is quite enthused over his boys. He kept close watch on every one of his men during the practice season and feels sure that he picked the best men of those he tried out. "Pilot" Risdon points to the fine record made by his boys during the summer months, for the benefit of those who doubt he has a contender for the class B championship. Rose pitched a beautiful game for his club last Sunday. He also has Frank Nugent to do some chucking. The Risdons will meet the K. U. club at Lazear playground in East Oakland tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 p. m.

Two Games Scheduled At Fruitvale, San Leandro.

The baseball fans out at San Leandro feel good and strong for the class B games last Sunday and the chances are that they will be out stronger than ever tomorrow morning, for both San Leandro clubs pulled through with victories. The Hudson Lumber Company team of San Leandro, which won its opening game in the Western division, will meet the Heppe Trout Flies at the San Leandro League park at 10:30, while at the same time the Thrasher Park Stars of San Leandro will meet the Fiorio & Figone Hardward at Thrasher park, San Leandro. The Fiorio & Figone and the Thrashers both won their opening games in the Eastern division last Sunday.

Two games will be played at the Fruitvale diamond tomorrow. In the morning at 10:30 the Pacific Gas & Electric will meet the Lee Bertillion Juniors, while at 2:30 in the afternoon the St. Joseph's Sodality will tangle with the Eastlake club of the California division. The Saints and the Eastlakes won their opening games.

The Chevrolet Motors, who got off to a winning start in the Western division, will entertain the Fruitvale W. O. W. at the Chevrolet Park diamond at 11:30 in the morning.

Manager Thomas of the Oakland Sciots has secured the permit for his team to meet the Delphi club at Bushrod playground at 1:30 p. m. The game was first scheduled at Bay View, but had to be switched to Bushrod.

Fireman Jones To Twirl for The Calatones

Berkeley Fans Flock To San Pablo Park To Witness Tribune Games.

The baseball fans of Berkeley have become great boosters for The Oakland TRIBUNE Midwinter League, and so have the blaze fighters of the Oakland fire department. Berkeley fans showed last Sunday that they are for The TRIBUNE league by the way they turned out for the opening game of th season at San Pablo playground. Also they learned that they are backing a regular class A amateur club, when they saw the Calatone Water Company nine smear the whitewash on their opponents as neat as anyone could want them to do. Tomorrow afternoon, the Calatones will meet the Fruitvale N. S. G. W. at San Pablo Playground at 1:20, and it looks like a merry game is going to be staged for the benefit of the Berkeley and Fruitvale fans, and also the Oakland firemen.

Guess you have been wondering where we got that Oakland firemen stuff? Well, do not be surprised if you hear some fire bells jingling during the ball game. If so, there will be a reason for the jingling. The firemen have promised to go out and root hard for the Calatones to put over a victory, for Earl (Fireman) Jones, a member of the Oakland Department, is slated to bend them over the pan for the Calatones, and our home protectors think that Earl is the next best to Waite Hoyt or some other world series hero. Jones has pitched wonderful ball all summer.

Manager Herman Harice is fortunate to have a fellow like him to work in turn with "Chic" Hafey, the youngster who twirled such a magnificent game last Sunday, and who can almost tell his folks that he will pack his grip some time next spring for a trip to some training camp. In Hafey and Jones, the Calatones have a pair of chuckers hard to beat. And more than that, they have a trio of them, for "Lefty" Sanberg is also ready to step in at a moment's notice and fling the horsehide where he thinks the opponents cannot connect with it.

The Fruitvale Natives are in fine humor to go again the Calatones, for the Natives were one of the eight class A clubs to get off to a winning start. Dewey McCarthy did the mound honors for the Natives last Sunday, so it looks like Jack Wade will be given the chance to work tomorrow.

Allendale Is Fine District For Bushball

Fans Out There Always Boosting Their Club in TRIBUNE League.

"We lost the first one to our bitter rivals, the Fruitvale Natives, but just tell the boys that we have ordered another flagpole on which to hang the 1921 Class A pennant of The TRIBUNE League," remarked Edward Hensley, the greatest booster that the Allendale Merchants' baseball club can boast of. The Allendale Merchants managed to grab the Class B bunting last season after getting off to a bad start, and Hensley also reminded us of that. Allendale has a wonderful pair of boosters in Ed Hensley and Playground Supervisor Putnam, and no matter what the result of the game is, you will find both those fellows ready to give full credit to the visiting team, but always there to boost the Allendale boys. The Allendale Merchants are to Hensley and Putnam as the New York Giants are to Muggsy McGraw. For the past few years Hensley has threatened to quit baseball for good, because it interferes with his appetite, but just the same he is always on the job when the old gong rings for the opening festivities.

Frank Smith, manager of the Allendale Merchants, is a man who knows how to handle a ball club, but even up to a few days before the start of the season he did not know what he would do without Ed Hensley to boost for him. He thought up to that time that Ed was surely going to stand pat on his threat and quit the game this time for good, but just as soon as the news leaked to the ears of Hensley that The TRIBUNE League was going to hold their big parade last Saturday night Ed decided that he could not shake down the Allendale club, and away he started to make preparations for Allendale to be in the parade. And sure enough, Hensley was right in the front machine of the Allendale section, and it was the best decorated one in the parade. Ed put in a full day and a night in decorating his bus, which drew attention all along the line of march.

So a little thing like losing the first game of the season is nothing to the Allendale ball club and Hensley, Putnam and Manager Frank Smith say that the Allendale boys can be counted upon to be in the Class A pennant fight to the very last. The Allendale Merchants will meet the Del Monte Packers No. 6 at the Allendale diamond tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 p. m. Bobby Foster will heave them plateward for the Merchants, while Al Harmon is slated to work for the Packers.

The opening game at Allendale playground last Sunday was a credit to the fans of that district. The Allendale Merchants and Improvement Club are out boosting their team in every way possible. Playground Supervisor Putnam has made a big hit wth all the bushers and fans by his efforts in making everything the best for the clubs visiting at Allendale.

VALLEJO BOXING SHOW.

VALLEJO, Oct. 15.—The next boxing card will be held by the American Legion on October 27. It is possible that Obe O'Brien or Kewple Callender will be matched to meet out-of-town scrappers as both boys have a big following here.

These Youngsters Will Bear Watching

Here are a couple of young ball players who are getting a good chance to show the fans what they can do on the ball field. They are both happy because The TRIBUNE League allows only amateur players on the teams this year, for they figure they would have to take a back seat if professionals were on the job, and would be a couple of years longer in developing into top-notch players. The boy reaching for one is "DUTCH" McNEIL, shortstop for the Mel Anderson Tailors, and the fellow with the war club on his shoulder is FRANKIE McDONALD, left fielder for the Bertillion Hatters.

DUSTERS OWN CORNER

Louis Silva, the hard hitting outfielder for the 23d Avenue Merchants, still has his eye on the pill. Last Sunday Louis got a two-bagger with Nunes on second in the eleventh inning. Nunes scored on the hit, which proved to be the winning run.

Are Vargas, who has been playing third base with the 23d Avenue boys, is holding that station in first-class style. Art also swings a mean stick, which makes him dangerous when he faces a pitcher.

The 23d Avenue Merchants have strengthened up considerably by placing Eddie Matson on the shortpatch. Eddy can handle anything within his reach and is also a fast man on the bags. More will be heard of Eddy later on in the season as he is one of the most promising lads in the Class B.

Baseball fans around the bay are going to find a lot of trouble in picking out the best game each Sunday. Every game billed by the "Little Joe Bushers" of The TRIBUNE league are headliners. Fans can travel to any of The TRIBUNE league parks and expect a fast game.

Eddy McGurkin will be in harness at the levee next Thursday as a catcher. Eddy comes from the Seven Club and has been playing in the bushes for several seasons. Last Sunday Eddy batted as a pinch hitter in the ninth and drove one way out in the left, but only a good fielder could handle it. Peterson ran in and got his drive, but Eddy convinced those who were in doubt that when he hits, he hits hard.

Felix Koenig covered second base last Sunday for Eddy Perz's nine after a layoff of about a month. Felix is one of the fastest second-basemen in the bushes and the Twenty-third avenue fans are saying some nice things about him.

Murphy of the 23d Avenues pitched another fine game last Sunday against the Risdons. He allowed only six scattered hits and they only scored one run against him. He has been pitching some good ball lately and seems to be improving from game to game. Murphy is also a good batter. Last Sunday he got two hits out of four times at bat.

Frank Souza, the "small" boy on first for the S. J.s, has been handling himself like a real vet.

Louie Landengerger, the heavy hitting second baseman for the Fruitvale Sodality, has a habit of flipping the coin on Saturday night to decide whether baseball or ducks. Let's hope it's baseball always.

Buddy Wilson has been acting like an artillery captain on the third sack. The hotter the batter, he says.

Paul Edstrom's Melrose Merchants started out like a bunch of champions Sunday against the Maxwell Hardware boys. "Indian" Butler did the heaving for Edstrom's crew, and allowed but two hits. The Merchants did some good work with the willow, getting ten hits. Joe Rizzo lead the attack with a couple of clean hits.

The Fruitvale Sodality played Angie Gomas on short Sunday and he handled all his plays without a miss.

The Weco's with their first game in the win column travel to Hayward to battle the W. O. W. team of that section at the Hayward Union High school grounds at 12 m, prompt. Matthews and Moss will form the battery for the Western Electrics with Bianchi on first, Gorman at the Keystone sack, Powers short and Payne the difficult corner. Weyand, Schulz, Johnson, Tallman, Hewitt and Hansen constitute the outfield.

The Western Electrics are out after the gonfalon and by the pep and fighting spirit displayed by the club it is going to be tough going for their opponents to put over a win on them.

"Duke" Reilly pitched for the Bertillion Juniors and showed the K. P. club a lot of stuff. He allowed but two scattered hits, and never got in trouble. "Duke" also got two bingles.

The fans who traveled to Washington Park at the west end of Alameda were treated to a couple of good games of ball by The TRIBUNE leaguers. In the last game of the day between the Bertillion Hatters and the Alameda club the stands were packed.

Joe Rodgers, local ball player, who played in The TRIBUNE league last season, writes from Huntington Beach. Joe has been reading all about The TRIBUNE leaguers. He sure misses playing with the bushers. Joe has had several offers to play down south, but the trips are too long.

Captain Roy Dreisbach of the Zenith Mills is a sweet ball player. Roy is playing short for the club. He got a pair of hits off the pitching of Van Houtte. His work around the short patch has been fast and clean.

"Shorty" Hinds, manager of the Kohler & Chase team in the A league, announces the release of J. Burke and Stanley Prochaska. He has signed R. G. Scammell and George Hetherington.

In answer to the question sent into the sporting department by the S. J. Athletic Club: A pitcher always gets credit for a strike-out, even if the catcher fails to hold the third strike.

Teams booked to play the first game of a double-header on any of The TRIBUNE league diamonds must start the game on time. All games scheduled for 12:30 should be called off by the umpire not later than 2:30.

FOOTBALL AT RICHMOND.

MARTINEZ, Oct. 15.—The football team of Alhambra Union High School is at Richmond today to play two games with Richmond High School. New equipment was secured yesterday and today all players were togged out in new outfits. Last Saturday Alhambra lost to Piedmont High 12 to 7 but expects to trim the Richmondites today.

Merchants to Meet Oakland N. S. at Melrose

Great Battle Expected When Teams Meet To Break Tie in National.

Like fans in most other sections of the city, those in the Melrose neighborhood will have a chance to witness a pair of TRIBUNE league games today. The big attraction out that way will be in the afternoon, when the Oakland N. S. G. W., No. 50, will meet the Melrose Merchants, starting at 2:15 p. m. Both clubs put over victories in their opening games last Sunday, and they are among the four tied for top honors in the National Division of the Class A league. The other game will be staged at that diamond tomorrow morning, starting at 10:30. The Archie's Cigar Store, and newly organized Imperials in the Class C league will be the attraction. The Imperials are taking the place of the West Oakland Tigers, and have to start off with one defeat against them. Manager Willie Powell is confident that his bunch of youngsters will easily make up that loss.

One of the largest crowds to ever witness a game at the Melrose diamond is expected to see the Merchants battle the Natives, and the chances are that those fans will be treated to one of the best pitching duels produced in the bushes for a long time. Eugene Van Houtte, the tall lad who twirled the Natives to a win over the Zeniths in the opening game, will be on the mound for Bill Crosby's gang, while Bill (Indian) Butler or Dick Arlett will do the honors for the Merchants.

BOTH CLUBS HAVE SOME BOYS WHO BEAR WATCHING.

All last summer this lad Van Houtte showed promise of developing into a first class chucker, and managed to win many a ball game with only a fair amateur club back of him. It was often said that he would be unbeatable with a strong field back of him, and the right kind of a catcher working him, and that turned to be the truth in fact Sunday. Van Houtte sprung up just like a Herbie McQuinid did—almost from nowhere. With the proper handling, he has a good chance to graduate this winter. One of the biggest sensations of the local amateur colony is "Indian" Butler. The big boy has all the bush fans and players talking about him, and he figures to be a big help to the Melrose merchants in their fight for the Class A championship. Dick Arlett is another who is being watched by the scouts, for it was Dick who pitched for the Golden Gate Natives and won the Midwinter honors in San Francisco last winter. The Melrose diamond is located at High and East Tenth streets. Clyde Borba will do the umpiring. The chances are that several scouts will spend the afternoon at Melrose, as they have mentioned of having their lamps on a few lads who will play out there.

Circle "S" Society Elects New Members

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 15.—Athletic Director Walter Powell, Graduate Manager William D. Fletcher and Harry Maloney, director of minor sports at Stanford, were elected honorary members of the Circle "S" society at its first meeting of the quarter last night. This organization is made up of men who have won their circle "S" in one of the minor sports.

Thirteen men were admitted to the society last night. They are Fred Anderson, William Burkhard, George Clark, William Comstock, H. H. Darling, Linn Farish, William Gorman, George Green, Vernon Hoseplan, Lorin Lacey, Jack Patrick, Lefty Rodgers and James Ross.

Bushers Will Stage 4 Games At Emeryville

Coast League, Alberger Fields Will Be Scenes of Lively Games.

Ty Cobb, George Sisler and other big tent stars will be in the limelight tomorrow morning in the neighborhood of Fortieth and San Pablo, but just as soon as those fellows pack their grips and travel to San Francisco for their afternoon game, the Little Joe Bushers of The Oakland TRIBUNE Midwinter league are going to make Cobb, Sisler and their playmates look like a candle light along side an arc light. Four games will be played right in the space of two blocks during the afternoon, three of them by Class A teams and the other by two class B teams. All in all it looks like a great day for the baseball fans who want to spend an afternoon at the Oakland Coast league park, or Alberger field. Fortieth and San Pablo. Here is the program of games for those two parks.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE.

1:15 p. m.—Maxwell Hardware Co. vs. Vitt Grays.
3:15 p. m.—Clement Drug Co. vs. Mel Anderson Clothiers.

ALBERGER FIELD.

3:00 p. m.—Kohler & Chase vs. Poplar Candy.

TWO FAST GAMES EXPECTED AT COAST LEAGUE DIAMOND.

It is a toss up as to which park the best games will be played. Jack (Doc) Silvey, manager of the Mel Anderson Clothiers, and Mel himself is all pepped up over the victory which their club scored in the opening game last Sunday, and they claim that there is no stopping them now. They think that "Lefty" Sprinkle is unbeatable as a chucker, and the chances are that he will be used on the hill against the Clement Drug boys. Silvey also has Willie Schmidt, who is considerable of a chucker, and he may take a chance on letting Sprinkle rest on the bench. However, Silvey cannot put a team in the field too strong, for the Clements demonstrated last Sunday against the Poplars that they are going to be in the fight for the bunting for a long time. It looks like Dayton Jones will be on the hilltop for the Clements with Romeo McDonald behind the log.

"Doc" Silvey.

Eddie Vitt, manager of the Vitt Grays, is not in the least downcast over the walloping which his Grays took at the hands of the Whelan Market last Sunday, and promises that his boys will make plenty of trouble for Al Vogel's Maxwell Hardware nine, which lost one of the toughest games of the day to the Melrose Merchants last Sunday. Vogel has signed Charley Elliott, a southpaw from San Rafael, to chuck for his club and he will do the honors tomorrow with Chris Merrill as his battery mate.

BILL PLUMMER MAY HURL AT ALBERGER DIAMOND.

The turnout of fans at the two parks at Emeryville last Sunday was one of the big surprises of the day, and was certainly encouraging to the youngsters who play the game for the sport. At Alberger field the fans swarmed along the sidelines, and now the bushers are looking for those kind of crowds each Sunday out there. Tomorrow's games should draw big.

Manager C. G. Spoon of the Pacific Gas team has added three new men to his lineup and believes that they are just the men to make his club a consistent winner. The Key System manager expects to see his boys put across a win on the gas boys tomorrow and make up for last Sunday's poor showing.

The Watts Tract fans are showing much interest in the Poplar Candy nine and will be out in force to root for them when they meet the Kohler & Chase club, formerly the Central Oakland Merchants. The Merchants lost a tough game to the Calatones last Sunday and figure to put up an interesting battle with the Poplars in the 3 o'clock game at Alberger field. Bill Plummer, former Tech high star, and who graduated from The Oakland TRIBUNE league to the Portland Beavers, will probably twirl for the Poplars with Andy Brown doing the honors for the music boys.

Legion Team to Meet Mare Island Marines

Instead of playing the Antioch Athletic Club gridiron squad, as was at first scheduled, the American Legion, Post No. 40, of San Francisco, will play the Mare Island Marines Sunday at Vallejo. Necessary arrangements with Cort Majors' athletes could not be made and so the game with the Marines was scheduled by Bill Littler, manager of the Legionnaries.

Winter Pro League

The rain yesterday caused the postponement of the game scheduled between the Vernon and San Francisco team at Recreation Park. It is hoped that the team will be able to play today. The Vernon Club with George Disler as manager, will meet the Seals on the Oakland diamond tomorrow morning at 10:30. Local fans will get a chance to see George Disler play first base. George has been giving the fans at San Francisco a fine treat. Nobody can play that initial bag better than him. Claude Cooper, Jack Knight, Jones, Mitze, Pinelli, Wiley Kremer and Krause are Oaks who will appear in the game.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—Roger Hornsby's single gave the Los Angeles club a 3 to 2 win over the Mission, here yesterday afternoon.

Alameda Fans Enthusiastic Over Prospect

West End Merchants Behind Two Splendid Ball Teams.

It did not take the Alameda baseball fans very long to get all "het" up over their baseball teams in The Oakland TRIBUNE Midwinter leagues once those teams got started in the drive for the class A and B pennants. It was not only opening day of the Midwinter league season at Washington park in the west end of Alameda, but it was "Clean Sweep" day at the Isle City. Alameda baseball fans turned out in droves to pass judgment on Archie Nissen's Class A boys, known as the Alameda club, and George Hagy's Alameda West End Merchants. And, as both managers predicted before the opening of the season, every Alameda fan returned home with visions of a class A and B championship being grabbed for the Isle City. Yea, boys, the West End Merchants and the Alameda club both put over wins, and they did it in a clean cut way.

Baseball fans are funny individuals, especially at Alameda. They want to see their favorite team win, but not by a one-sided score. Nissen's boys turned in a 6 to 2 win, while those under the leadership of Hagy plastered the P. G. & E. with a 5 to 0 whitewash. But both games produced the kind of baseball that the fans wished for, and indications are now that a good many of the fans who take in the two games at Washington park at the west end of Alameda tomorrow will have to pick out a soft spot on the side lines.

WEST END MERCHANTS TO PLAY KNIGHTS PYTHIAS.

Alameda baseball fans are to be treated to two games of The TRIBUNE league schedule each Sunday, the first game starting at 10:30 in the morning, and the other at 12:45. Alameda is one of the best bushball towns in the state, especially in the winter time, and two games in one day at the same park is just about the right kind of a dose the Isle City fans want.

In the first game tomorrow morning George Hagy will lead his Alameda West End Merchants against the Knights of Pythias. The latter team was defeated last Sunday, but not disgraced, and promises to make Hagy's gang do some tall hustling to keep away from defeat. Freddie Warren, who twirled such a beautiful game for the Merchants last Sunday, not allowing a man to reach third, and only one second, will be on the hill against the Knights, with Joe Kaney doing the catching. Only three hits were secured off Warren by the Gas boys.

ALAMEDA CLUB WILL MEET WHELAN MARKET AT 12:45 P. M.

It is no wonder that Archie Nissen, manager of the Alameda club in the Class A league, is so popular with the Alameda baseball fans, and is always ready to knock a fellow for a goal should he say the least thing against his home town. Archie has lived at Alameda for the past forty-six years, and can tell you why almost every street in the city was given its name. That also explains why Archie is so strong for having a ball club of as many Alameda boys as possible. Only two members of his corking club live outside of Alameda. The latest addition of Alameda boys to his roster is Ray Smith, the lad who formerly twirled for Alameda high school. Smith has been pitching summer ball at Healdsburg, Lakeport and in the Pacific "C" league, and is now ripe to step out and pitch Class AA ball against the best amateur clubs that can be produced. So Tommy Hammond, who held the Bertillion boys to five hits last Sunday, will probably be given a rest tomorrow, and Smith will do the mound honors with Blunt on the receiving end. Johnny Tonkin and Oscar Johnson are two other new men who will be out in Alameda uniforms when Nissen pits his crew against the fast Whelan Market team of Oakland. Jimmy Monahan and "Slugger" Pettingill will be the Whelan battery. Remember, fans, the Class B game starts at 10:30 a. m., and the Class A at 12:45 p. m.

Walter Mails Arrives Home in Marin Co.

SAN RAFAEL, Oct. 15.—Walter "Dusty" Mails, 1920 world series hero, and pitcher for the Cleveland Indians, arrived at his home near San Quentin last night wearing a plaster of paris corset. The big southpaw said he was hurt sliding bases about a month before the season closed and has been receiving treatment at a Cleveland hospital since that time. Mails declared he would remain at home until January, when he will go to Hot Springs, Ark., for spring training.

LOCAL HEAVYWEIGHT IS LATEST SENSATION IN NEW YORK

FOOTBALL DOPE MAY BE UPSET THIS AFTERNOON WHEN CLUBS MEET ON SOGGY GROUNDS

LAST FOOTBALL GAMES BEFORE OPENING OF CONFERENCE SERIES

All Local Teams Hav e Stiff Opposition; Big Games Scheduled in Northwest and South.

Stiff competition is expected by Pacific Coast Conference football teams in preliminary games today, the last Saturday before the opening of the conference season. Injuries will keep several college stars from tomorrow's contests, according to reports received here.

Two teams—Washington and Stanford—will try to wipe out stains of defeats administered them last year by Montana and the Olympic Club, the elevens they meet tomorrow. In 1920 Montana defeated Washington 18-14 and the reconstructed Sundodgers expect no easy time winning in Seattle today, for the Grizzlies have another strong team. The Stanford-Olympic game here is expected to be a hard, low-score battle with a punting duel between Captain Patrick, Stanford, and Dodson of the club team. Wilcox, regular Cardinal half, will not play. In 1920 the score was, Olympic Club 10, Stanford 7.

California's title-holding eleven, with several first-string men, including the star end "Brick" Muller, out, today at Berkeley plays the Pacific Fleet, known as a strong defensive team. No high score is expected.

Idaho sends a veteran, tried team against the heavy inexperienced Oregon eleven today at Portland, and expects to win for the first time in the fifteen or more years the schools have been meeting. Oregon's weak line was strengthened this week by the return to school of Frink Callison, veteran center.

Despite the fact that Captain Powell probably will be out of the line-up, the Oregon Aggies are planning to run up a high score at Salem today against Willamette University to prove claims that they have a real championship eleven this year. Andy Crowell, veteran Aggie tackle, came back to school recently to give needed strength to the right side of the line.

IN THE NORTHWEST.

Washington State, after disappointing its coach and student body by losing to a team of all-stars last Saturday, plays Gonzaga at Spokane today determined to prove early-season statements that last year's championship class has not been lost. Coach Gus Welch made several change in the line-up this week. Last year W. S. C. defeated Gonzaga 35-0.

A real battle is expected outside the conference at Reno today when Nevada plays St. Mary's. Both teams have lost to California this year, Nevada 51-6 and St. Mary's 27-0. "Rabbit" Bradshaw, the wizard Sagebrush captain, is expected to star in forward passing and end running.

IN THE SOUTH.

In the south the big game today is between Occidental and the University of Southern California, which this year is out for coast honors, Captain Charles Dean, U. S. C., will be out of the game, but the Trojans expect little trouble winning, for Occidental lost to Whittier last Saturday.

Santa Clara's new college team plays its first intercollegiate game of the season today against the Davis Farm School team at Santa Clara. Injuries will keep Captain George Nell, Santa Clara, out of the fight.

Morse Watches Eastern Teams For the Tribune

Football Expert To Compare Coast Elevens With Best in East.

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
Former Princeton and All-American Halfback.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Since the first of the East vs. West games of intercollegiate football was played in Pasadena on New Year's Day of 1916, there has been a constantly increasing interest among football followers of the Pacific Coast in the records, progress and achievements of the outstanding university elevens of the Atlantic and Middle-Western states.

Time was, prior to 1916, when the vicissitudes of the Eastern teams cut not the slightest figure in the calculations of the Pacific Coast fans. To all intent and purpose, their field of action was as far removed as the planet Mars, and their weaknesses or strength was something apart from inclusion in the football affairs of the Far West. Today, it seems safe to assert that the trend of football in the East receives consideration from Pacific Coast followers of the great intercollegiate sport which is a close second to the interest taken in the elevens who are battling for the Far Western supremacy.

That this is the case, is best demonstrated by the rapidly increasing amount of space which the sporting pages of the Pacific Coast are devoting, not only to the giving of results of the more important eastern games, but to an analysis of the play and the whys and wherefores of victory or defeat. By this means adherents of the coast universities are given an opportunity to approximate something of the efficiency of Eastern teams which may ultimately be chosen to meet the coast team which is conceded to be champion.

MORSE ON JOB.

Unfortunately, this is merely the case of a half loaf being better than none. Eastern football writers know nothing of the comparative strength of Pacific Coast teams and they seldom, if ever, write anything which gives actual comparisons between eastern and western teams. Not having been on the coast and not having watched its teams in action, they are not in a position intelligently to set forth a deadly parallel by means of analyses of any two of these teams. It is with this purpose in view that the Pacific Sports Service has sent me East for the 1921 football season. For many years I have watched all the games of the Pacific Coast. I shall see all major games on the Atlantic seaboard, and I shall comment on and analyze their methods of play in direct relation to the teams of the Pacific Coast, paying particular attention to the few teams in each section which are likely to be the two representative teams which will meet for the supreme test on New Year's Day at Pasadena.

Another matter to which I shall pay particular attention is the attitude of the officials and managers of Eastern teams to a continuance of their transcontinental trips to the Pacific Coast without reciprocal games on the part of the Coast teams to the East. There is no gainsaying the fact that the east is beginning to think the time has come for a Western team to meet them on their own territory. Since 1916 Eastern teams have made the long train journey and there are many followers of the sport here who believe in the interests of fair play, the West should take turn about. By direct interviews with Eastern authorities I shall ascertain if the East-West game is doomed unless some plan is devised where games may be played alternately in the East and West. At the moment, in the estimation of the writer, some new program must be provided if this great intersectional football classic is to be continued.

Soccer Games At Isle City And Berkeley

The Eastbay Soccer League will open its season in the San Pablo playgrounds, Berkeley, tomorrow afternoon with a game between the Sons of St. George and the Allendale club. The contest was originally scheduled for East Oakland but was switched to Berkeley yesterday. The kick-off will take place at 330 or immediately after the conclusion of the afternoon baseball game. The Sons of St. George team will line-up as follows:

Devlin, Holt, C. Spurgeon, Thompson, Plumtree, Sharp, Christie, Wheatley, Anderson, Bostwick and H. Spurgeon. Johnson and Booth are the reserves.

The other game between the Rangers and the Invincibles will be played at Washington park, Alameda, commencing about 3 o'clock.

New Women's Tennis Club to Contest With Golden Gate Ladies

The recently organized Oakland Women's Tennis club will play its first inter-club matches tomorrow at Mosswood park, beginning at 10 o'clock, when five matches will be played with the Golden Gate Park Women's Tennis club. Members of the new organization have been diligently practicing for the coming matches with the veteran San Francisco club. Miss Francis Wilson and Mrs. William Tusher, well known racquet wielders of the Eastbay, are members of the new Eastbay club and will engage in the contests tomorrow.

The schedule of matches follow: Mrs. Leachman, San Francisco, against Mrs. Tusher; Mrs. Wales Kress against Mrs. Mackay; Ruth Sfren against Miss Frances Wilson, and Mrs. C. Bender against Miss Margaret Welland. A return match will be played at a later date in San Francisco.

Carl Lehte Claims Wrestling Honors

SUDBURY, Ont., Oct. 15.—Carl Lehto, of this city, last night won the light heavyweight wrestling championship of Canada from George Walker, of Fort William. After 32 minutes of wrestling the referee declared Lehto winner, when Walker crashed through the ropes, injured his head and was unable to resume the bout.

Johnson and Hoag Are Added to Card

Floyd Johnson and Sailor Al Hoag, heavyweights, were added to next week's boxing card last night by Matchmaker Tommy Simpson. This completes the card for Wednesday night. The other bouts are:

Henry Borba vs. Joe Herrera; Benny Vierra vs. Bobby Ertle; Buck Holley vs. Joe Roberts; Jimmy Roach vs. Joe Mendina; Tommy Chapelle vs. Johnny Dempsey; Angelo Silva vs. Jimmy Bell.

Vallejo Moose Have An American Team

VALLEJO, Oct. 15.—The Moose football team has issued a challenge to the 145-pound teams of Oakland and Alameda. The local Paps have a fast team this year and are anxious to land some good games either in Oakland or this city. Those teams willing to accept the challenge are requested to address Manager Willsey, Moose Football Club, Moose Clubrooms, Virginia street.

Babe Pinelli Going Up to Majors Again

Del Howard Goes East Next Thursday on Baseball Business.

Manager Del Howard, of the Oaks, leaves Thursday for St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago and way points, and before he returns he expects to have effected a trade for Babe Pinelli that will bring a pair of right-handed pitchers to the Oaks.

Del had a chat with Babe the other day and tried to prevail upon the third sacker to help the Oaks out again next season.

Pinelli figured and then quit.

"I want to play in the majors," he announced. "I can get good dough up there, like Sammy Bohne is getting. Sammy tells me he is getting $650 a month and then there is always the chance of getting in the world series or getting a cut for finishing second or third. I'd like to play with the Oaks in a way, but then you can't blame a fellow for trying to advance in his profession."

LEAVE IT TO DEL.

Del agreed with the Napa boy and promised to make a satisfactory deal for him. The Cardinals, Cubs and Reds are all anxious to secure the services of the peppery infielder, so Del figures to make an advantageous deal. He wants players—not money.

Howard will stop off at Cleveland and find out what the Indians want to do about Louie Guisto. They have been recalling Louie every year and then turning him back to the Oaks. Del is willing to lay down real money to obtain the outright release of the big first sacker.

After doing business in the player deals, Howard will meander over to Buffalo and attend the meeting of the major leagues. He may consummate some trades at that gathering.

Football Takes Place Of the World Series; Many Games Listed

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Football had full sway today. With the world's series off their minds, sport lovers in large numbers were attracted to many eastern college gridirons, where many important contests were scheduled.

One of the outstanding games was that between Princeton and the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis. Both teams boasted of veteran stars, and the followers of the game looked for some fast football.

Of the inter-sectional battles, those between Harvard and Georgia at Cambridge and Dartmouth and Tennessee at Hanover, N. H., lead in interest. Army also appears in an inter-sectional game with Wabash at West Point.

Williams College meets Yale at New Haven and Columbia plays New York University in New York.

The Hayfever Club Celebrates the Close of the Season by Burning a Hay Statue in in Effigy---By Don Herold

From Reform School to Baseball Star.

"BABE" RUTH'S LIFE STORY

Babe Ruth spent only part of his first year in professional baseball as a minor leaguer. Five months after leaving St. Mary's Industrial School to join the Baltimore Internationals, he went to the Boston Red Sox. Miss Helen Woodford, a Texas girl, was attending school in Boston. Ruth met her and in October, 1914, they were married in Baltimore.

Babe did not find entirely clear sailing with the Boston team at first. After a month on the bench he was farmed out to the Providence, thus going back to the International League again. But in September of the same year, he was recalled to Boston and finished the season there.

In 1915 he pitched 25 games for the Boston Red Sox and won 18 of them.

CHAPTER FOUR.

Although I had been quite a home-run hitter on the old school lot, and could now and then poke out a long one against a league pitcher, still Jack Dunn saw me as a pitcher rather than as a heavy slugger when the Orioles went out on the International circuit. I liked pitching well enough but as a pitcher I could not bat in every game, and my whole idea was to play ball every day and bat every day to earn my $1800. Bat, especially. Somehow or other I never saw myself as a big pitcher, although the speed and the jumps were there in the old left arm. My idea of a wonderful time was knocking the ball where someone would have to climb the fence to get it. Jack Dunn saw something that I couldn't see, because if you will look back to the Red Sox games in the world series of 1916 against Brooklyn, and 1918 against the Cubs, you will find a total of 29 scoreless innings credited to me. And this was one inning more than any other pitcher had ever gone hitless in world's series work.

DID NOT KNOW SCOUT WAS IN STAND WATCHING HIM.

Some ball players may know when there is an ivory hunter in the grandstand, but I had no idea that anybody was watching me with the Orioles. If you had told me that some Class D league scout had his eye on me I might have believed it. But the surprise I got with the second boost—to $1800—was nothing at all to the sensation Jack Dunn gave me a few days after that speechmaking trip to Saint Mary's, when he told me that I was going to Boston. Perhaps he didn't think I was such a good pitcher after all.

I could hardly believe that I had made a big league club in my first year out. Only five months since I had been a schoolboy, sliding on a pond in a Baltimore industrial school. And the salary was less believable—$2500 a year.

ANOTHER ST. MARY'S BOY PLAYED PROFESSIONAL BALL.

I was having much better luck in the game than Tom Padgett, a fine fellow and a good pitcher, who broke into baseball at school and was pitching for a small club in the Virginia league. Poor Tom would have made good, I am sure, if he hadn't been killed in an accident. He was the only other Saint Mary's boy to get into professional baseball, but every year I look for some good ones to come along from the old school lot back in Baltimore.

Along about this time I began playing to the grandstand. But don't misunderstand me. There was only one person in the grandstand. Oh! there might have been from fifteen to twenty thousand others. But she'd have been the whole crowd among twenty million.

Did I say she? I believe I did, and I was writing about Miss Helen Woodford, a Texas girl, so pretty that any time she failed to show up I was useless. She was attending a girls' college in Boston and taking a special course in baseball at the open-air school in Fenway Park. She evidently fell for Professor Ruth of the baseball faculty, because one day in October, 1914, when Professor Ruth had a class in Baltimore he up and married her.

THINKS WIFE IS A KEEN BASEBALL FAN HERSELF.

And he has been happy ever since. Although this story is supposed to be about myself, I wouldn't be fair to myself if I didn't present my better ninety per cent. She knows baseball and can handle a temperamental batter as easily as she handles her own car. Whenever I am playing at home she is at the ball park and she has learned so much about the fine points of the game that she can anticipate a manager's instructions, and frequently calls a play before it is made.

During the season our home is in a New York apartment, but we have another place with trees and grass around it up in Sudbury, Mass. We spend most of our winters in Boston, because I have a cigar factory up there which takes some management.

Off the field we drop baseball. We motor together in the evenings or go to the Broadway musical comedies, but when the weather is bad I sometimes sit at home and play the organ. No kidding—I do. She doesn't call me Babe; she calls me Hon. And what I call her is—between us.

RED SOX FARMS HIM OUT TO THE PROVIDENCE CLUB.

But my story is back in the baseball season of 1914, and I must return to it. When I arrived in Boston it seemed to me that there was nothing more for me to win in the way of honors. And because I felt that way the blow was all the harder when the Red Sox refused to take fire from my spirit and casually farmed me out to the Providence club of my old league, the International, after about a month on the bench. It was pretty disappointing to a young fellow who thought he was coming along fine, but I remembered the advice of Brother Matthias to "play the game," so I said nothing much and went to work for Providence.

On September 2, I was back in Boston, and they gave me a chance to work. Altogether I broke into the box score four times before the season ended. Two games I won, one I lost, and one I did not finish.

Boston did not have occasion to farm me out after that. It is true that I pitched only twenty-two innings and got no honors that year, but I had taken part in only four games and had done fairly well in one month of experience in the big time. I was waiting for 1915 to come around when I was sure I'd get my chance.

WON EIGHTEEN GAMES AND LOST ONLY SEVEN IN 1915.

They started me twenty-five times in 1915. I won eighteen games and turned in seven defeats. This gave me a pitching average of .720. The home runs did not come so easily against the expert pitching of the old heads and cunning arms of the big league moundsmen as they had against the kids on the lot or the men who went up against the Orioles. I was able to collect only four homers, and they did not attract much attention, as a record of four home clouts in a season was nothing to print on twenty-four sheet posters. However, my batting average for the year put me in the so-called charmed circle of .300 hitters. The end of the season found me with an average of .315, and only once since then have I dropped below .300. This was in 1918, when my average fell to .272. Remember I was a pitcher and pitchers are supposed to be rotten hitters. They thought around the Boston club that I would have to blow up in one department or the other before the 1916 season got far under way, because it just isn't done for a pitcher to win ball games and hit .300.

The season of 1916 was the least successful from a batting viewpoint that I have ever played in the big league. At pitching, however, I managed to pull through with a good showing. Altogether there were thirty-six starts and twenty-three of them were entered in the "won" column. Thirteen games—unlucky number—I lost. My batting eye didn't seem to be working that year, because I got only three homers throughout the season.

PUT EVERYTHING HE HAD ON BALL IN BIG SERIES.

My pitching average for the season was .638. You will remember that we went into the world's series that fall, beating Brooklyn for the championship. People were saying at the time that the Dodgers were not really a championship club and did not deserve to represent the National league against us. I didn't think so though, and every ball I pitched in that series was sent over with all the respect due to the winner of a pennant and a fighter for the highest honor. Everything in my head and arm I put on the ball to win. At that time I was too young to take chances in a world's series, and I am just that young today. Any man who becomes so cocksure of himself as to let himself grow careless any moment in a world's series, or in any other game, is either too big or too small for his chosen profession. And I'll say right here I've never met one too big.

RUTH HAS FINE RECORD OF SCORELESS INNINGS.

In the world's series against Brooklyn in '16 the old soup bone was working like a piece of steel machinery. I had everything on the ball that any pitcher could want—and that any hitter didn't want. The result of it was that I pitched thirteen scoreless innings in the series. They did hit me once or twice, but it did them no good, because not a man-Jack got around.

And that was the beginning of a record in scoreless innings that stands to my credit in the annals of baseball.

BILLY SHADE DEFEATS FAY KEISER IN EAST

Many Local Boys Boxing in Eastern Rings; Tommie Gibbons Stops Allen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The East today hailed Billy Shade, San Francisco light heavyweight, as a possible rival of Tommy Gibbons and a runner-up for Carpentier's crown. He smashed his way to a decision after fifteen hectic rounds with Fay Keiser, Cumberland, Maryland, in Madison Square Garden last night.

Shade carried ten of the rounds easily. He led in every round from the second to the eleventh. In the first and closing rounds, Keiser held his own. He was able to stand the closing four rounds more because Shade was punch weary than through any ability of his own.

Shade, through his speed of hand and foot and his unrelenting offensive, had Keiser blinded in a perfect hail of punches from the second to the eleventh. The weight were: Shade, 173; Keiser, 166.

Jack Dempsey witnessed the contest.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 15.—Lee Anderson of Phoenix, negro light heavyweight champion, won the referee's decision over "Cyclone" Turner, negro, of Fort Worth, Tex., in ten rounds here last night. Anderson administered a terrific beating to Turner.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 15.—Bobby Ward of St. Paul outpointed Johnny Schauer, also of St. Paul, in their 10-round no-decision bout here last night, in the opinion of the majority of ringside critics. After taking two nine counts the bell saved Schauer in the second round. They are lightweights.

Sazs McKenna outpointed Jimmy Cassill, both of St. Paul, in ten rounds. The men are bantamweights.

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 15.—Walter Grayjack, Milwaukee, last night decisively defeated Jimmie Valentine, Duluth bantamweight, in a 10-round bout, according to newspaper men.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 15.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, knocked out Fred Allen, St. Louis, in the first round of a scheduled 12-round decision bout here last night.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—Joe Coffey and Eddie James, San Francisco lightweights, went to a draw in the four-round main event of the program staged by the Hollywood post of the American Legion here last night.

Oakland Technical to Meet Modesto Eleven

MODESTO, Oct. 14.—Coach Schuster has groomed his team for a hard-fought game here today with the Oakland Technical high school eleven. The dope is all against the local lads but Schuster is not worrying. He expects his team to score several touchdowns.

Sometimes a Beating Does A Team Good

That Is the Claim of Lee Bertillion and Frank Dreisbach.

Do you want to get yourself mixed up in a nice little argument? If so, just approach Lee Bertillion or Frank Dreisbach, backers of teams in the National Division of The TRIBUNE Class A League, and tell them that a defeat does not do a ball club a whole lot of good. That may seem strange for a couple of managers to say, but that is just how they feel about the games which their clubs lost last Sunday. Both clubs met defeat after hard tussles, and Dreisbach of the Zenith Millers, and Bertillion of the Lee Bertillion Hatters, say that is just the stuff that makes them come back in the following games, fighting harder than ever for a victory. If both managers are right in their claims, then their teams are going to stage a red hot battle for the fans out around Sixty-seventh avenue and East Fourteenth street tomorrow afternoon. The Hatters and the Millers have a little argument to settle out there at 2:15 o'clock, and everything points to it having the trimmings of a young world series contest.

It was no disgrace for the teams to suffer the beatings which they did last Sunday, for they both went up against formidable lineups and good pitching. Frank Dreisbach, upon entering his team in The TRIBUNE League, promised that he would put the Pittsburg district back on the baseball map by placing a real ball club out there in a real ball park. Frank has lived up to that promise, and all that he wants for now is for some victories to come the way of his boys. Frank Dreisbach has about the best amateur ball club to ever make its home at Pittsburg, and the fans out that way are all boosting for Frank and his players. The Zenith Mill manager made a real pickup in getting Ray Ashton to chuck.

Broadway Bill"

By BOB SHAND.

Dear Ed: The world series is all over now except for the gents what bet on the outcome. The suckers, fellows who won, are still busy trying to catch up with their little pay envelopes who lost, while the professionals wearing out the sidewalks in the loop always tryin' to avoid friendships.

It was a great series for McGraw an' the other scientologists but the poor unfortunates who backed the family plate and stuck the proceeds up on the Yankees is still squawkin'. They can't understand why they didn't walk Snyder to get Douglas in the fourth game when they was two outs and two men on and they can't see what the idea was of Ward hittin' one that lost a ball game an' then Pennsylvaugh comin' back with another knock what cost the Yanks the series and gents all over the country a lotta dough.

Speakin' about Perkinpaugh, you wouldn't never have known this was his name from the box scores. The young fellers what write literature about the series pulled an Algeresque cuttin' a lot of superfluous language off the end of his name and makin' him plain Peck. If the "asslin'" writers would adopt the same method it could be a wonderful time saver.

Shufflin' Phil Douglas who used to have a good time out here, was quite a hero for the Giants but I don't know where they get this "Shufflin'" stuff at. That ain't no way to refer to a high stepper like Phil always was an' still is according to reliable information.

THE MARTYRED MAULER.

Now that the big series is out of the way an' you're all extended your heartfelt sympathy to Babe Ruth, the Martyred Mauler, they ain't much left but the amateurs. Of course the winter professional league is still runnin' with particular emphasis on the "still," but when the customers have given Cobb and Heilman and Hornsby and Sisler the north an' south they'll start lookin' for new faces and the only place they'll find 'em will be on the lots where the amateurs are playin' every Sunday.

The fights the other night wasn't so bad but they could have been a whole lot better. Joe Herrera and Eddie Landon saved the show but Landon will have to learn to box four rounds before he gets his picture in the paper. Eddie is a bear feline for a round an' a half an' then he is a thoroughly domesticated kitten. If Landon had kept up the good work in the last two rounds of the fight he would be matched with Borba for this week instead of Herrera.

TOMMY SIMPSON TALKS.

Was speakin' with Tommy Simpson about the scrappers an' asked him what was the matter they wasn't fightin' like they should. Tommy should know an' here is his explanation and I put in with him:

"Their heads is all outa shape," said Mister Simpson, "an' they ain't never goin' to be worth nothin' until they returns to normalcy again. When we started in with a lot of Great Unknowns you'll remember they got in there and fought like they meant it. Then they got their names in the papers an' on the advertisin' matter and first thing you knows their knobs swell up like they was goin' to bust. The only way to get them fightin' again is not to pay no attention to them except when they are in the ring.

"I can name all the fighters worth while in the four round game on the fingers of my two hands and have a pair of thumbs left over for the judges. By that I mean guys who go in there to fight their best and don't have no prima donna ideas. Take boys like Angelo Silva and Henry Borba an' Jim Farrell and Floyd Johnson, even if he don't know nothin', they're in there doin' their best every minute. Most of the others has the idea that the customers turn out to admire their good looks an' they don't want to get 'em spoiled.

McCREDIE'S "TRANCE" TEAM.

"There's goin' to be somethin' doin' pretty soon if these fighters don't wake up. The referee's been pretty lement with 'em but he's liable to do some wholesale tossin' some night.

Del Howard was down to the office the other day an' he says he don't know who's going to manage the Oaks next year except himself and Honus Mitze. Del was tellin' about a conversation he had with Walter McCredie of the Beavers just before the season closed.

"You got a great ball club, Walter," says Del sarcastic-like.

"I admit it," says Walter, "I got the greatest 'trance' ball club in the world. An' I got an outfielder what's the greatest hitter of all time—if they only throw it in there where he is swingin'. He hits the ball two hundred feet, one hundred straight up an' another hundred straight down." Del is goin' east next Thursday to make arrangements for shippin' Hack Miller to the Cubs. He's goin' to inspect the railroad yards in Chi and measure the exits an' try to fix it to get a couple box cars to ship the little guy east on.

JOE KHOUMRIAN AGAIN.

Joe Khoumrian is loose again. Joe, you know, is a rasslin' promoter who breaks out sporadically just like the mumps or the baseball fever or the fishin' disease. Joe has been layin' low since Karasick won from Bull Montana but is tellin' the gang now that Mike Yokel will be here to russle Al Karasick at the Auditorium next Friday. Joe ain't no Tex Rickard but he is a good game guy who is tryin' all the time and you can't never rule a man off for that.

That's all except he college football correspondents is sendin' their reports in black bordered envelopes. They got so many maimed and wounded youths at the knowledge factories that they're speakin' of namin' California Field and the new Stanford Standupium after Verdun an' other famous battlefields. Lads what has been studyin' law and literature an' other outdoor sports is rapidly switchin' their studies to medicine an' blacksmithin' figurin' that it's more humanitarian to be of assistance to the dyin' than act as trustee or re-write the undertaker's carbon copy.

At a lower price per acre than any land from Oakland to Hayward. This land has been pronounced ideal by James L. Dinwodie, Petaluma's leading poultry authority.

Here is land, almost right in town, where you can at once erect a temporary home at a trivial cost, and then use your rent money to start your chickens with. You can also grow "truck" for your table.

Make your own terms

You can pay as little as $10 down and small monthly payments thereafter.

Six-cent car line right at the property, grammar and high schools within walking distance. Many people who have visited every property on sale from Oakland to Hayward have bought here.

4 NEW PLANTS ARE LISTED FOR OAKLAND AREA

C. of C. Industries Committee Agent Reports Further Factory Operations.

Four new Eastbay industries are recorded by the new industries committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce in the weekly bulletin of that body today. The committee, through C. W. Foy, industrial agent, lists four developments as follows:

Electrode Heater Corporation, firm of Webster and Gruenhagen, has established factory at 215 Tenth avenue. This concern is manufacturing automatic electric water heaters and developing a wide market.

H. P. Thornton has purchased waterfront property at the corner of First and Cedar streets, Berkeley, and will establish a veneer works. Thornton purchased entire plant of a veneer mill in Sacramento and is transferring it to the Eastbay district. His address is 1822 Oakland avenue.

F-C Machine Works, 5550 Marshall street, Oakland, commenced operations in September, proprietors, Carl Peterson and Fred Crosset. Will specialize in manufacturing novelties.

C. A. Elliott has leased the northeast corner of East Twelfth street and Eighth avenue to manufacture patented removable seat backs for automobile sleeping berths. Also has installed machinery for converting automobile rims.

NEWS OF STYLES

BY CONSOLIDATED PRESS. Special to THE TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.--The world's series games gave the first real opportunity this year for display of fall and winter costumes, and the feminine fans took ample advantage of it. The wraps and coats, seen in numbers for the first time this season, were perhaps the most striking feature. Scores of brushed wool capes and scarfs were worn in all the beautiful and vivid colorings of autumn. Coats, suits and wraps also followed the reds, russets, browns and yellows of the fall foliage, and were set off in the majority of cases by lavish trimmings of fur. Velvet played no small part in the garbing of the baseball throng, while the tweed suits and informal sport garb were adequately represented. Some fur coats made their appearance, and the smaller fur scarfs and chokers were much in evidence.

The passing of the nude stocking always attracted attention on Fifth avenue, provided it outlined a shapely ankle, but now it seems to be the vogue for nude stockings which has passed, at least for street wear. The sheer hose are giving way to the heavier weaves of silk and of silk and wool for daytime costuming and are confined to wear with evening frocks. The woolen and silk and wool heather mixtures are being shown more frequently in the shop windows than on the street, but there is every evidence that they will be increasingly popular as the unseasonably warm weather finally takes its departure.

The shops now offer a wide corset selection both in design and price. The combined corset and brassiere is attaining considerable favor, according to some dealers, who say that this design does all that a corset does in moulding the figure, yet leaves no sign of its presence. These combined models are made to open either at front, back or side, and have the usual hose supporters front and rear. The abdomen is supported and the hips confined through use of elastic inserts.

The Spanish combs continue to occupy a place on the fall and winter hats, and it is an unusual place, for they are posed laterally rather than up and down, and there is little attempt to give the effect of their being stuck in as they would be in the hair. On one large black shape with a draped crown of black satin, shown in a local shop, the elaborate comb is placed sideways at the back of the crown, with only one of the large prongs caught under a fold of the satin. On another black velvet model of the Directoire type, a large oval comb is slipped through a band of the velvet at the front of the crown, the ornament extending far over to one side.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

WITH Jonathan S. Dodge, state superintendent of banks; Friend W. Richardson, state treasurer; H. S. Carr, chairman of the executive committee of the California Bankers' Association; W. A. Day, deputy governor of the Twelfth District Federal Reserve Bank, and other noteworthy guests present, Group Six of the California Bankers' Association held its semi-annual convention in Berkeley this afternoon.

At the opening session held in Berkeley High school auditorium and over which A. J. Mount, Eastbay manager for the Bank of Italy, and Group Chairman President Dodge was one of the chief speakers. The state banking superintendent drew his text from the national convention of the American Bankers' Association just closed in Los Angeles, and speaking informally, discussed what he conceived to be the main lessons as to national conditions to be drawn from the attitude of delegates at the convention.

Day was to conduct the round table that followed at which general banking topics of interest to the bankers of the group including Alameda, Calaveras, Contra Costa, San Joaquin and Tuolumne counties were to be discussed.

Following the afternoon session the bankers numbering more than 200 were to go to the Hotel Whitecotton where they will be guests of the Berkeley Clearing House Association at a dinner and ensuing entertainment. Among the dinner speakers was Robert Sproule, controller of the University of California.

Beside Mount, the officers of the group which met today are H. E. Welch, Lodi, first vice-chairman; J. Clary, Richmond, second vice-chairman; C. H. Segerstrom, Sonora, secretary; J. E. Hall, Alameda, treasurer and E. A. Majors, Martinez; P. J. Cleghorn, Stockton; Claude Smallwood, Pleasanton; G. T. Douglas, Berkeley, and T. D. Moyer, Oakland, executive committee.

THREE UTILITY ISSUES GIVEN STATE APPROVAL.

Three bond issues for electric power utilities on which application has been pending, were authorized today by the state railroad commission. They are:

Pacific Gas and Electric—$4,853,000 general and refunding mortgage issue. All of this issue is for deposit with the trustee of the first and refunding mortgage executed by the company some time ago and none therefore can be sold to the public, the requirement of the mortgage being that the bonds should be issued for collateral as they became possible.

Great Western Power—$440,000 in series B first and refunding mortgage bonds. This is a supplemental order. On July 30 the commission authorized $1,000,000 of the issue of which $410,000 was to be held for the supplemental order that now is given.

Southern Sierras Power — $580,698 in first and refunding mortgage 6s to be sold at not less than 85, the proceeds of which are to be used by the company for general additions and betterments.

Beside these authorizations, at least one other of interesting nature is pending, the application of Southern California Gas for a bond issue of $1,000,000.

EGG PRICES REVEAL EASTERN DEMAND.

Evidence of the increasing shipment of California fancy ranch eggs east is found in examination of the market quotations which are now being made. The jump of fancy eggs to 64 and a fraction cents yesterday placed these grades, in demand for shipment packing, at 19½ cents a dozen higher than pullet eggs. In other words, pullets yesterday sold at $13.50 a case and ranch eggs at $19.25. The explanation is in the fact that the small eggs are not wanted for shipment. Oakland dealers not only admit, but maintain, that so far as food values are concerned there is no equity in a 19½-cent differential of this kind and point to a former time when 3½ and 4 cents was considered about the proper separation on value of the two classes of eggs. The eastern market demand for fancy large eggs has resulted in aggressive competitive bidding by shippers.

OPTIMISM HOLDS IN BERKELEY REPORTS.

Berkeley business houses, manufacturers and realty dealers continue furnishing optimistic reports, the First National bank of that city says in its weekly survey of business conditions. There is found much activity in retail trade; factories are running about as usual, several with increased output, while realty dealers report a shortage of houses and an increase in building. E. A. Brown, vice-president, says 20 per cent of the retail dealers report business "very good," 40 per cent "about the same as last week," 20 per cent "better than last week," 10 per cent "quiet," 10 per cent "better than last year" and 10 per cent "normal." Forty per cent of the manufacturers report conditions "very good," with several firms working over-time crews; 30 per cent report business "moving steadily," 20 per cent "conditions about usual," 20 per cent "better" and 10 per cent "fair." Forty per cent of the realty dealers report business "moving steadily," 20 per cent "very good," 20 per cent "better" and the remainder find business "about the same." Of the building supply concerns consulted all report "big improvement, with much business ahead."

The Berkeley bank clearings for the week ending October 13, were $2,839,047, a decrease of $834,649 over last week. The total for the corresponding week a year ago was $2,656,663, showing an increase of $182,383 or 7 per cent.

Building permits for the week were: New, $80,500; alterations and repairs, $11,370; total, $91,870.

MIDLAND BONDS MADE LEGAL FOR SAVINGS BANKS.

The issue of $800,000 Midland Counties Public Service Corporation general and refunding mortgage gold bonds, recently sold by California bond houses, have been declared legal investments for savings banks in California by Jonathan S. Dodge, superintendent of banks. Announcement was made of the certification by Cyrus Peirce & Co., who, with Blyth, Witter & Co. and Banks, Huntley & Co., formed the buying syndicate which underwrote and distributed the issue.

ANOTHER KEY ROUTE LETTER SENT OUT.

Supporting the recommendation for elimination of the Oakland Terminal (Tidelands) Company from the Key Route reorganization scheme, the advisory committee representing bondholders of the Oakland Transit Company today joined their voices with the committees representing the Oakland Traction, the Oakland Traction Consolidated and the Key Route Second Mortgage bondholders.

The Oakland Transit advisory body also has sent out a letter practically a parallel of the one quoted in this column yesterday, asking security holders if they shall petition the general re-organization to eliminate the tidelands and bring about foreclosure in satisfaction of the $1,100,000 mortgage.

The new letter as it differs somewhat from the one already quoted says in part:

We understand that the net cost to the new company of carrying these tidelands would approximately amount annually to $100,000, being the difference between the amount of interest to be paid on the Oakland Railways note and the Oakland Terminal (Tidelands) note issues and that amount of dividends necessary to pay 7 per cent to the prior preferred stockholders, which the Oakland Railways note holders would acquire through foreclosure of their lien. In addition to the above mentioned $100,000 there would be a saving of at least $39,000 through the interest requirements on the proposed increase of $650,000 of the Oakland Terminal (Tidelands) note issue, the plan having set aside this amount to be expended for the "Tidelands" fill-in and other improvements. There would therefore be a total saving applicable to bond interest of $139,000 annually.

In our opinion the value of the equity remaining in this property is too small and of too speculative a character at this time to warrant the retention as a part of the system.

"It might be in the course of time that this property would increase greatly in value particularly should an overland railway desire it. Nevertheless we do not believe that under the circumstances it is to your interest to enter into this speculation especially as before observed the cost of carrying it will largely fall upon your shoulders, and as the benefit, if any is derived therefrom, will not be confined to yourselves, but will be shared by all those financially interested in the new organization. Your committee is also disposed to recommend that the former preferred stock should be abolished.

Since the stand of the advisory committees for foreclosure of the tidelands mortgage, a strong murmur of opposition has been heard in some quarters, it being declared that elimination of the tidelands company would mean the delivery of property worth three times of mortgage.

"It seems to me" said William Cavalier, of the firm of Cavalier and Company, of Oakland, today, "that if the foreclosure plan goes through, the bankers who take the road will profit from the old stock and bondholders since the 291 acres of tidelands were valued by the State Railroad Commission at $3,637,500, and the mortgage is only $1,100,000. To save interest charges of $100,000 a year the reorganizers would let the lands go for $2,500,000 less than their value."

GERMAN MARKS MAKE ANOTHER LOW RECORD.

FERRY WOULD SELL PREFERRED STOCK.

The Rodeo-Vallejo Ferry company made application to the railroad commission to sell 1000 shares of preferred stock to net $85 a share. The proceeds to be used to pay general indebtedness. This indebtedness represents the excess of $60,000 over estimate in the cost of a ferry boat and repairs to wharves and slips.

RAILWAY CLOUD PUTS PRESSURE ON WALL STREET

Whole Railway List Weakened By Strike Danger; Steels Also Lower.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The entire railway division was under pressure at the opening of today's stock market. Latest developments in the transportation situation indicating marked differences between executives and operatives effected losses ranging from fractions to one point in all the prominent rails. These include Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Northwestern, Illinois Central, Reading and Chesapeake and Ohio. Steels and equipments were sympathetically affected. The only exception was Gulf States Steel, which rose 2 points. Oils particularly the Mexican group, were firm. A new low record for German exchange was without effect on the remainder of the foreign exchange market.

Mexican Petroleum continued to lead the oils, rising more than two points and Pan American issues. California Petroleum and Houston Oil also made substantial gains. Pierce Arrow common and preferred, the latter at a gain of 3½ points, led the motor group. Leaders among steels, equipments and specialties were irregularly lower. The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 300,000 shares. Bonds, including Government issues, were dull but steady.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 15. — Generally higher markets marked the opening of the cotton market today. December showed a decline of 7 points, while other months were 3 to 19 points above yesterday's close. New Orleans and the trade were leading buyers on the initial call. The local element with Liverpool and southern spot houses sold. Throughout the belt, favorable weather prevailed. Later the list showed increasing strength and at the end of the first fifteen minutes was about 18 points net higher.

A reduction of from 10 to 15 points developed in the late forenoon, under local, New Orleans and hedge selling. The close was barely steady, net unchanged to 15 points higher.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Although wheat prices at first showed strength today as a result of figures on farm reserves, the market later declined, owing to assertions that the report was incomplete. It was said the stocks in country elevators and mills had been omitted. This would make a difference of about 100,000,000 bushels. Opening prices, which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to 1¼c higher with December at $1.15¾ to $1.16¾ and May $1.20 to $1.21, were followed by moderate setbacks all around.

Week end evening up of trades rallied the market in the last hour. The close was strong at ½c net decline to a ¾c advance, with December $1.15¾@1.15⅞, and May $1.19⅝ to $1.20.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. After opening ⅛ to ⅜@½c higher, including December at 47¾ to 48⅜c, corn receded to slightly under yesterday's close.

Oats started ⅛ to ¼c higher, December 34 to 34⅛, and later showed losses.

The close:
Wheat, Dec., $1.15⅝; May, $1.19⅝.
Corn, Dec., 47½c; May, 53⅞c.
Oats, Dec., 34¼c; May, 38⅝c.
Pork, January, $1...
Lard, Jan., $8.20; March, $9.02.
Ribs, Jan., $7.52; May, $7.80.

IDLE MEN FEWER AT KANSAS CITY; CLEVELAND GAIN

By DICK SMITH.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 15.—Unemployment is becoming less and less a problem in Kansas City. Figures announced by the Chamber of Commerce show that in 22 representative industries which have been reporting to the chamber since the first of the year there were more men at work in September than in January when the industrial slump first began. The number employed decreased until May, after which time it has increased each month. The majority of those unemployed here are casual workers come to the city from the harvest fields and construction jobs which have been stopped by the approach of winter.

Fear of grass shortage caused by early freezes has brought a heavy run of cattle to this market from the Kansas grazing fields. The local live stock exchange has joined with similar bodies of South St. Paul, Omaha, Sioux City, St. Joseph, Oklahoma City and East St. Louis in petitioning the Interstate Commerce Commission for a flat cut of twenty per cent in live stock transportation rates.

CLEVELAND

By GUY T. ROCKWELL.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15.—Further improvement in the steel industry this week gave evidence that fifty per cent of capacity production is close at hand after eight months of extreme dullness. Sheet mills in this territory are averaging 80 per cent production and some independent pipe mills are on a 90 per cent basis. Favorable signs are reported all through northern Ohio. Railroad traffic has increased although the coal movement is light.

Increased production is shown in the pottery districts with all plants operating at least part time. Bolts and nuts are higher in this market. This followed the increase in the price of rivets. An increase of $5 a ton in the price of steel sheets is anticipated in the near future.

SEATTLE

By PAUL C. HEDRICK.

SEATTLE, Oct. 15.—Shortage of refrigerator cars threaten the apple growers of the Pacific Northwest with loss of considerable money and may raise the cost of commercial apples to the consumer unless it can be quickly relieved. The orchards of the Atlantic coast states, the Virginia and the middle west having suffered by storms, the northwestern growers saw a chance to fill the demand for winter-keeping apples. With prices of boxed apples soaring to unprecedented heights winter-keeping apples are piled up in all growing centers here awaiting facilities. W. F. Gwin, president of the Northwestern Fruit Exchange, announced today that the promises of refrigerator cars by railroad executives have fallen far short of performance.

COMMODITY NEWS

DRY GOODS.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15.—The cold spell which has broken the unseasonable heat wave of the last months has filled the department stores with buyers. There is a fine demand evidenced for clothing.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The retail dry goods trade is brisk in this section, with buyers responding readily to strong advertising campaigns.

PAINTS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—White lead is being used in greater quantities than for some time and jobbers are behind in their deliveries. Greater building construction is encouraging paint makers, although prices still are low.

LEATHER.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—Canadian buyers are in the market here for sole leather in spite of the exchange situation, which forces them to pay for raw material in American money and sell the finished product in Canadian currency, which is at a discount.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Shoe manufacturers and leather dealers both report increasing demand for their goods. Shoe manufacturers are increasing their output each week.

PAPER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Buyers are not taking on much coarse paper, but the demand is improving. Book papers are moving freely and there is some demand for newsprint.

FRUIT.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Clothing manufacturers in this district are well up on their orders at the present time, but are looking forward to a lively business in late winter goods.

SILK.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—There is a strong demand for silk yarns from the manufacturers of full fashioned hosiery in this section and from makers of silk sweaters, gloves and underwear.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Raw silks are very strong in price in this market. There has been some slight improvement in demand for finished silks for fall from local manufacturers, but this is far under normal.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15.—The oyster season along the Gulf is now in full swing and shipments are being absorbed at satisfactory prices, with an increased demand noted.

N. Y. SUMMARY

FRUIT GROWERS FORM LEAGUE TO SEEK RATE CUTS

Box of Fall Asparagus Sold At 25c Pound; Rain Effect Is Slight.

An organization to be known as the California Fruit Growers' and Shippers' Protective League was formed at a meeting in San Francisco last night, prominent California deciduous fruit raisers and packers attending. The main purpose of the league, it was announced, is to seek reduction in railroad rates on deciduous fruit shipments. F. H. Buck, of San Francisco, was elected president. He called the league the first representative body organized in California by the deciduous fruit men. Freight rates, he asserted, were 78 per cent higher than they were three years ago and as a result prices of California fruits outside the state, and especially in the east, were so high that there was no market. Other officers chosen are:

George H. Cutler, Sacramento, first vice-president; Scott E. Ennis, Sacramento, second vice-president; F. B. McKevitt, Sacramento, secretary-treasurer; executive committee, F. H. Buck, George H. Cutler, Scott F. Ennis, F. B. McKevitt, J. E. Bergholdt, Newcastle and Frank T. Sweet, San Francisco.

The league was formed at a dinner given by C. H. McLeod at the Palace Hotel. McLeod represents a San Francisco lithographing concern, termed by the fruit men as an allied industry.

While the fag-end of the season's staple fruits and vegetables are coming in, the market stalls are beginning to offer larger quantities of fall novelties. Of these the most novel today was a box of asparagus which a grower on Bay Farm Island brought in to A Levy and J. Zentner here. The asparagus brought 25 cents a pound, although the offering was trivial there was lively interest in it. There will be no more, it is expected. Other novelty offerings include new chestnuts, salted ripe olives and fresh olives.

Rain apparently had little effect on bay area crops except to slacken delivery. Trade today continued the dullness of the week. Offerings of fruits and seasonal vegetables and melons are becoming scattered, of inferior quality and a varying price. Berry trade has dwindled to fewer than a half hundred chests a day.

Potatoes and onions continued strong. Apple trade has begun to pick up, one merchant reported yesterday the heaviest apple day thus far this year. Comparatively few cars of apples have been put in storage here as yet although San Francisco storage has been relatively heavy. A hard rain and frost would have a salutary effect on the market in cleaning out odds and ends of the season and putting sales definitely on a winter basis.

Grape prices continue to hold up although the delivery of very fancy wine tonnage has halted. Tokays at $3 a lug found a reasonable number of buyers. Deliveries by rail to this market today included five cars of potatoes, two of apples and one of sweet potatoes. There is a little storage of potatoes and onions here as yet and few Nevada potatoes have come in. High growers' prices ranging, it is said from $45 to $50 a ton, have kept the Nevadas out of this market.

CLEARING HOUSE IN GOTHAM MOVES NATION'S WEALTH

Figures and Analysis Show a Huge Total Reached in Daily Transactions.

By HOLLAND.
Exclusive to TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—If the visible and appreciable wealth of the United States is measured by $250,000,000,000, the transactions for twelve months, ending October 1, in the New York clearing house were almost as large as the estimated wealth of the nation. The presumption is that this estimate of our national wealth is not far out of the way and that belief has been strengthened by the report which came a day or two ago from Washington telling of an aggregate of $63,000,000,000 as representing productive industry, exclusive of agriculture, in twelve months.

The invisible and not now appreciable wealth of the United States must be much greater than $250,000,000,000, and as our natural resources are more and more developed, the wealth of the United States will be more and more increased.

There are several points of view which may be taken when a careful study is made of the report for the last twelve months of the New York Clearing House association.

First of all this report clearly shows the change in business and industrial conditions which has taken place in the last two years. On January 2 this year the exchange of checks, drafts and other items which was made in the clearing house amounted to 1,423,000,000 round numbers. Upon no other day in the history of the clearing house were aggregate transactions of that magnitude begun and completed. Soon there began a falling off. These enormous clearings on January 3 reflected chiefly business and industrial transactions of the latter part of the preceding year. They also reflected very large treasury operations.

GREAT FALLING OFF.

But nearly three months later there were exchanged in one day in the clearing house only $288,000,000. This great falling off told the story of business depression of last winter and early spring, for the New York clearing house really reflects business, commerce and industry as well as foreign trade in and of the United States. Almost all of the drafts drawn upon the domestic sale and export as well of cotton passed through New York clearing house. The wheat fields of the United States having yielded grain were the basis of drafts which in the aggregate are very large, and many of these pass through the New York clearing house. Probably all of them indirectly reflect clearing house transactions. This is true of the steel and iron industry and of other industries. So that from this point of view the New York clearing house is really a national and not merely a local institution.

The mind is incapable of grasping understandingly the figures which tell of transactions in this association.

SMALL CASH AVERAGE.

A good many years ago the manager of the clearing house reported after he had made an investigation that the average payment of balances was about 5 per cent of the total transactions. Sometimes it was a little more, rarely a little less. That average has continued. Therefore we have in this computation evidence of the enormity of the liquidation of transactions through the exchange of checks, drafts and other items. If only 5 per cent of total transactions is the average cash payment to liquidate the balances, national transactions of more than $200,000,000,000 are liquidated by the swapping of checks.

For many years it was the hope that it would be possible to report that the exchanges of checks and drafts in the clearing house had upon one occasion at least exactly balanced. This has occurred. Once in a great while the balances that were paid in cash were very small, although the aggregate transactions were very large. The transactions in the clearing house in the last twelve months include operations with the federal treasury and of the federal reserve banking system. As these operations are to continue the transactions in the clearing house will be very large.

The New York Clearing House association differs in some respects from many of the like organizations in the United States. Elsewhere the clearings are purely mechanical or of automatic process. Checks are exchanged, balances paid and that is all. But the New York clearing house has established rules which are designed to facilitate banking operations and as far as possible prevent unwise policies. At one time the clearing house, by furnishing certificates to bankers who brought securities to it was able to check and at last overcome panic. But since the establishment of the federal reserve system a method of this kind is no longer necessary.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

The steamer Victoria, en route to Cape Nome from Golivan Bay, went ashore Sunday night six miles east of Nome during a blinding snowstorm, according to a wireless received here today. She was grounded for several hours and was pulled into deep water by the coast guard cutter Unalga and the tug Genevieve and proceeded to Nome, where she will take on passengers and freight for Seattle. The Victoria has been on the Nome route for twenty years, making as many as six round trips during the season, and this is the first accident that has ever happened to her. The amount of damage sustained was not given in the wireless, but it is thought that she can reach Seattle under her own steam.

No word has been received from the overdue ship Santa Clara, which is now out 42 days from Karluk, Alaska. According to reports the wind from Eureka to British Columbia is from the south and blowing at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour, with rain. This wind is unfavorable for the Santa Clara and may detain her for several days longer. She should have made the run down in 14 days. The longest passage so far known was made by the ship Sintram in 1901, which was 36 days. The Alaska Packers, who own and operate the Santa Clara, do not feel worried about the vessel and expect her to reach port in good condition at any time. Owing to the thick fog outside, it would be impossible for a passing steamer to see her unless very close by.

The barkentine Annie M. Rolph is also making a long voyage to this port from Antofagasta, Chile. She left that port on August 1 and was due here two weeks ago. She is owned by the Hind-Rolph Company, and is named after the wife of Mayor Rolph of San Francisco. The vessel was built at Eureka two years ago and is 1226 tons register.

The schooner Vigilant arrived in port late last night from Newcastle, Australia, after a fair passage of 73 days. Captain Matt Peasley, one of the pioneer skippers of this port who is master of the big craft, reports favorable weather all the passage, with the exception of light wind and fog when nearing this port. The cargo of the Vigilant consists of 2540 tons of coal consigned to J. J. Moore & Company, and will be unloaded here. The vessel will then drydock for hull cleaning and painting, and then proceed to Grays Harbor to load another cargo of lumber for off-shore. She is owned by the E. K. Wood Lumber Company, of Oakland, and was built at Hoquiam, Wash., one year ago. Her dimensions are 1603 tons gross register, 241 feet in length, 44 feet beam, and 19 feet depth of hold. On her maiden voyage from Grays Harbor to Australia, which she had just completed, the Vigilant carried a cargo of 1,700,000 feet of lumber.

The steamer Bergen, formerly the Sue Elmore of Astoria, is now making regular trips between Oregon and Oakland in the coal trade. Her first cargo arrived here yesterday and was all sacked, ready for delivery to every household. On her voyage north she will take general cargo.

Changes of Masters registered at the United States Custom House: Captain C. C. Hansen, steamer Hanley; Captain G. Olson, gas schooner Mary Hanlon.

COLBOURN, CHIEF ORDER PROBE OF GRAFT REPORTS

Chief of Police James T. Drew declared today that he would make an exhaustive investigation into the statement that members of the Oakland police department were accepting "protection money" from bootleggers in order that the violators of law might be assured safety from raids, following receipt of an order from Commissioner of Public Health and Safety Frank Colbourn. A declaration that such insinuations as to the unbecoming conduct of police officers reflected upon himself and Commissioner Colbourn was made by Chief Drew, who asserted emphatically that if bootlegging rings are found to exist in Oakland and police officers discovered to have accepted bribes, the bootleggers and officers alike will be punished severely.

Investigation of the alleged payment of protection money by bootleggers is already under way, Chief Drew said in explaining the fact that he thought the conduct of "Oakland's finest" would be found to be entirely satisfactory.

RUMORS OF GRAFT.

Issuance of the order by Commissioner Colbourn followed persistent rumors that bootlegging was rampant in the city and that such conditions existed through the fact that owners of the establishments paid "protection money" to the officers with the understanding that the money went to "the higher-ups." Interpretation of "higher-ups" by the bootleggers, Colbourn said, included himself and the chief of police.

"It makes me angry," Commissioner Colbourn said, concerning the order to Chief Drew, "to hear that some ignorant bootlegger is being held up for graft money which he pays under the impression that the money goes to the higher police officials, including myself.

TIME TO ACT.

"I would like to know where these rumors start and I would also like to know just which officers are taking the so-called 'protection money.' If these bootleggers continue to operate against the law, even though the police officers know of their existence, then it is time something was being done to stop them.

"Furthermore, I want the bootleggers, whoever they might be and wherever they are, to know that no 'protection money' is being received or countenanced either by the chief of police or by myself, and any officer caught taking such money will be punished as severely as it is possible for us to punish him. If ever I catch any officer taking such retainers I plan to make an example of him."

ORDERS ISSUED.

Persistent rumors have reached me that certain bootlegging rings in this city are paying protection money to the police, with the understanding that a part of this money is reaching the "higer-ups," which would include the commissioner of public health and safety and the chief of police.

If there are bootlegging rings I would like to know who belong to them, where they operate, and from what source they get their supply.

I want this matter thoroughly investigated and the facts ascertained, and notice given to everybody that there is no protection money being paid the commissioner of public health and safety and that if police officers are taking protection money and I can get the evidence to verify the fact, I will immediately discharge them.

BOY SCOUT GOAL MAY BE REACHED IN COMING WEEK

Drive Yesterday Nets $3641, Largest Day Since Opening.

The Boy Scout drive yesterday netted $3641.75, the largest sum taken in on any one day except Monday, the opening day of the campaign. The amount brought the grand total up to $17,826, leaving only a little more than $7000 to go to reach the goal of $25,000.

That this goal will be reached and passed by Tuesday was the opinion of drive leaders. The final, or semi-final, reports will be turned in at the Hotel Oakland luncheon Tuesday.

The executive committee turned in $1115.05, and the remainder came from the team members. The Chinese district committee, headed by Ng Poon Chew, scored a record of 100 per cent in their canvass of Chinatown, when they called on 24 prospects and brought in 24 subscriptions. Their total was $292.

On the Chinese committee with Ng Poon Chew are C. G. Lee, T. Y. Yee, Robert L. Park and Chung Git, all prominent business and professional men of the Chinese quarter.

Storm Wind Shifts On Pacific Coast

Warnings of a southeasterly storm which went up all along the Pacific coast yesterday were changed this morning for all Washington and Oregon stations to warnings of a southwesterly blow, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau. Warnings from Point Reyles to Cape Mendocino were taken down. Today's warning added:

"The main portion of the storm remains in the North Pacific ocean, but will return to the coast this afternoon or tonight. Fresh to strong southerly gales."

The bureau predicts unsettled weather for Oakland vicinity, unsettled weather with probable showers in Northern California, unsettled weather with probable showers in the Sacramento Valley, and unsettled weather in the Santa Clara and San Joaquin valleys.

STOLEN CAR FOUND.

ALAMEDA, Oct. 15.—A stripped automobile was found at Grand street and Central avenue last night by R. Cushwa, 2124 Pacific avenue. The machine, which was reported missing by the Oakland police several days ago, had been abandoned.

New Folder on Oakland Fills Genuine Need

So great is the demand for the new illustrated folder on Oakland, issued recently by the publicity bureau of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, that several thousand copies have been placed with distributing agencies throughout the country, it was announced today.

In addition residents of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and San Francisco are requesting copies to send to friends. More than 100 such requests already have been received and the number is increasing daily.

Supplies of the folders for distribution to inquirers have already been placed by the publicity bureau with John Wanamaker's, New York; the state exposition building and the chamber of commerce, Los Angeles; the Alameda County Development commission, the California Development association and the Emporium, San Francisco.

The folders also have been sent to a selected list of more than 1000 names, gathered in the last six months in preparation for the issue of such literature. These names have been collected from all over the country and comprise persons who are contemplating moving to California.

Woman Who Shot Self Dies in Hospital

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Marian McNulty, who shot herself with suicidal intent last Saturday afternoon, died today at the Temple Hospital. Mrs. McNulty, after telling her husband, Charles R. McNulty, a salesman, that she was going up stairs for a short while, went into her own room and shot herself just above the heart. She gave ill health as the reason.

She was 43 years old, and born at Santa Cruz. She is survived by her husband and a son, Charles R. McNulty Jr. Funeral services tomorrow from the family residence at 1622 Spruce street, will be private.

Large Stolen Auto Found On Docks

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—A large automobile was discovered by the police early today hanging from Pier 44 and in imminent danger of falling into the bay. It contained the license number 302,401, but there was no registry plate. Lieutenant Healy and officers of the Southern station, after hauling it safely to the wharf, investigated.

They learned that the car had been stolen from John Silling, 223A Eleventh street.

JUDGES ENGAGED; UNABLE TO TRY MURDER CHARGE

Trial of Charles Nightingale, Oakland policeman, charged with the murder of Giuseppe Suppo, which was scheduled for next Monday morning, has been postponed indefinitely. Nightingale is out on $20,000 bail. His trial will probably not be called until next month.

Postponement of Nightingale's trial is due to an odd combination of circumstances. Two of the eight Superior Court judges of Alameda county are ordinarily assigned to try criminal cases, Superior Judge Linden S. Church and Superior Judge George Samuels. Judge Church is at present engaged in the trial of the suit to set aside the will of the late Thomas B. Rickey, Nevada cattle baron. Under the California law a will contest, when before a jury, though it is a civil matter, must be argued in the criminal court. Judge Samuels is also occupied with the trial of Dunn, Casey, McLaughlin, Hannah, Ryan and Welton, charged with being I. W. Ws. and with violation of the criminal syndicalism act.

Both the Rickey will contest and the I. W. W. trial bid fair to occupy the attention of the courts for several weeks longer, perhaps for a month.

Under the law every person charged with crime in California must be brought to trial within sixty days after arrest, except when they are at freedom on bail. Nightingale, being at liberty, cannot insist on an immediate trial and will have to wait until the Rickey suit and the I. W. W. cases have been concluded. Were Nightingale still in jail, however, he could insist on trial, in which case one of the other six superior judges would be assigned to the hearing, or, if all the judges were busy with civil matters a judge would be called from outside the county and court held in the meeting room of the board of supervisors. This was done not long ago.

Such action by Nightingale, however, is not likely, for the further reason that his chief attorney, Peter Crosby, is one of the attorneys for the opponents of the Rickey will.

"Near East Relief Scenes" Is Subject

ALAMEDA, Oct. 15.—Guy Talbot will speak upon "Scenes of Near Eastern Relief" at the Baptist church, Sana Clara avenue and Stanton street, tomorrow evening. Rev. A. P. Brown will also give a talk upon "Sorcery, Wizardry and Trances." In the morning he will preach upon "The Baptists of the Reformation." "Patriots of Fame" will furnish the topic of the talk to be given by Mrs. A. P. Brown before the Young People's Society at 6:30

Jackass Hooch Not Safe When Making Call

It is not only bad form when one calls on a lady to take with him five gallons of jackass brandy; it is dangerous.

Take the case of John Bluth and Joe Petermoster, for instance. Last night they hitched up their small and shivering automobile, loaded it down to the mudguards, and made the distance from 535 Third street, San Francisco, to the home of David Bercovich, 802 Grand avenue in Oakland. Coming abaft the Bercovich house Bluth and Petermoster anchored their craft a few points to the north, opened a gate with a minimum of noise and crept like stage villains through the shadows to the back porch.

It was then that a neighbor seeing them histing about, telephoned to the police. There came Inspectors George Eirbank and Alex Trotter, aided and abetted by some seven patrolmen, who deployed, maneuvered and threw the conventional net about the home. The ranks of the bluecoats drew taut on the Bercovich kitchen. The door was forced open and there at the kitchen table sat Petermoster and Bluth, calling on an old friend from the homeland, Kate Reljik, who is employed by the Bercovichs. While the police were putting their hardware back in the holsters there were general explanations. When the gate was reached someone looked in the Petermoster-Bluth automobile and saw there five gallons of untamed jackass brandy.

As the officers had set out to make an arrest and did not like to return empty-handed, they took the two to the station, where they are charged with violating the national prohibition amendment.

While all of this was going on the Bercovich family slept.

Universalists Plan Membership Drive

DETROIT, Oct. 15.—Plans for a church membership campaign are to be mapped and questions of national importance considered at the Universalists general convention that opened here today. Prominent clergymen and laymen of the church from all parts of the United States and Canada attended the opening session.

The unemployment question, disarmament and the Irish situation are among the topics that church leaders said probably would be discussed before the convention closes October 23.

PLAY TO BE STAGED.

TUESDAY SET FOR HEARING CHARGES AGAINST BARZEE

Business Manager for School Department to Be Tried for Unauthorized Hiring.

The trial of Lloyd Barzee, Business manager for the school department, will be held at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon instead of the usual meeting time of the Board of Education, 4:30 o'clock according to a call, issued to board members today by President Harry Boyle.

Boyle explains that the move is made to avoid the presence of those who have been spectators at the board sessions. At the last hearing of Barzee, teachers and principals were present in force.

Barzee is accused of hiring, transferring or promoting school department employees without consulting either the Civil Service Board or the Board of Education. The accusation, which specifies several dozen employees, followed an investigation by Norval Cook, efficiency expert, and the charges were formally laid before the Board of Education, by the educational advisory committee.

Barzee will be represented at the trial by Attorney W. H. L. Hynes. Barzee and Hynes have been in frequent consultation since the charges were brought.

The order to hold the meeting at 3 o'clock Tuesday was telephoned by Boyle this morning.

The regular weekly meeting of the Board of Education will be held as usual Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The Tuesday session is a special meeting.

You Don't Need a "Divining Rod"

ONCE in a while there appears in farming centers a mysterious gentleman who claims to locate hidden water through the agency of a hazel twig held in his hands. The twig guides him, so 'tis said, by turning in his hands, and where it inclines toward the earth, there the well should be dug.

You need no divining rod to locate the things you want. Read the advertisements that appear daily in this paper. They are bonafide guides to buying—shorn of mystery and voodoo.

The advertisements tell you plainly where to go for what you want. They show you how to save steps—and money—and time. By watching them carefully, each day, you are enabled to buy to best advantage.
